Thrilling Splashdown After Perilous Journey

The World Cheers Pinpoint Landing

ABOARD USS IWO JIMA (AP) — Apollo 13's astronauts blazed back safely to their home planet today in a thrilling climax to America's most perilous journey. They quickly were hoisted aboard this recovery carrier in apparently good shape.

While an anxious world cheered the end of the flight, James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. rode their command ship Odyssey to a bull's-eye landing at 10:08 a.m., (PST) just four miles from this recovery carrier.

A helicopter plucked them from their bobbing spacecraft and deposited them on the deck of the Iwo Jima just 54 minutes after splashdown.

"I feel just fine," commander Lovell, making his fourth and last space flight, reported as the chopper ferried the trio towards the carrier.

The spacecraft landed close enough for television cameras aboard the ship and a helicopter to relay dramatic pictures as Odyssey broke through a cloud layer 2,000 feet high. The command module dangled under three huge orange and white parachutes.

Hundreds of sailors on the deck cheered and clapped as the astronauts splashed down in warm, rolling waters.

They cheered again when the helicopter touched on the deck and Lovell, Haise and Swigert stepped onto a red carpet. The men were bearded, and they walked slowly, steadily as they emerged.

Fleet commander Adm. Donald Davis welcomed them aboard with, "We're glad you made it boys."

The ship's chaplain offered a prayer which concluded: "We offer a humble thanksgiving for their safe return."

Lovell spoke a few inaudible words to Admiral Davis and to photographers.

Following the welcoming ceremony, all three spacemen went below decks for a medical examination, showers and a hot meal.

They expected within a short time to speak by radiotelephone with President Nixon and with their families.

Nixon sent a message to Mission Control, congratulating it for the skillful manner in which it brought the troubled Apollo 13 back to earth.

"We show you on the screen. You're looking great," Mission Control in Houston radioed as relieved, back-slapping officials observed the landing on a large TV screen in the control center.

The safe touchdown was a mighty relief for the millions who watched and worried after trouble developed Monday night. An oyxgen tank exploded then ruining the command's oxygen and power supplies.

That forced the astronauts to abandon man's third moon landing attempt and to turn to the lunar module systems as they fought for survival for four days.

Copter Hovers Over Capsule

A helicopter hovered over the bobbing capsule within minutes, and the first frogman was in the water 10 minutes after splashdown.

A flotation collar was placed around the spaceship.

Touchdown came after Apollo 13 slammed into the atmosphere 76 miles above the Pacific at 24,636 miles an hour.

The thickening atmosphere blistered the heat shield with temperatures up to 5,000 degrees and quickly slowed the Odyssey. Three 83.5-foot diameter parachutes unfurled at 10,000 feet to drop the craft into warm Pacific waters at 22 m.p.h.

The six-ton command ship Odyssey, disabled most of the journey, was the only section of the original 101,000-pound Apollo 13 ship to return to earth.

Earlier today they discarded the lunar module that had kept them alive and the service module where the oxygen explosion occurred.

Module Severely Damaged

When they backed away from the service module, they discovered it was severely damaged, with one whole side ripped away.

The view was frightening. The damage was severe.

"There's one whole side of that spacecraft missing . . . It's really a mess," Lovell exclaimed.

An hour before Odyssey hit the atmosphere, the astronauts jettisoned their faithful lunar module.

"Farewell, Acquarius, and we thank you," Mission Control paid tribute to the sturdy lunar vehicle.

"She was a good ship," said Lovell.

The successful landing climaxed a flurry of activity in the final hours of the abortive mission.

Side Of Spacecraft Missing

The condition of the service module, where the Monday rupture occurred, provided a big surprise.

"There is one whole side of that spacecraft missing . . . almost from the base to the engine," Lovell reported excitedly.

"There's a dark brown streak down the side. It's really a mess."

He said one whole panel, 22 feet long, and part of the engine bell were missing.

"Looks like a lot of debris is just hanging off the side," Lovell said. "It's near the S-Band antenna."

The service module contained most of the long-life oxygen and electrical power for the Apollo 13 command ship.

The explosion Monday night rendered the command vehicle useless until today when power was restored with batteries.

The astronauts discarded the battered service module to expose the command ship heat shield and protect them during the blistering re-entry through the atmosphere.

"Man, that's unbelievable," Mission Control said of the damage description.

Earlier Swigert slipped into the command ship to start the batteries and oxygen system. These oper-

Watchdog Says No On Richardson Bay

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin County's controversial "specific plan" for development of Richardson Bay was sentenced to death yesterday.

The execution by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission was postponed to give the county's planning staff time to comment on a devastating critique of the plan by the BCDC's staff, but there was little doubt about the outcome.

Joseph E. Bodovitz, executive director of the BCDC, declared the county's plan "so completely at variance with so many key policies of the commission's bay plan as to be thoroughly unacceptable in its present form."

Bodovitz took strong exception to the plan's provisions for high-rise buildings up to 12 stories, and for allowing each property owner to fill up to 40 per cent of his open water. He also criticized the plan for its silence on what would be done about the already massive pollution in Richardson Bay.

The commission, with rare exceptions, has upheld staff recommendations. A vote was set for 1:30 p.m. on May 7 in Room 1194 of the State Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue.

Few commissioners commented on Bodovitz's recommendation that the plan be rejected but those few, who did, called for an immediate vote. But vice chairman William D. Evers held out for three weeks to give the county time to comment and commissioners more time to digest the recommendation.

Yesterday was the fourth time commissioners had the plan before them. Bodovitz noted that more correspondence had been received on the plan than on any other matter in the commission's five years.

The total was 114 letters, postcards and telegrams in support of the plan, and 609 opposed. Its critics have concentrated on fill and high-rise provisions, and its defenders have maintained the plan was the last chance for rational development of the narrow bay, development they said was needed to finance dredging to keep it from choking with mud.

Bodovitz, however, noted that an 1859 survey of Richardson Bay found just about as much mud as today, with mid-bay depths generally one foot at mean lower low water.

Bodovitz said that unified development offered greater "options for ingenuity in design and development," but conceded it was unlikely unless owners could combine, either by selling to one individual or by forming a joint development corporation, or unless the county redeveloped the area.

If each parcel were developed separately, but in accord with the commission's bay plan, possibilities would include marinas, facilities for houseboats and "a few acres" of fill for small, water-oriented motels or boatels, restaurants, shopping areas, and a public way to connect Sausalito and Mill Valley, he said.

Bodovitz's report also apparently doomed, at least

Sausalito Schools 'Sick-Out' Spreads; Classes Continue

A "sick-out" by employees of the Sausalito School District to protest recent decisions by the district board of trustees appeared to be spreading slightly in its second day today, with most of the district's black employees absent.

Most of the absent teachers had been replaced by substitutes, according to District Superintendent Phillip W. Schneider, who said there was some doubling up of classes in Central, Manzanita and Martin Luther King schools.

Schneider said King School would again hold a minimum day today, letting students go at 1:30 p.m. The other three schools were to remain open until the regular closing time of 2:50 p.m.

Schneider said he thought student absenteeism at the district's four schools was 'probably more than normal," but could give no exact figures.

Central School Principal Robert E. Lea reported three of the school's teachers who were at work yesterday had called in sick today: Judy Feinglass, Helena Richardson and reading specialist Mary Davis.

Two more teachers at Manzanita School in Marin City, Doris Grant and Gail Dobie, were gone today, joining Helena Brown, who did not attend her classes yesterday, according to Principal Robert D. Thompson.

All five credentialed teachers at Bayside School were present, Margaret Muldary, lead teacher, reported, but three teacher aides and James Morgan, playground supervisor and art teacher, were absent.

The same 12 out of 26 teachers at King School who called in sick yesterday remained out today, according to Schneider, who was attempting to fill a triple role of district administrator, principal and office manager at King today.

Also absent from the schools were most teacher aides, central community worker Gabe Jackson, counselor Harvey Pearlman and a number of custodial and clerical personnel.

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that black cafeteria workers were

Berkeley Campus Suspends SDS

BERKELEY (AP) — The Berkeley campus Students for a Democratic Society was placed under interim suspension today following two days of destructive rampage on the University of California campus.

(See other stories, page 9.)

SDS was charged with "activities which threatened or endangered the health and safety of persons on the campus and the property of the university."

The suspension bars the militant student group from holding meetings or using campus facilities.

World News In Brief	2

Nixon Sets Apollo Prayer Day

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon telephoned the families of the Apollo 13 astronauts shortly after their splashdown Friday and proclaimed Sunday as a national day of prayer and thanksgiving for their safe return.

"The imperiled flight and safe return of the crew of Apollo 13 were events that humbled and inspired people all over the world," Nixon said in his proclamation.

"We were humbled by the knowledge that in this stage of man's exploration of space, a safe splashdown of an imperiled mission is in its way as successful as a landing on and a safe return from the moon."

Nixon watched the splashdown from a special briefing room set up in an office adjacent to his White House office. Two former astronauts, Michael Collins, who is now an assistant secretary of state, and William Anders, executive director of the National Space Council, were with him.

The safe return of astronauts James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. "is a tribute to their own courage and also to the ingenuity and resourcefulness of those on the ground who helped transform potential tragedy into a heart-stopping rescue," the President said.

"To the astronauts, a relieved nation says 'welcome home.' To them and to those on the ground who did so magnificent a job of guiding Apollo 13 safely back from the edge of eternity, a grateful nation says 'well done.'"

Nixon told Lovell's wife, Marilyn, by telephone that "we're proud of the men and we're proud of you. It took great men to do this and it took great women to back them up."

Nixon reminded Mrs. Lovell that she had assured him in an earlier conversation of her faith that the astronauts would survive their mission. "You had that faith and things turned out fine," he said.

To Mary Haise, he said the astronauts had "been an example for us all" and assured her that "everyone in the world and in the country is pleased with the safe return."

The President spoke to the mother of Swigert, who is not married. He also talked to Dr. Thomas O. Paine, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, who told him that "everybody is smiling in Houston."

"Everyone is smiling here too," the President said, terming the space team's efforts a "marvelous achievement."

"When things go badly and an organization responds as NASA did, it shows that organization has what it takes," Nixon said.

His proclamation asked all the people in the world to join in offering prayers of grateful thanks.

Executives
WHY COMMUTE?
To be specific about it. You have to devote at least an hour and a half a day to commuting. That "costs" you 33 hours a month or practically a whole work week. In contrast, a Marin location would save you, on the average, two-thirds of that time and relieve you of lengthy congestion battles.
Two other advantages — modern air-conditioned office space in Marin is available at 25c to 50c per sq. ft. and, you'll probably find that employee turnover is somewhat less.
The Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, 824 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael (454-2520) will assist you in making the change — confidentially, of course.

FAA Medical Panel Puts Bailey In 'Goliath' Role

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration used three of its medical officers to assess the tactics and motives of F. Lee Bailey, leader of the recent air controllers' strike, the New York Times said today.

After going over an outline of Bailey's childhood and observing him in public, the medical panel reported that the Boston lawyer's primary motivation was a need "to destroy authority," the Times said.

The report by the doctors, including a staff psychiatrist, was used as the basis for determining strategy used by FAA Administrator John H. Shaffer in the labor dispute, the newspaper said.

Asked to comment, Bailey was quoted as saying, "Casual observations of that sort—from a doctor who's never interviewed me, never taken any psychological tests on me and probably doesn't know my I.Q. —are grossly unethical."

The doctors said their findings had little, if any, scientific authority, the newspaper said. "This isn't psychiatry. It's a psychiatrist's attempt to assessing an adversary," one was quoted as saying.

The Times quoted one doctor's assessment of Bailey as: "He's a headhunter. He collects heads. He's a young rebel, a David. His role in life is to slay Goliaths."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Bows To Demands

MUNICH (AP) — The Roman Catholic archbishop of Munich, Julius Cardinal Doepfner, today gave his backing to Jewish demands for revision of the Oberammergau Passion Play.

A statement from the cardinal's office said he favors "greater reform concerning text and style" of the play to eliminate passages and references called anti-Semitic by leading foreign Jewish groups.

The Passion Play is given at the start of each decade in the little Bavarian Alpine village. This year it begins May 16, and the cardinal announced previously he would open the season with a Mass before the first performance.

His statement said this "in no way means that the cardinal is completely satisfied with all the details of the religious folk play.

Seizes Gunboat

CHERBOURG, France (AP) — The French navy has seized a gunboat, built in Cherbourg for the Spanish customs service, to insure that it won't end up in Israel, informed sources said today.

The sources said the government two months ago embargoed delivery of the fast 104-foot armed patrol boat because the Spanish would not give a firm assurance that they would not resell the boat to another nation. The French navy took over the vessel.

The boat was built by Construction Mecaniques de Normandie, which built the five gunboats that broke the embargo on arms to Israel last Christmas morning.

Nixon Arms Plan

NEW YORK (AP) —President Nixon has directed the U.S. delegation to the strategic arms limitation talks — SALT — to offer the Soviet Union a comprehensive limitation on strategic weapons, the New York Times reports.

Quoting administration and congressional sources, the newspaper said in today's edition that the Predisent outlined his negotiating position Thursday at a White House briefing of congressional leaders.

The SALT talks opened Thursday in Vienna. The Times also said:

The comprehensive limitation plan was said to have been decided on in place of more cautious, weapon-by-weapon limitation proposals reportedly advocated by the Pentagon.

New Landslides

SALLANCHES, France (AP) —More landslides today endangered workers sifting the debris of the avalanche that killed 72 persons at a children's tuberculosis sanatorium Thursday and mounting skepticism greeted an official judgment that the avalanche was unforeseeable.

Teams working through the night under floodlights dug out more bodies of victims. By midmorning 42 corpses had been recovered from the thousands of tons of rock, earth and snow that crashed down on the hospital from a mountain called the Roc des Fiz.

Thursday night and again this morning work was halted by new slides of earth and rock.

To Stay Impounded

BOSTON (AP) — The transcript of testimony and the judge's report in the Mary Jo Kopechne inquest will stay impounded in the Suffolk Superior Courthouse for at least the next few days.

Clerk Edward V. Keating, in whose care the secret documents were placed, said Thursday they will not be made public before next Tuesday.

The court was set to release the documents Wednesday but a suit by Sidney R. Lipman, who was official court stenographer last January at the inquest in Edgartown, forced a delay.

Lipman claims he has the sole right under past court practice to prepare copies to sell to news agencies. His price is $802.20 a copy.

Cranston To Address 'Earth Day' Audience

Califonnia Senator Alan Cranston will address an "Earth Day" audience Wednesday at 4 p.m. at the College of Marin.

Speaking at the school's Olney Hall as part of the national environmental teach-in, Cranston will discuss environmental problems in California.

Cambodian Troops Open Fire On Viet Citizens

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cambodian troops opened fire on Vietnamese huddled in a concentration camp at Takeo in southern Cambodia and killed more than 100, survivors reported today.

They said the Cambodian soldiers entered the camp four times between 8 p.m. Thursday and 5 a.m. today. They "shot and shot and shot," a weeping Vietnamese boy reported.

The incident was similar to one at Prasaut in eastern Cambodia last week, when at least 73 Vietnamese were slain.

Thousands of Vietnamese are being rounded up and placed in concentration camps as suspected subversives.

By conservative estimate, more than 500 bullet-riddled bodies of Vietnamese civilians have been seen floating in the Mekong River.

Military officers in Phnom Penh say the bodies may be the victims of the Wrath of Cambodian peasants, aroused because of the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese attacks on the Cambodian army.

Considerable maneuvering of North Vietnamese, Viet Cong, South Vietnamese and American troops was also reported today around the contested southeastern border area of Cambodia.

The Cambodian army command said Communist-led troops made attacks at the border towns of Phnom Den and Ton Leap, in Takeo Province; burned an army outpost at Kempey, in Mimot Province; inflicted light casualties in an attack at Krach Bary, near Kratie, in northeast Cambodia, and fierd at a navy boat in the Mekong River, also causing light casualties.

The Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese now threaten most of southeast Cambodia and control the bulk of the Parrot's Beak, territory that juts into South Vietnam.

A battalion from the U.S. 25th Infantry Division has moved into the Vietnamese side of the border region to relieve South Vietnamese troops which have operated as deep as 10 miles inside Cambodian territory.

The task force—more than 2,000 South Vietnamese troops and hundreds of tanks and armored personnel carriers—has been fighting inside Cambodia in recent days, supported by jets and prop planes.

Only light and scattered aciton was reported from the battlefields in South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command said there also were 22 rocket and mortar attacks during the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today, but only seven caused casualties or damage.

The Cambodian government this week officially asked the United States for arms to supply its 35,000-man army, which it is rapidly expanding to meet the threat of the estimated 54,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops on its territory.

Walkouts In Truck Fuss Are Climbing

By UP INTERNATIONAL

Layoffs spread to new industries and the economic toll mounted today as 70,000 truck drivers stayed off the job again. Violence also mounted.

A car belonging to a teamsters mechanic was bombed in Dearborn Heights, Mich., a suburb of Detroit, Thursday and vandalism accompanied wildcat strikes in northeastern Ohio.

A 30-truck caravan was met at Richfield, Ohio, by 150 men who smashed every truck window with bricks and bottles, crippling the caravan.

Many of the 6,000 striking drivers in Cleveland returned to work Thursday but refused to drive their rigs. A trucking company owner said, "they're absolutely afraid of going out."

Akron, Ohio, police reported windows were shot out of the doors of two trucking companies Thursday.

House Votes Welfare Bill; Nixon Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has handed President Nixon a major victory by passing his far-reaching welfare reform package, but the administration faces a strong effort in the Senate to raise the assured family income over $1,600.

Several senators already have served notice they will try to hike the benefits despite the cost. The final floor showdown may come in June.

By a 243-155 vote that crisscrossed party lines, the House Thursday sent the measure to the Senate. Both Republican and Democratic leaders supported it, but conservatives in both parties—and a few liberals who wanted more generous provisions—were lined up in opposition.

The measure provides a $1,600 federally assured income for a family of four and increases the roll of eligible persons by an estimated 13 million, mostly the working poor and their families.

It requires adult beneficiaries to register for job training and assignment. The federal government would assume a greater share of the cost and administration.

The aged, blind and disabled would be assured $110 a month.

By official estimates, the bill would cost $4.4 billion—but opponents said the cost will turn out as much as three times that figure.

In the Senate, several members have tipped their hand on proposed amendments changing the benefits.

Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., has proposed an initial family floor of $2,520, rising by stages to $3,600.

Sen. Charles L. Goodell, R-N.Y., advocates a $3,800 floor.

Others, however, may attempt to trim the bill. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has termed the cost estimate hopelessly inadequate and said the work incentive provsiions are no improvement over present law.

Tiburon Council Orders A Recount

Tiburon City Council last night, after a short delay to insure legality, called for a recount of the balloting in Tuesday's municipal election.

The recount was requested by Alvin R. Kuhn, who finished two votes behind M. Carlisle Becker in a race for the third seat on the council, according to the unofficial tally.

The council appeared to be on its way to ordering the recount, when Becker objected to the wording of Kuhn's request.

Kuhn has said he was requesting a recount because of the possibility of an "error, mistake or miscount." Becker felt the wording fell short of the legal requirement that the person seeking a recount allege there was an "error, mistake or miscount."

Becker said he was not opposing the intent of the request, but taking issue with the wording.

Kuhn wrote he was seeking the recount so that the uncertainty be removed, and Mayor Branwell D. Fanning felt that this would also be to Becker's advantage.

Councilman Denis T. Rice said he would be unwilling to vote for a recount if Becker felt "the form" of Kuhn's letter didn't meet requirements.

At that point, the council decided to call a recess and get in touch with Kuhn, who wasn't present for a more definite statement.

About 15 minutes later the council got a new and satisfactory statement from Kuhn.

The council then called for the recount, and announced that it would start at 9 a.m. Monday at city hall and be open to candidates, their representatives and the public.

Kuhn posted $80 to cover the cost of the recount, and if he is still a loser, he also loses the $80.

The council appointed Vivienne Winblad, Alice Oldag, Mary Estudillo and Elizabeth Talbot, who had worked at polls Tuesday as the recount board.

A proposed discussion about Mill Valley bid to annex the Strawberry Town and Village shopping center, was put off until 8 p.m. Tuesday. The council adjourned until then.

Tribunal Upholds Key Route Into Marincello

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—The State Supreme Court by a 4-3 vote yesterday upheld a Marin Superior Court ruling denying a referendum petition on a key access road to Marincello.

It was a setback for the Golden Gate Headlands Committee which circulated the petition in 1966 in an effort to block the planned development of a city on the headlands, development presently at a standstill as a result of suits brought against each other by firms involved in the project.

Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson ruled in 1967 that he would accept the Marin County clerk's determination that 94 signatures on the petition were invalid.

Without the signatures the petition was 74 short of the required 6,090 and the committee appealed the judge's ruling.

In May 1969 the First District Court of Appeal overturned Judge Wilson's ruling, declaring that the judge should have made his own determination of the validity of the signatures.

The Supreme Court majority ruled that Judge Wilson didn't err in accepting Gnoss's determination and didn't err in refusing to allow the petitioners to produce evidence that the 94 signatures were genuine.

The justices also ruled that the county ordinance establishing the access road is subject to referendum.

After the petitions were filed, with 6,647 names, Gnoss ruled out 873 names, leaving only 5,774 qualified signatures, 316 short of the number required.

The committee petitioned the court to have "at least 316" of the signatures disqualified by Gnoss certified.

Judge Wilson restored 242 signatures, but this left the petition 74 short.

The headlands committee chose the Tennessee Valley access road ordinance as its target, feeling that to block it would be tantamount to blocking the entire project.

The petition sought a referendum to overturn the decision of the Marin County Board of Supervisors to approve the road.

Since then the program to build the $285 million planned city near Fort Cronkhite has bogged down in financial and legal problems.

Judge Wilson's ruling was that he had accepted Gnoss's determination that the 94 signatures were disqualified because of dissimilarities in handwriting with signatures on votr registration cards.

He said there was no evidence that Gnoss had been unreasonable or arbitrary in rejecting signatures.

The committee can either seek a rehearing before the State Supreme Court or take its appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Missing Coeds' Headless Bodies Found In East

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — A three-month search for two West Virginia University coeds has ended with the finding of their headless bodies.

The remains of Karen Ferrell of Quinwood and Mared Malarik of Kinnelon, N.J., both 19, were discovered by National Guardsmen and state police Thursday in a remote wooded area about 10 miles from the campus.

The bodies were found in a small ravine about 150 yards from a dirt road described by one resident of the area as a lovers' lane for college students. Authorities said one body was nude, the other clothed.

The girls had last been seen hitchhiking back to their dormitory the evening of Jan. 18 after seeing a movie in downtown Morgantown.

Two anonymous letters received recently by Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. suggested a search should be made in the general area south of here, triggering an intensive hunt by police, National Guardsmen and volunteer groups.

Thrilling Splashdown Ends Apollo Journey

ate from a separate system from the service module and are designed for use during re-entry.

Lovell and Haise fired the lunar craft's small jets for 23 seconds to zero in on the intended landing site 610 miles southeast of American Samoa.

"Right on the money," Mission Control said of the firing.

Before the burn, Apollo 13 was on a course that would have overshot the target by about 50 miles.

An hour after discarding the faithful lunar module, Apollo 13 slammed into the out limits of the atmosphere 76 miles above the Pacific like a speeding bullet. Their 24,636-mile-an-hour speed was slowed swiftly by the thickening atmosphere and forces nearly six times the force of gravity pressed the spacemen against their couches.

"Welcome home," Capsule Communicator Joe Kerwin said just before Apollo 13 hit the atmosphere.

During the hottest part of reentry, with 5,000-degree heat blistering the heat shield, ionized gases enveloped the plummeting spaceship and blocked radio communications for three minutes.

"Okay, Joe," Swigert told Kerwin as Apollo 13 emerged from the blackout.

Five minutes before landing, three small parachutes popped out to stabilize the craft. Seconds later, at 10,000 feet, the three main chutes unfurled majestically and dropped Apollo 13 into the sea.

The astronauts are to spend the night aboard the Iwo Jima and fly to Samoa Saturday. They'll fly from there to Ellington Air Force Base, near the Space Center, with a scheduled arrival at 9 a.m. Sunday.

Former Marin Educator Retires

Dr. Wallace W. Hall, former Marin County superintendent of schools, will retire July 31 as superintendent-president of the West Valley College in Campbell, the college has announced.

Hall, superintendent in Marin from 1951-58, will be honored by the college at a public testimonial dinner on May 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Little New Yorker in Santa Clara.

Hall took over his position at the college in 1963 when it opened. Before that he was associate superintendent of public instruction and chief of the state Division of Higher Education.

Information on dinner reservations may be made at the college.

Additional Tire Damage Reported

Additional tire destruction in Marin came to light today with a report by Corte Madera police that three tires were discovered punctured yesterday at Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet, 5880 Paradise Drive.

The puncturing of the tires, apparently with an ice pick, according to police follows a rampage Tuesday night in which 123 tires were slashed at two Novato auto dealers' lots.

Campbell-Bishop, like those firms, has been warned not to advertise in the Independent-Journal during the strike by San Francisco Typographical Union 21 against the newspaper.

Campbell-Bishop has also had windows broken.

Collision Causes Injury, Arrest

A 40-year-old San Rafael man suffered a cut nose and was arrested on suspicion of drunken driving following a hit-run accident today, San Rafael police reported.

Booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $360 bail was Waldorf Keith Wallsten of 68 San Pedro Road. He was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

According to police the accident occurred at 2 a.m. at 182 Belvedere Street when Wallsten's car struck a parked car owned by Tololo Filipo of San Francisco.

A patrolman observing Wallstens' damaged car stopped him at 25 San Pedro Road minutes later. Filipo's damaged car was found a short time later after a police search.

Marin Suspects Hear Pot Charge

Two Marin men were scheduled to appear in Department 13 of San Francisco Municipal Court today as a result of their arrest Wednesday on narcotics charges.

Lee D. Malcolm, 26, of 1 Lincoln Road, Sausalito, and Henry R. Bayles, 26, of 14 Hillside Drive, Mill Valley, were arrested along with aSanFrancisco man, according to police, when they attempted to sell 500 pounds of marijuana to a San Francisco narcotics agent.

Malcolm was held at San Francisco City Prison on charges of possession of marijuana for sale and assaulting a policeman. Police said he tried to escape and was subdued.

Bayles was free on $1,250 bail after being charged with possession of marijuana for sale.

BAY

temporarily, plans pending before the county to develop Strawberry Cove.

"No development of any type should be permitted" in Richardson Bay until its effect on water quality is known, Bodovitz said. He noted that the only solution may be piping all sewage wastes out of Richardson Bay to the ocean, as is being considered by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board.

Bodovitz noted that the county plan said the 40 per cent fill was "the minimum necessary to provide an incentive for development." But Bodovitz objected that the county's plan "provides no information whatever to substantiate this statement."

Noting that the BCDC plan limited fill to the "minimum necessary," Bodovitz said that "to allow filling based on a formula, whether the formula is 40 per cent or 4 per cent, would be in violation of the bay plan. More important, reliance on formulas would allow much more of the bay to be filled than is necessary."

He also pointed out that "a substantial portion" of commercial recreation had to be on existing land under the BCDC bay plan. The county plan would allow up to 30.5 acres of new fill just for commercial recreation.

Bodovitz also questioned whether there was a market for 12-story hotels in the 185-acre planning area. He noted that the 11-story Le Baron Hotel near the waterfront in Burlingame contains 338 rooms, shops, restaurants, meeting favilities and parking for 461 cars — but took only 4.3 acres.

Enforcement of county codes would clean up the present conditions on the Sausalito Canal, he said, if fill were needed to finance the dredging, then it "should be deferred until other means of financing can be found."

In other business, commissioners received a report from Bodovitz that legislation has been introduced to delete from state plans proposed freeways on new bay fill between San Francisco and San Jose, and San Jose and Richmond.

Dr. Will Siri, president of the Save San Francisco Bay Association and former president of the Sierra Club, urged the commission's support of a moratorium conservationist are seeking on the State Water Project. The project's effects on ecology must be reevaluated, he said.

Palace's True Color

LONDON (UPI)—Thousands of tourist photographs show otherwise, but Buckingham Palace is really cream colored.

The palace has been getting its face washed for the first time in decades. And as the layers of London grime are scoured off by British government workmen—lo and behold—the brown old palace isn't brown at all.

Changes Made In Fairfax's Sign Ordinance

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night made a change in the proposed new sign ordinance that would benefit Fairfax's myriad small stores, according to commission vice president Hugh O. Winn.

He said the commission changed its proposal to allow one square foot of sign for each foot of frontage up to a maximum of 100 square feet instead of one square foot of sign for every four feet.

The old proposal discriminated against stores with only 20 or 30 feet of frontage Winn said.

The meeting was intended to be a public hearing on the sign ordinance of a proposed zoning ordinance, but no citizen bothered to come, according to Winn.

The zoning ordinance the planning commission is working on for presentation to the city council in about three months was also discussed.

Police Find 90 Kilos Of Weed

Somebody was put out of business last night when Fairfax police found 90 kilos of marijuana hidden in a secluded, wooded area on Manor Hill.

Police estimated the market value of the marijuana at $18,000.

Acting on a tip, Officer Paul Simpson went hiking into the woods at about 8:30 p.m. on what he said he thought at the time was a wild goose chase.

The 90 packages of the drug were neatly wrapped and stored in three army laundry bags, he said.

Simpson said the bags had apparently been hidden only yesterday.

Teen-Ager Denies Battery Charge

A Mill Valley man, arrested at a peace rally in San Francisco Wednesday, waived arraignment and pleaded not guilty yesterday in San Francisco Municipal Court to charges of battery, disturbing the peace and spitting on a policeman.

Jury trial was set for April 21 in department 15 for Mark Rasella, 18, of 81 Montford Avenue.

He remained in San Francisco City Prison today in lieu of $315 bail.

The center to be open Mondays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. will provide arts and crafts, open group discussion, games, exercise, dance groups and psychodrama.

TEACHERS

absent at King School; all were present.

King Principal Sidney F. Walton Jr. and Vice Principal James T. Tolliver Jr. remained absent today. Tolliver, contacted yesterday at his Bolinas home, said he was ill, suffering from a headache, severe nausea and "psychological depression." He disclaimed all knowledge of a strike.

Richard C. Godino, assistant county counsel who is looking into the legal implications of the absences, could not be reached to comment on whether the absent employees will be penalized. But Thomas G. Hendrix of the county councel's office said in order to be paid for their time off, the employees will have to present doctor's certificates or proof they were actually ill.

Schneider said he felt the strike might end Monday, the date of a special school board meeting called to give teachers and the school community a chance to speak to the board about its recent decision to eliminate certain positions next year and to close Bayside School, shifting students to Central.

Things appeared quiet and relatively normal today at King School, hardest hit by the "sickout," although small groups of black students who had come to school in hopes that Walton and Tolliver and their teachers would be back, left in disapointment when they discovered they were still absent.

Sidewalk Sale Plans Studied

Plans for a downtown sidewalk sale scheduled June 5-6 were discussed yesterday by the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce, reported office secretary Esther Squire.

The chamber discussed the possibility of closing part of San Anselmo Avenue during the outdoor sale.

Another meeting of merchants to promote downtown San Anselmo businesses — those on San Anselmo Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard — will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday in the meeting room of Ross Valley Savings and Loan.

Motel Sleeper's Wallet Is Stolen

A burglar stole a wallet from a sleeping salesman in the Edgewater Inn motel early today, Corte Madera police reported.

Police said Glenn M. Erickson of Westminster, Orange County, woke at 5:20 a.m. to see the rear door of his room closing. He leaped up and ran outside, but saw no one. He then found his wallet containing $65 and credit cards missing.

Police said the burglar apparently used a large screwdriver to pry the door lock, then slip open a chain latch.

BAGLEY DEFENDS TAX REFORM

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and chief shepherd of Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax reform package in the Legislature, tells newsmen that if the oil industry blocks changes in the oil depletion allowance it will throw the overall tax plan $10 million out of balance. He said he may have to recommend eliminating $10 million worth of tax exemptions proposed for senior citizens. (AP Wirephoto)

Admits Word 'Bloodbath' Wrong Usage

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan says there is something "neurotic" about those who take his controversial student "bloodbath" remark literally.

But the governor conctded to 700 state employes Thursday that the expression was "the wrong figure of speech."

Reagan, responding last week to a question about how to deal with campus disorder, told a Yosemite audience: "If it takes a bloodbath, let's get it over with. No more appeasement."

The governor was asked about the comment during a question and answer session following his formal speech Thursday to a state employe government conference.

"I didn't advocate a bloodbath," Reagan said. "And as a matter of fact I think there's something neurotic in someone believing that what was a figure of speech in a lengthy answer to a question should be interpreted literally that anyone would be advocating solving a problem by bathing the students in blood."

The state workers applauded for 15 seconds when he added, "There's a small element of the student body that I could suggest a bath ... "

Reagan said he used the expression to make the point that some college administrators had "attempted to temporize to the point of appeasing in an effort to deal with this obviously little revolutionary group.

Pollution District Funds In Smog Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly has before it today three bills to give the San Francisco Bay Area Air Pollution Control District more muscle and more money.

The measures would give the district the right to raise its property tax and to charge fees for registration and inspection of industrial polltuers.

The three bills were part of a nine-bill antismog package passed Thursday by the Assembly Transportation Committee.

Other measures involving Bay Area pollution control would give the district more authority to curb industries causing bad odors and more leverage over three counties — Solano, Sonoma and Napa — which have not joined the district but which lie within the Bay Area air basin.

Assemblyman John Knox, D-Richmond, sought to have the property tax increased from 1.2 cents per $100 assessed value to 2.5 cents but he won only two cents. The committee said it wanted the cost of antipollution efforts to be borne by industry, not homeowners

The committee also imposed a two-year limit on the increase.

Knox said the sharp increase was needed because "the district is really making some waves and needs more money." He said the tax hike would total about 15 cents a month for the owner of a $30,000 home.

Proposal To Police Car Repair Shops Wins Test

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A motorist-protection bill to police auto repair shops has passed an important Senate committee despite opposition from new car dealers and the oil industry.

The measure, by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, would require auto repair shops to register with a bureau similar to that which polices television repairs.

"This is a hell of a good consumer bill," enthused Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, a member of the Senate Business and Professions Committee which approved the bill. It goes now to the Senate Finance Committee.

But oil lobbyist Albert J. Shults disagreed, saying it would duplicate state activity in licensing of smog-control stations.

Car dealer spokesman Kent Redwine said dealers didn't object to regulation but preferred uniform handling under the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Spokesmen from the office of the attorney general, Association of California Consumers and the Automobile Club of Southern California testified in favor of the bill.

Beilenson said the auto repair industry was a $2.5 billion a year business with some 28,000 firms which car-ignorant motorists patronize — often to their regret.

"We're ripe to be cheated," agreed Short.

Beilenson said the car owner now has nowhere to turn for help if he feels he has been over-charged or rendered poor service.

As an example, Beilenson cited his wife's experience in having one garageman tell her a car difficulty needed a $130 tuneup while another fixed it with a $1.25 sparkplug replacement.

Congressmen Press Probe Of Massacre

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House armed services subcommittee investigating the alleged My Lai massacre called six more witnesses to testify today, including the helicopter pilot who aired the first radio reports about what was happening in the South Vietnamese village.

The pilot was CWO Hugh C. Thompson, 26. His reports were supposedly the first word that superior officers had that something out of the ordinary was going on at My Lai. The others called for today's session of the closed hearings to include three civilians.

Absenteeism Up In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (708) — Student absenteeism soared today to nearly 50 per cent as the school board of the city's 616 schools attempted to negotiate a back-to-work agreement with striking teachers.

The board ordered Superintendent Robert Kelly to discuss an agreement with United Teachers of Los Angeles aimed at getting the strikers back in the classrooms by Monday.

However, the agreement would not involve "substantive issues" of salaries and educational programs according to Board President Arthur Gardner.

Kelly had ordered school negotiators to end talks with the UTLA when union teachers failed to report to classes last Monday, the first day of the strike.

Homeowners Eye Cost Of Utility Undergrounding

The Marin Country Club Estates Homeowners Association has formed a committee to survey the residents on their feeling about undergrounding utilities in the area, publicity chairman James Sullivan reported yesterday.

The association has received bids of $1,100 per lot on the north side of the fairway and $1,400 on the south side of the fairway where the lots are larger, Sullivan said. There would also be an additional charge to bring the lines from the street into the houses, he said.

The committee will also investigate whether individuals would want to pay outright undergrounding or form an assessment district, he said.

Robert M. Dougherty, Mrs. James Gordon and Sullivan were named to the committee.

Robert Bliss, was named chairman of the beautification committee to work with the city on the Spring Trash Bash on April 25 and May 2.

Marin Experimental Films To Be Shown

Films of three Marin County contemporary and experimental film makers will be shown on three different days at 8 p.m. at Alexander Hall, San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Films by Robert Nelson will be shown tomorrow; films by Larry Jordan, April 25 and Myron Ort, May 2.

Council Victor Uses Labor Mailing Permit

F. Wayne Sartain, who was top vote getter in Tuesday's Novato City Council election, mailed his campaign literature under the nonprofit organization mailing permit of the Marin County Labor Council, it was learned today.

William Keegan, superintendent of mailing requirements at the postal inspector's office in San Francisco, said this appears to be misuse of the nonprofit mailing permit.

The permit entitles its user to a rate of 1.6 cents per piece mailed, as compared to the regular permit rate of 3.8 cents. If the use is found to have been illegal, the labor council would have to pay the additional 2.2 cents per piece to the post office, according to Keegan. There would be further penalty only if the misuse were proved intentional, he said.

The mailing went out to voters throughout Novato, although it was not known today whether it was sent to all the 9,860 registered voters on the rolls.

Sartain, who is a member of San Francisco Typographical Union 21, got 2,637 votes to top the seven candidates for Novato City Council.

The mailing permit used is San Rafael No. 55 nonprofit organization permit, issued to the labor council at 701 Mission Avenue.

Keegan said postal regulations restrict use of the permit to mailings of the labor council itself, although in mailings to members these could include campaign materials for candidates endorsed by the council.

Students Plan Boys Club Drive

Sixty students from Sir Francis Drake, Tamalpais and San Domenico high schools will hold a youth march in southern Marin April 25 to collect funds for the Marin City Boys' Club.

The students, wearing badges saying, "Youth March, Marin City Boys' Club," will cover most of Southern Marin. The march will be followed by a dance at St. Anselm's Church Hall in San Anselmo.

The march was organized by Carolyn Knox of San Domenico and Channing May of Drake.

Tax Hike Eyed

The possibility of increasing the present 20.5 cent tax rate to provide additional funds to solve drainage problems will be discussed at a meeting of the Rafael Meadows Flood Control Zone April 28 at 8 p.m. in Room 332 at the Civic Center.

New York Press Pact Hopes Dim

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bargaining between the city's four major newspapers and their unions bogged down Thursday, their progress described as "bleak, bleak, bleak."

Chief mediator Theodore W. Kheel said he still takes "a very dim view" of any success in contract negotiations between 10 unions and The New York Times, Daily News, New York Post and Long Island Press.

The unions have been working without a contract since March 30 and one of them has twice postponed strike deadlines.

Negotiations bogged down Thursday when the International Typographical No. 6 rejected as "insufficient" a wage increase offer of 24.8 per cent over three years.

Informational Sessions Slated For Youth Group

Two informational meetings about Young Life, an organization to communicate the Christian faith to teen-agers, will be held in Marin next week.

To acquaint the public with the organization and its principles, there will be a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Community Room of the Bank of Marin in Novato.

There also will be a meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Rooms 207 and 209 at Redwood High School in Larkspur.

The sessions, preparatory to functioning in Marin, will be conducted by Robert Reeverts, area director of Young Life, Robert Barram, regional director, and Johann Anderson, potential Marin leader, now in the program in Orange County.

Persons interested in further information can telephone Kenneth E. Rawlings in Novato, Mrs. Clifford M. Pedersen in Kentfield or Mrs. Richard Tharp of Tiburon.

Gotham Trolley Goes To England

CRICH, England (UPI)—The clang-clang of the New York 3rd Avenue trolley soon will begin ringing in Crich.

The 30-year-old streetcar built originally for Manhattan's 3rd Avenue will be back in business in this little northern England town for a limited service.

The British Tramway Museum had the streetcar shipped from Vienna where it had been in use since the Austrian capital bought it from the New York company in 1949.

What Bus Business Will Cost

Marin taxpayers will have to pony up at least $123,189, and as much as $260,000, when the Golden Gate Bridge District gets into the commuter bus business.

This was the decision yesterday of the Golden Gate Bridge District's joint transportation and finance-auditing committee. The decision will go to the full board next Friday for its ratification, which appeared assured given yesterday's unanimous vote and support by Marin's representatives on the committee.

SET IN FORMULA

The figures were set in a formula designed to set Marin's obligation to pay for the intracounty portion of the bus operation. By state law, intracounty service cannot be paid by the bridge district.

For example, the county must pay for whatever subsidy would be needed for a passenger riding from Novato to Sausalito. But the bridge district would pay for the entire cost of subsidizing this rider if he stayed on the bus into San Francisco.

The same law, passed last year, also requires Marin to commit itself to pay the cost before the bridge district can spend a dime on the bus service, thus adoption of the formula will be crucial to getting the service started.

The minimum figure, to be paid when the service begins, was based on patronage estimates by the Marin County Transit District. These estimates set total annual patronage at 5,762,000, of which 675,000, or 11.71 per cent, would be intracounty passengers in Marin.

$123,189 FIGURE

The $123,189 was arrived at by multiplying the total projected net operating deficit of $1,052,000 by 11.71 per cent.

The maximum was set at the amount that the county transit district can raise in one fiscal year by imposing its maximum property tax rate of five cents per $100 assessed valuation, raising about $260,000.

Directors agreed it was unlikely that much more than the minimum figure would be needed for the first few years. Any overpayment would be credited against the payment owned by the county the following year.

The maximum, they agreed, would be subject to revision upward after the first year if it proved to be inadequate.

Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum noted that the transit district also had $485,000 in reserve, but wanted to earmark this for possible purchase of railroad rights-of-way for a future transit system.

The district hopes to be in the bus business sometime next fall.

The number of Britons taking vacations abroad rose 30 per cent in the past five years—from 5 million in 1964 to 6.5 million in 1969, the Board of Trade reports.

NEW STARTERS FOR TIBURON FERRY TRIPS

Tiburon commuter ferries, starting Monday, will leave Tiburon 10 minutes earlier in the morning and 15 minutes later from San Francisco in the evening.

Lester C. Bedient, general manager of Harbor Carriers, operator of the service, said the changes were asked by commuters to better suit their work schedules.

The first three morning departures from Tiburon will be at 6:50, 7:30 and 8:10, with 10-minute speed-ups in the schedule of the feeder bus system, he said.

Afternoons, departures from San Francisco will be at 4, 5:15 and 5:45.

Other service midday and weekends will be unchanged.

Rosy Future Painted For Ferry Runs

A bright future for ferry service to San Francisco from Southern and Central Marin was forecast yesterday in a study by a naval architect.

But North Marin, because of its distance from San Francisco, would need high-speed hydrofoils or hovercraft to attract patrons, according to Philip F. Spaulding, consultant to the Golden Gate Bridge District.

OTHER POINTS

Spaulding, in a preliminary report on his plan for the district to get into water transportation, told directors that three to four conventional ferryboats with planing hulls would be needed to serve Central Marin, either at Corte Madera or Larkspur.

Any of the possible sites near the mouth of the Corte Madera Creek would require extensive dredging and costly site preparation, Spaulding cautioned.

These vessels would be 196 feet long, cruise at 20 knots and carry about 940 passengers, 750 of them seated.

They would depart each half-hour during peak commute hours, Spaulding said.

TWO TERMINALS

North Marin probably would have two ferry terminals, perhaps at Gallinas Creek, the Petaluma River or Novato Creek. These also would require costly dredging and site preparation, he said.

Spaulding's preliminary report did not include cost estimates. His final report is due May 12.

He said that his plan would pay special attention to locating terminals near highways and railroad rights-of-way so that ferry terminals either could serve rapid transit as well or be converted to serve rapid transit only if the ferry service were phased out of some areas.

Feeder Bus Firm Seeks Monthly Aid

Southern Marin's private feeder bus company, nearing the end of its financial rope, yesterday appealed to the Golden Gate Bridge District for a monthly subsidy of $12,000.

The Marin City-based company, Marin County Transit Systems Inc., has been feeding the Tiburon ferry since February under a $12,000 subsidy from the county transit district, and last week won an additional $4,000 from the county to extend the service for one more month.

The company made its appeal to the bridge district's joint transportation and finance-auditing committee, but because of the late hour the appeal was postponed to 9:30 a.m. Thursday in toll plaza offices.

The company's presentation to the committee said that its service will cost about $17,370 a month for the next four months. It figured revenue at $1,380 a month, with a net deficit for the four months of $61,968.

Asked by the Independent-Journal what would happen to his company's service if the bridge district rejected his appeal, company president Theophus F. Barron Jr. said he was certain the appeal would be successful.

Welcome Readied For Chiang's Heir

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elaborate special plans have been made to greet the son of National Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek when he arrives for a state visit next week, but there is no sign the extra-friendly welcome indicates a change in basic U.S. Asian policy.

Chiang Ching-kuo, Formosa's deputy prime minister, arrives Monday night on a four-day official state visit that includes high-level conferences with President Nixon, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and other Cabinet officials.

The 59-year-old elder son and heir apparent to Chiang Kai-shek is due to get extensive exposure to administration views on Asia. But the administration has given no indication of backing a new Asian nation security alliance he advocates.

Juvenile Adviser Panel Reports Survey Progress

The Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Commission is pleased with cooperation received so far in its do-it-yourself study to define delinquency and plan its prevention.

The commission heard Wednesday that school and law enforcement employees interviewed so far have helped substantially, reported Gwen M. Monroe, Marin county youth coordinator.

The commission also agreed to seek supervisorial approval to apply for federal and state matching funds to create a delinquency planning and program development organization. The program budget will be $100,000 to $125,000, and would be 60 per cent federally funded with 20 per cent apiece from state and local funds.

The commission also seated new member Rev. James Upshaw.

Arson Damages Old Warehouses

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A four-alarm fire that swept through two old warehouses Thursday was listed by inspectors today as arson.

Fire Chief William Murray estimated damage at $150,000. More than 400 men and 32 pieces of equipment battled the flames.

Arson Inspector George Lucas said someone had set fire to a stack of wooden pallets adjacent to one of the buildings.

The two warehouse sheds dated from before the 1906 earthquake and fire but were still in use. They contained hardware, clothing and furniture.

Each was about 1,000 feet long and 150 feet wide. They were leased from the Santa Fe Railway by Western Carloading Co.

Only Charged With Trespassing Count

Leroy Everett Southard, 21, of no known address, who was arrested yesterday on suspicion of possessing marijuana and trespassing, was charged later in Marin Municipal Court only with the latter offense.

He pleaded guilty to being in a motel room at the Bermuda Palms and Judge Hadden W. Roth sentenced him to the time he had already spent in jail.

Crash Seriously Injures Woman

Karen Jo Munson, 23, of 481 Mesa Road, Bolinas, was reported in poor condition today in Marin General Hospital's intensive care unit with a fractured skull and chest injuries received in a motorcycle accident yesterday.

Miss Munson was a passenger on a motorcycle, driven by Jose R. Sanchez, 33, of Bolinas, which overturned in loose gravel westbound on Mesa Road, just west of Overlook Road in Bolinas, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Sanchez was treated at the hospital for multiple scrapes and bruises and released. The accident occurred about 1:45 p.m.

Senators May Strip Baseball Of Exemption

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sens. Warren Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson, both D-Wash., have introduced legislation to abolish organized baseball's exemption from antitrust laws.

The legislation was an outgrowth of the American League's moving of the Seattle franchise to Milwaukee. No similar exemption from antitrust laws is enjoyed by other professional sports such as football, hockey or basketball.

Jordan Asks Ouster Of Envoy; U.S. Complies

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)—Jordan today demanded the recall of U.S. Ambassador Harrison Symmes in a display of anger against U.S. Middle East policies. Anti-American demonstrations broke out for the fourth consecutive day today and a general strike paralyzed the city.

The official Jordanian news agency issued a statement saying Jordan had asked the U.S. State Department to recall Symmes. The action was a victory for militant Palestinian guerrillas who led the anti-American demonstrations.

(In Washington, the State Department said it had compiled with Jordan's request.

("We regret this development which, we trust, will not impair the close and cordial relations which we have had with Jordan," Robert J. McCloskey, spokesman for the State Department, said.)

Political observers said the recall was a severe blow to United States efforts to improve relations with Arab states and that it was in direct retaliation for Symmes' handling of the proposed visit to Jordan by Joseph J. Sisco, the U.S. assistant Secretary of State for Middle East Affairs.

It was at Symmes' urging that Sisco canceled his visit, which had been scheduled to begin today.

It was canceled Thursday after three days of anti-American rioting climaxed by attacks on the U.S. Embassy and the burning of the U.S. Information Services Library here. Symmes criticized the Jordanians for not providing sufficient protection for American property.

Several hundred demonstrators chanted anti-American slogans in the streets again today and a general strike closed all shops in the city. The embassy was blocked off by barbed wire and heavily armed troops patrolled the city.

Both the demonstrations and the requested recall of Symmes were seen as triumphs for militant guerrillas who reject a peaceful solution in the Middle East.

Friends described Symmes, 48, who has been in the Middle East since 1948 and speaks fluent Arabic, as a remarkably outspoken person known for his antiguerrilla attitudes.

The Jordanian news agency said, "It is believed that government circles are critical of Symmes' attitude and leanings vis a vis the Arab stand in the face of Israeli aggression."

Sleepy Hollow Budget Voted As $20,000

Members of the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association last night approved a $20,000 budget at the association's quarterly general membership meeting.

The budget for the fiscal year that began April 1 won near unanimous approval after $250 was added for Little League baseball and Pop Warner football, according to Hilton J. Simon, treasurer of the association.

About $3,000 now alloted to the association's nursery school will be reimbursed later from the school's profits, Simon said.

The budget allots funds for the general operation and mortgage expenses of the Sleepy Hollow Clubhouse and maintenance of the association's swimming pool as well as the nursery school and the youth leagues.

The 60-70 members who attended also passed various technical revisions to the group's by laws, Simon said.

DAN SIEGAL
Faces riot charge

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—About 400 militant demonstrators were quelled with tear gas Thursday during a destructive rock-throwing rampage that prompted University of California authorities to ban rallies temporarily.

Campus officers, sheriff's deputies and California Highway Patrolmen fired volleys of tear gas into the mass of demonstrators who fell back, regrouped and charged again. It was the second consecutive day of violence.

More than 50 persons, 33 Thursday, have been arrested and more than a score injured.

'A TRAVESTY'

Chancellor Roger Heyns, who banned all rallies scheduled for today, said Thursday the campus "was the victim of wantom destruction unprecedented in the history of the university. Any attempt to link today's grim events with moral issues is a travesty on morality."

About 2,500 persons roamed about Sproul Plaza, the famous center of dissent on the 27,000-student campus, but the destructive rampage was carried out by about 400 demonstrators —including many of grammar and high school age.

"People are dying in Vietnam and we're going to be dying here," a bearded youth standing on a station wagon told one of the roving bands. "This university is one of the enemies."

FLAG ATTACKED

The demonstrators ripped down an American flag and tried to burn it, smashed hundreds of windows, wrecked two trucks and laid siege to the campus Naval ROTC building and California Hall, where Heyns' office is located.

A group of about 20 smashed out the windows of the Faculty Club, where 50 professors were eating lunch, then dashed inside to scatter tables and chairs. One angry teacher threw a chair at the students as they fled.

Former student body president, Dan Siegel, surrendered on charges of inciting to riot during Wednesday's disorders. Siegel, who was booked and released on $2,000 bail, called the charges "ridiculous" and "absurd."

Purse Is Looted

Marie L. Satre of Worthington, Minn., reported to San Rafael police $100 in travelers checks and $61 in cash were stolen from her purse yesterday at 2 p.m. while shew sapaying her bill at the Jim-Jam Coffee Shop, 810 Third Street.

Regents Balk At Honorary Degrees Ban

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A committee of the University of California Board of Regents has defeated an attempt to end the century-old practice of awarding honorary degrees.

But the discussion Thursday prior to the vote by the Education Policy Committee indicated the Regents next month may vote limitations as to who can receive them.

Mrs. Edward H. Heller of Atherton, who sought the discontinuance, argued that they are given without any pattern and no longer have much significance.

But President Charles J. Hitch called her suggestion "drastic" and argued honorary degrees "do and have served useful purposes over the years."

Hitch also said frankly that the offering of a degree to a noted citizen makes a difference if he has several invitations to speak.

At the request of Regent W. Glenn Campbell, the Education Policy Committee asked Hitch to supply the Regents with detailed studies of student grades. Campbell said he was concerned after reading a report that a Santa Barbara teacher gave 1,200 A's, less than 10 B's and no lower grades.

The Regents Finance Committee approved a reduction in fees for university employees taking courses on campus despite protests by Regent Frederick Dutton of Sausalito that administrators were being hypocritical by lowering fees for themselves after raising them for other students.

The committee also approved establishment of a task force to study student financial aid. Dutton complained that no students were on the task force and Hitch said he would consider adding students.

Shotguns Wound Four In Isla Vista Flareup

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Three young women and an African foreign exchange student were hit by shotgun pellets Thursday night as officers dispersed young people smashing windows at a bank building which replaced one rioters burned down in February.

Sheriff James Webster said some of his 200 riot-helmeted, shield-carrying deputies fired birdshot into the air, but not directly at any of the estimated 700 protestors attacking the Bank of America in nearby Isla Vista. He said he was investigating the woundings.

The officers launched several dozen tear gas canisters in an hour-long confrontation to disperse the demonstrators who also smashed nearby real estate office windows and set some trash bins ablaze in the street.

Most seriously wounded by birdshot was Wond Mesfin, 21, an Ethiopian exchange student at the adjoining University of California campus. He was hospitalized in satisfactory condition with flesh wounds in his shoulder, side and back.

Three young women were treated at Santa Barbara County General Hospital for birdshot wounds. One was hospitalized, two were released. Their names were not released.

One student involved in the trouble later told a newsman the demonstrators attacked the bank branch — as was the case in February — as "the biggest symbol in the community of the capitalist establishment we've been fighting against for years."

Stanford Students Barely Favor ROTC Retention

STANFORD (UPI)—Stanford students narrowly favor retention of ROTC on campus, but not for academic credit.

In a vote Thursday, 2,919 voted that ROTC should be retained on campus and 2,781 opposed. But on the question of whether it should count for credit, 1,898 said yes and 3,616 no.

The ROTC program and the building that houses it have been the focal points of repeated demonstrations on campus since the faculty voted narrow support for the program.

Stanford President Kenneth Pitzer said Thursday it "now seems likely" the Air Force ROTC unit will be withdrawn off campus because its enrollment "falls well below the normal minimum" for a campus unit.

Suva, capital of Fiji, ranks as the most important city in the Pacific islands after Honolulu. It lies at the hub of air and sea lanes converging on the palms and beaches that ring an enormous circle of cobalt sea.

Legislative Bay Proposals Anger ABAG; Capital Lobbyist Studied

By DAVID DIETZ

BERKELEY — The executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments took steps to hire a Sacramento lobbyist last night after it charged the regional agency was being ignored by local legislators.

The committee was particularly displeased with introduction of bills creating open space and regional transit commissions and one that would assign the task of Bay-Delta water planning to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission—jobs which, it contended, are properly ABAG's as a multi-purpose group.

By unanimous vote, the committee asked ABAG staff to begin a search for a Sacramento representative and report back. The committee also urged that the bills in question be amended to put ABAG in control of the various tasks. ABAG budgeted $10,000 earlier this year in case it decided to hire a lobbyist.

ABAG President Ignazio A. Vella of Sonoma County and Marin Supervisor John F. McInnis voiced sharpest anger over the apparent cold shoulder. The open space bill was introduced by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, and the transit measure is sponsored by a San Francisco Democrat, Assemblyman John F. Foran. Sponsor of the Bay-Delta legislation is Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond.

McInnis said the Marks and Foran bills, together with other measures introduced in Sacramento to create a statewide and new regional commissions to new regional commission to would add to a growing layer of single purpose agencies, imposing tax burdens.

He added, "What do we send them to Sacramento for? We are effective and of 10 years' standing. I get furious when I dwell on it."

Vella, besides deploring the apparent rebuff, warned of a move by Washington officials to shift authorization for screening local applications for federal construction funds away from regional agencies into the hands of state planning officials.

"I think if you're going to placate, then I subscribe to the fact that you're going to legislate yourself, by inaction, right out of existence," he said.

The committee also unanimously agreed to send the new regional plan, designed as a guide for development through 1990, to the general assembly on July 30.

The plan suggests creation of "center cities" on the fringe of the nine-county region and more provision for open space as devices for checking overdevelopment. The plan was reported in detail in the Independent-Journal March 27.

McInnis, chairman of the ABAG committee which molded the plan, reassured the executive group that the document was in no way binding on local communities. "It must have continuing, detailed consideration by cities and counties," he said.

The ABAG Executive Committee Also:

PARKS—Urged Gov. Ronald Reagan to disregard a recommendation by the State Park and Recreation Department to delete from his 1971 fiscal budget $729,535 in Bay Area park funds, including $69,650 for partial development of Stafford Lake near Novato. The funds would have been provided this year, but 1964 bonds went unsold. If Reagan heeds ABAG's recommendation, it will mean the projects will still be authorized if the bonds are sold by June 1971.

COTATI—Endorsed an application by the City of Cotati for an $18,000 federal grant to compile a general plan. Total cost is $28,000.

NOVATO—Voted cooperating membership in the agency to the Novato Sanitary District, meaning it is entitled to receive ABAG material and attend executive committee meetings.

Brass Knuckles Case

Daniel Lee Temple, 22, of San Rafael, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a felony charge of carrying brass knuckles on Feb. 2 in San Rafael. He is to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

Bill Raising Pawnbroker Fees Gains

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, yesterday tongue-lashed a deputy state attorney general for opposing a bill to increase pawnbroker charges.

"Why the hell are you sticking your nose into this business?" asked McCarthy, chairman of the insurance and financial institutions committee.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Anthony C. Joseph, the only opposition witness at McCarthy's committee hearing on the bill, replied that his office was "filling a void. There is no one here speaking for the consumer."

McCarthy said, "That's why we're here — to represent the people."

Joseph said he merely was offering "some expertise in this area" to aid legislators considering the bill, authored by Sen. Stephen Teale, D-West Point.

The bill, asked by the Collateral Loan Brokers Associaion of California, would increase from $10 to $15 the charge on pawnbroker loans between $75 and $150. Such flat charges are charged on short-term loans in lieu of 2.5 per cent interest.

Joseph argued the increase "was not justified." He noted that the charge was increased only two years.

Other committee members sat silent while McCarthy rebuked Joseph, then gave a unanimous nod to send the measure to the Senate floor.

Brezhnev Opens Lenin Centennial

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev, head of the Soviet Communist party, has planted a tree at a ceremony in Ulyanovsk touching off celebrations of the 100th anniversary of Lenin's birth.

Speaking to an assemblage of Soviet dignitaries Thursday, Brezhnev declared Leninism would lead "to the full abolition of exploitation and oppression, to the worldwide triumph of socialism."

"We know this will not be an easy task," he said. "Our enemies spare no effort or means to hold back revolutionary process. It will take no small effort to win a final victory. But we are confident this victory will come."

If you don't get the point of this new research*, you're losing customers

The percentages of women planning, shopping and spending for each item in a week are very small.

This finding, from the most complete research ever done on the retail customer, is nothing to brush off lightly. (Unless you want to brush off business).

Let's see what it means: Take women's dresses. Only 7 women out of 100 interviewed in Week I planned to buy a dress soon. In Week II, 5 out of 100 actually shopped for a dress. And only 3 bought. But the ones who bought weren't necessarily among the 7 who planned to buy!

This pattern is true for every item in all stores, except food and drug-sundries (the necessities). The market is fantastically small on any given day, in any given week. It is not a huge, faceless group just waiting for your merchandise.

Take major appliances: the findings show that 16,700 women must be reached to sell every 100 major appliances sold in all stores in town in a week!

And wouldn't you know it? Three out of four items bought by women in the second week of the survey weren't even planned in the first week. So, those who plan don't necessarily buy, and those who buy didn't even know a few days before that they would soon make a purchase decision!

The point is: no store can know when or where women will actually buy. If you're out of the market with your advertising you're out of sight, out of mind. But if you're in, with a consistent schedule of smaller-space ads to supplement your larger ads, you draw this ever-changing, dynamic market to you. You turn "planners" into buyers of your items. And you get the random buyer to become an actual purchaser.

Your ads in the Independent-Journal give you "market command." Because here you reach 70% of all Marin County households. You reach a tremendous audience. And you get immediate response. Just a better way of doing more business. Call your I-J Ad-Man now and make this research work for you.

Ferry Prediction

At least 900 to 1,300 commuters from Sausalito to Mill Valley would use a Sausalito ferry, naval architect Philip F. Spaulding reported yesterday to Golden Gate Bridge District directors, not 500 to 1,300 as reported incorrectly by the Independent-Journal.

Mill Valley Youth Advise On Harbor

Eight guidelines for the development of Mill Valley's small boat harbor have been formulated by the city's youth commission, according to Leonard Anderson, vice chairman.

The commission worked on the premise that the harbor should not be contaminated with fumes and oil from powered craft, Anderson said.

The priorities will be turned over to the city's planning commission April 27 and incorporated into that group's recommendations to the city council. The youth commission's eight points are.

1. Preserve existing marshland; 2. Develop the basin into a public park; 3. Provide limited facilities for launching and storage of non-powered small craft; 4. Build a restaurant/bar in the area.

5. Provide bicycle and foot paths; 6. Limit parking to a few well landscaped lots; 7. Develop a ferry slip for service to San Francisco; 8. Build a permanent community recreation and performing arts center.

The commission also heard a report that the Marin Symphony is planning a county music festival and voted to find out when. If it will be in the spring, Anderson said, the commission will consider helping the symphony in place of staging its own music festival.

Philippine Reds Kill U.S. Airmen

MANILA (UPI)—Initial investigation showed Communist-led Huk terrorists, led by their top military commander, were responsible for the killing of two Clark Air Base airmen, the Philippine constabulary said today.

Maj. Vicente Eduardo said villagers reported the Huks, led by Commander Dante, the leader of the "New People's Army," killed the two Americans. He said the informants refused to sign statements for fear of reprisals.

The mutilated bodies of Airmen 1-c Donald D. Facklam, 24, of Scandia, Kan., and Sgt. Clifford J. Bales, 21, of Kewaskum, Wis., were discovered Tuesday in a shallow grave in a secluded area 65 miles north of Manila. Their hands were tied behind their backs.

MARIN SEES SOMETHING GOOD ABOUT GARBAGE

Marin County's dwindling reserve fund has been increased by 153 per cent.

But that doesn't mean we're exactly in clover, explained County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell. It merely means that the reserve fund, reduced to a $153 last week, will be augmented by a $235 windfall.

And that windfall came from, of all things, garbage. Remember several weeks ago when the county appropriated $1,500 to remove two giant piles of rubbish and garbage that was left in San Geronimo after a community cleanup? They used only $1,256 of that amount, which meant that $235 can go back to the reserve fund.

With the 153 per cent increase, Marin now has a cushion of $388 to meet contingencies through June 30.

PARENTS 'SO GRATEFUL'

Fireman Saves Tiny Baby With Lesson Over Phone

A Terra Linda fireman saved the life of a week-old infant last night by telephoning instructions on how to administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

"We're so grateful," said Donna Lee Netherton of 29 Washington Avenue, Santa Venetia. "They saved my baby's life."

It was about 11 p.m. and Mrs. Netherton and her husband James were feeding the baby, Brenda Lee. "She was taking her bottle but I don't think she choked. She just coughed a couple of times and then went limp. She tried breathing but couldn't."

Mrs. Netherton ran to the phone to call for help. She got the Terra Linda Fire Department, where Fireman Brian Caldwell answered the call.

Since Santa Ventia is outside Terra Linda's jurisdiction, Caldwell told her to call the county fire department. But the fireman, disturbed by the woman's plea for help, called her back and began giving instructions over the telephone.

"I just listened and told my husband what to do," said Mrs. Netherton. "He did a beautiful job."

On the other end, Fireman Caldwell could hear the breathing as Netherton revived the baby, and then came the infant's cry.

"If you write something in the paper, please tell them how grateful we are," said Mrs. Netherton, tears in her eyes.

The Nethertons have another child, a 3-year-old boy. Netherton worked as a district manager in the Independent-Journal circulation department until the strike by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

Fire Chief George A. Walser commended Caldwell for a job well done.

Flood Zone Panel Shifts Meeting Date

The Wednesday meeting of the Bel Aire Flood Control Zone has been moved ahead to Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Room 12 of the Bel Aire School.

The meeting was changed, a flood control spokesman said, so that Supervisor Michael Wornum might attend. The Bel Aire master plan will be discussed at the meeting.

Kentfield Slates Summer School

Kentfield School District students entering first through eighth grades may register for the district's summer school program May 2 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Adaline E. Kent School.

A second registration date for nonresidents has been set for May 9 from 10 a.m. to noon at the school.

The program offers courses in arts, cooking, drama, guitar, physical education, typing and a special general program geared for primary students.

Additional information may be acquired by calling the district office on Tuesday and Friday afternoons.

Loma Verde Tutoring Sponsored By Church

A tutoring program for children in the Loma Verde Elementary School is being sponsored by members of the Loma Verde congregation of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Reading, writing, spelling, and arithmetic are taught by residents of Loma Verde and Terra Linda, a church spokesman said. Information may be obtained from Joyce Borchardt at 15 Capilano Drive, Novato.

Union Seeks To Add 80 County Aides

Marin County Employees Association, which represents about 700 of the 1,200 county employees, wants to add about 80 more "middle management" employees to its bargaining unit.

Randall M. Prevo, general manager of the association, notified the Marin County Personnel Commission yesterday that he will ask for the expansion at the commission's next meeting on May 21 in the Civic Center.

The association now represents about 700 rank and file employees, including a category called "emergency employees" consisting of firemen, sheriff's deputies and communications employees.

"At present there are about 150 county employees who are not represented by any bargaining unit because they are considered managerial," said Prevo. He wants to include about 80 of them in the employees' bargaining unit. Prevo said "middle management" would include such persons as fire captains, police lieutenants, and supervisors in various county departments who work under the department heads and assistant department heads.

Robert B. McCreadie presided yesterday at the personnel commission meeting in the absence of Chairman Bella Aaron, who is recuperating from a heart attack.

The commissioners approved a request by the Social Workers Union to include Lillian Inke, work training coordinator in the Department of Public Social Services, as a member of the union. Mrs. Inke was previously considered managerial and excluded from the social workers bargaining unit.

Personnel commissioners also approved a program for evaluating the work performance of county employees, particularly during the probationary period. The program was drawn up by personnel analyst Jack Atkin.

Women were admitted to the House of Lords in the British Parliament in 1958.

Pair Hurt In Crash Of Cycle

Curtis Miller, 21, and Lorna Blair, 19, both of 57 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo, were treated yesterday for injuries suffered in a motorcycle accident shortly after noon.

Miller was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises, the hospital said, and Miss Blair was treated for scrapes and bruises at Kaiser Hospital, Terra Linda, hospital authorities reported.

No details of the accident were available.

Resignation Is Accepted In Cotati

J.H. (Jim) Malone, a Cotati planning commissioner for four years, resigned last night in a letter to the city council.

Malone, who did not give a reason for resigning in the letter, said today his business had become too demanding.

The council accepted the resignation with thanks for service.

The Cotati City Council also:

CODES — Approved updated versions of city building, electrical, plumbing and mechanical codes.

PRINT — Disagreeing with the planning commission, voted support of county issuance of a permit for a printing shop in a residental area at 8840 Poplar Avenue, outside the city limits. Councilmen John L. Groom and Alfred Filleti abstained.

HEALTH — Appointed Councilmen Henry Garner and Filleti to push for a special health facilities study in the Rohnert Park-Cotati area by county officials.

RAMP — Approved a $400 engineering survey of an onramp at Highway 101 and Commerce Boulevard.

Hess Agrees To Prison Visitors

BONN (London Express) — The lone prisoner in Spanadau Jail, 75-year-old Rudolf Hess, has agreed for the first time since he was sentenced to allow his relatives to visit him in prison.

His wife Ilse and only son, Wolf-Ruediger, will fly to Berlin next Friday to see him.

Hess refused to allow any of his family to see him until he was removed from jail last winter and taken to the British military hospital for treatment for stomach ulcers.

He then agreed to visits because he said his relatives would be spared the humiliation of having to enter a prison.

Now he has changed his mind again and agreed to allow visits in the jail.

Woman Hit By Truck Released

Ellen Lefkowitz, 20, of 1212-A Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, was released today from Marin General Hospital after treatment for a concussion and cut head sustained Wednesday when she was struck by a pickup truck.

San Anselmo police said she was crossing Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Saunders Avenue at 8:30 a.m. when the truck driven by Steven M. Baker, 19, of 15 Rena Court, Novato, hit her.

Baker was cited for passing another vehicle stopped for a pedestrian, and for driving with an expired license.

Petaluma Child, 4, Killed In Street

A 4-year-old West Petaluma boy was killed yesterday when he dashed from the driveway of his home into the path of a moving auto, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Mark A. Gilroy of 2755 Western Avenue was pronounced dead of unspecified injuries upon arrival at Hillcrest Hospital at about 4:30 p.m.

The highway patrol said the motorist, Jenny Braren, 62, of 1611 Spring Hill Road, also West Petaluma, reported she was unable to avoid hitting the child.

Mark was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilroy Jr. Gilroy is a San Francisco fireman.

The boy was born in San Francisco and moved to Sonoma County with his parents last summer.

Surviving besides his parents are four brothers, Scott, Pat, Casey and Kelly, all at home, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilroy Sr. of San Francisco and Dewey Stornetta of Point Arena.

Mass of the Angels will be offered at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Vincent DePaul Catholic Church, Petaluma. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Sorensen funeral home, Petaluma.

Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Novato Chamber Gives Congress More Cash

The Novato Chamber of Commerce board of directors last night voted to appropriate another $100 for the Congress for Community Progress to be held May 23 at Novato High School.

The chamber had appropriated $200 for the congress, but that has been spent in sending out questionnaires and tabulating the returns, according to secretary Billie Garl.

The all-day congress is being sponsored by the chamber with the cooperation of Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

The board approved sale of office furniture at its present location at 867 Sweetser Avenue and purchasing new furniture for its new office at 1123 Grant Avenue, according to Mrs. Garl. The chamber offices will be moved next weekend, she said.

The airport committee will meet at 8 a.m. Tuesday at Gnoss Field to discuss the future of that airport with manager Frances Torr.

The board agreed to set up a nominating committee made up of past presidents.

Directors also set May 7 for a noon luncheon meeting at the Lodge when J. Wayne Womack and Arnold Baptiste, candidates for supervisor from the Fifth District, will speak and answer questions.

Tiburon Sponsors Ecological Walk Along Bayshore

The Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission will sponsor an ecological walk along Richardson Bay tomorrow, according to Robert L. Kleinert, assistant city manager.

The walk will begin at 9:30 a.m. at Tiburon Boulevard and San Rafael Avenue and will proceed west along the abandoned railroad right-of-way to Richardson Bay Park, Kleinert said.

The three-quarter mile walk will be led by commissioner George Ellman, chairman of the commission. Two naturalists will be along to point out wildlife, flowers and rock formations along the way.

The commission will hear a progress report on remodeling of the city's teen park when it meets Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The commission ordinarily meets Tuesday but the change was made because of a conflict with the city council, which will meet Tuesday to install new councilmen.

Parent Education Class Offered

An adult education class in "Parent Effectiveness Training," designed to help parents better communicate with their children, will start at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Redwood High School in Larkspur.

Sessions will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 Mondays through May 25, and then a final session on May 27 in Room 275 at the school.

Enrollment is limited to 20 adults and a registration fee is charged.

Panel Backs Dismissal Of Custodian

Dismissal of a custodian was upheld last night by the Larkspur School District board. Supt. Milton S. Cohen said the custodian was fired for "conduct unbecoming an employee in the public service," but declined to give his name because an appeal hearing before the board is tentatively set for May 13.

The board agreed to let school playgrounds be used for the city of Larkspur's summer recreation program, stipulating that the city provide insurance and all materials be checked out by school principals. Playgrounds at San Clemente, Henry C. Hall and Larkspur-Corte Madera schools will be used.

In another preliminary budget study, the board agreed that the present override tax for seventh and eighth grade costs will be continued, Cohen reported.

The Larkspur School District board also:

BUSSING—Decided against providing requested bussing in Madrone Canyon on recommendation of the California Highway Patrol and Patchett's Bus and Transportation Co., both pointing out that grades on the roads exceed 12 per cent.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations of Louise Victor, second grade teacher at Neil Cummins School, and Genevieve Underwood, accounts clerk in the district office.

OPEN HOUSE—Announced all district schools will hold open house from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Wednesday to observe Public Schools Week.

NEGOTIATIONS—Went into closed session to instruct the negotiating panel on teacher salary negotiations.

Trustees Fail To Pick Leader

Trustees of the Bolinas-Stinson School District failed to choose a new superintendent last night, according to Supt. Clarence B. Larison.

Larison said the board agreed to contact two men, whose names were not released, interviewed by trustees earlier, and see if they art still available.

Last night's meeting was called after John A. O'Shea, principal of a Yuba City elementary school, who was hired for the superintendent's job in late March decided this week not to take the job.

The board agreed to continue the meeting until today at 8 p.m. in Bolinas school.

The new superintendent will replace Larison who has resigned effective July 1.

SOFT TOUCH KNITS FOR SPRING

The string colored knit outfit by Glendora, left, has a flippy skirt and a long, lean cardigan jacket with placed patch pockets. The fabric is an open airy knit that sheds sitting wrinkles and is machine washable and dryable. Warm weather knits stroll on the beach, center. Both are ribbed knits that won't crush or crease and are also machine washable and dryable. Left, a long, pulled-down cardigan jacket tops a swingy pleated skirt, and, right, a body-skimming top with fluted sleeves is worn over long, lean pants that have a slight flare at the ankle. Both are by California Holiday. The open see through knit, right, looks particularly feminine in a cage of white crochet by Bobbie Brooks. It is slightly flared with two tiny pockets and a long, fringed scarf.

Friedan Warns Radicals

Marin Women

By BARBARA HOSMER

An evasion of real political action to liberate women from second class status can come in the name of radical action, Betty Friedan warned last week.

Speaking at Mills College, the founder of the National Organization for Women said that "pseudo-radical talk" about women cleansing themselves of sex, making themselves unattractive and refusing to have babies simply allows the media to "make a joke of the whole thing."

"It's easier to laugh than to use mace or tear gas to keep women down," Mrs. Frieden said. "The trap is that the whole movement then is taken as a joke.

Often considered a moderate "reformer" by the more radical element of the women's liberation movement, Mrs. Friedan views some of the radical rhetoric as a cop-out that could subvert the move for real change in women's lives. Yet she defends all women's lib experiments.

"The serious responsibility is to get on with the real issues," she said. "Any revolution must deal with the reality—biological, social, human and psychological reality. The fact is that women give birth to babies. It is the right of women to control their own biological life. Talk about test-tube babies is a cop-out. The fact is that men and women have a real need to have children.

"It's easy to sell this pseudo-radical cop-out to 17 or 18 year old girls who haven't had enough reality yet to know they won't be able to live this," Mrs. Freidan stated, bringing groans from the college audience. "Then she wakes up at 25 either lonely, married or living with an establishment executive or a resistance leader and she's still stuck with the diapers. The reality is that she hasn't done much with her own life. It is immoral for a girl to give up her own education and life-preparation to do his thing," she said.

"When I talk about this to the young radical man, he says, 'leave my chick alone'."

"Other radicals in the movement say, cleanse yourself of sex—but why? Women should be choosers, not objects, but it is a distortion of human nature to deny sexual nature, and leads to forms of sterility," Mrs. Friedan emphasized.

A few liberationists say women should make themselves ugly to be good revolutionaries—But why? she asked.

"Of course women should not be (Playboy) 'bunnies' or destroy their dignity through extreme designer's fashions, but part of the joy in one's appearance is simple self-approbation.

"Once a person feels affirmative as a person, she feels affirmative as a body," said the graying mother of three.

Another "cop-out" of radical women she pointed out is holding the "rap session" rather than taking action:

"They say they don't want to be in the ratrace like men are. They say they will refuse to do anything that men do because women are superior. The difference in style in the women's liberation movement is good. We are all a sisterhood. It's all great that's happening," she said of the more radical elements. "But isn't this just a rationale of our own fear of competing—risking ourselves—of confronting the question?"

She said that separatism of the sexes is not the answer—it's a cop-out from reality.

There are traps, too, in denying that economic changes are needed for women to be able to earn their own way in today's world, she said.

"Some radical women say about jobs, 'who wants to be president of General Motors?' The question is should there be a General Motors.

"If you believe you will have an affluent husband to support you, can you evade the economic question? This revolution has to be for all women. Everything in this country costs money and women will need to earn a living and will need the skills and education to do it. This is true whether the action comes through the establishment or by restructuring the establishment."

Mrs. Friedan said she welcomes all the experiments, even the mistakes, done on the fringes and all fronts of women's liberation that "help us recognize where the action must be."

"Communes are interesting experiments to create a wider human community than is the isolated nuclear family unit of today, she said. "But it hurts me to see the 'Earth Mother' role in them, with the women in the hut while the men sit and smoke and discuss the big questions. . .What about 10 years from now? What about the Earth Mother then? Young male radicals have been very bad about women's role." Yet she praised the long-haired fellows who do not fear to be gentle and admit their own fears as freed from the male stereotype.

She said that they want to keep everything the same until the Apocalypse—the overthrow of society—and then all will be well and women will be suddenly equal.

"I don't believe it. Our revolution can't wait. And it will help to restructure the institutions that need it."

There is no guarantee that equality will come, she said, and "I will not accept anything less for black women than for myself."

Action is needed to confront the institutions that keep women oppressed, she said. "Actions that can kindle and spread the consciousness."

Ann Landers Opposes Some Aims Of Women's Liberation

BOSTON (UPI)—Columnist Ann Landers opposes some of the aims of women liberation groups which are trying to invade all the male domain.

Miss Landers, in a speech Friday at the Laboratory of Community Psychiatry at the Harvard Medical School, said she did not feel that women "who are fighting for liberation are on solid ground when they try to bust into everything that is male and demand they be accepted.

What the women accomplish, she said, "is they turn a lot of men off and make them anti-female."

Such women, "want to drink at bars, they drive buses, they want to be jockeys and do all the things men do. They want these privileges, but they also want to be treated like women," she said.

"She added there were some places "women just should not be," and said they should not complain about being treated unfairly.

But Miss Landers said a woman should be treated equally with a man as far as compensation for doing the same work.

"She should be paid according to her ability and sex should not be a consideration," the columnist said. "Women should be paid according to what they can produce."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Remember When Hippie Meant Big Hips And Trip Involved Travel

DEAR HELEN:

Great minds—or something.

On the day I read your column about the slang of the Sixties, I found the following in the Syracuse Post-Standard. — MAYBELLE

REMEMBER?

Remember when hippie meant big in the hips,

And trip involved travel in cars, planes and ships?

When pot was a vessel for cooking things in,

And hooked was what grandmother's rug may have been?

When fix was a verb that meant mend or repair,

And to "be in" simply meant being somewhere?

When neat meant well-organized, tidy and clean,

And grass was a ground cover, normally green?

When the lights and not people were switched on and off,

And the Pill might have been what you took for a cough?

When groovy meant furrowed with channels and hollows,

And birds were winged creatures like robins and swallows?

When fuzz was a substance fluffy like lint,

And bread came from bakeries, not from the mint?

When a roll was a bun and rock was a stone,

And hang-up was something you did with the phone?

When chicken meant poultry, and bag meant a sack,

And junk, trashy cast-offs and old brick-a-brac?

When a cat was a feline, a kitten grown up,

And tea was a liquid you drank from a cup?

When swinger was someone who swung in a swing,

And a pad was a sort of cushiony thing?

When way-out meant something was far, far away,

And a man couldn't due you for calling him gay?

Words once so sensible, sober and serious

Now make the freakout with psyche-delirious.

It's groovy, man, groovy, but English it's not,

Methinks that the language has sure gone to pot!

— AUTHOR UNKNOWN

NOTE FROM H:

Whoever you are, dear Author Unknown,

Thanks a big bunch for the use of your "powm."

If you'll send in your name, I'll give you a puff,

Meanwhile, don't sue me for using your stuff! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Recently my boy friend was put in jail for having a gun and breaking his parole. He tried another hold-up.

Should I wait for him? I love him very much and know it would be wrong not to be true, but maybe he'll be gone for a long time. He writes me that he still loves me.

Should I just sit and wait? — U.W.

DEAR U:

If this fellow loved you, he would have gone straight for your sake. I think he said good-bye when he picked up that gun and broke parole.

Don't waste your life waiting. — H.

Solution Is Usually From Inside

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—A disturbed person who seeks counseling on an emotional problem of his own or a member of his family usually has a solution within himself.

That's the conclusion reached by Romaine Edwards, executive director of the Pasadena Mental Health Clinic, on the basis of practical experience.

Mrs. Edwards is an advocate of the A-B-C method of "crisis management" as formulated by Dr. Warren L. Jones, a Pasadena psychiatrist.

She directs a staff of volunteers who answer calls for help and also instructs volunteers of other organizations such as the Alcoholism Council of Greater Los Angeles on methods of helping others survive in a crisis.

The favored crisis management method is:

—A—Achieve contact with the caller or client; try to get the name, some personal information such as occupation and income bracket, all of which help to establish rapport.

—B—Boil down the problem to its essentials by asking the subject what happened most recently to prompt him to call; is there an immediate crisis; how does he see the problem—as a physical, mental or interpersonal one?

—C—Cope with the problem actively through an inventory of the person's ingenuity and resources and refer him to what seems like the best method of solution.

Mrs. Edwards stresses that the volunteer counselor should listen carefully and not try to give advice but rather to draw out the disturbed person.

"The counselor must try to get empathy going," she said. "Get warmth into your voice. Ask what methods of solution have been tried if the problem arose in the past. If a recommended solution did not work, why did it not work? What does the person think your agency can do? How does he feel you can help?"

If the caller says he has tried everything (which is usually not true) then make this suggestion:

"Suppose you had a friend with a similar problem", said Mrs. Edwards. "What would you advise? What would you tell him to do?

"Suppose the person comes up with four possible solutions. Tell him to pick the one best."

The method goes along with the theory that many counselors have—a person in distress is not really looking for advice and is sometimes merely looking for confirmation of a solution he has already chosen.

ON BEING BLACK

Strong Influence Of Peer Group In Black Community

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"All right, Rufus, would you go on with the next paragraph, please" The eighth grade teacher nodded to the person next in line for the oral reading session.

Rufus stared hard at his book. He even knew which paragraph was next. In fact, he had counted the readers before him and the corresponding paragraphs so he could practice silently before his turn came. Dog! Why'd he have to get such hard words? Butch, who was seated in front of him, had got away clean with nothing but and's and the's. Made it through his paragraph with only one mistake. Dog!

Butch, who was seated in front of him, had only one mistake. Dog! If only Barbara Jean wasn't in this class.

He said nothing.

Carol Ann and Tina Lou began giggling in the back of the room.

"Aw shut up!" Rufus whirled around and glared at them.

"That will do," said Mrs. Jones, cautioning the girls in the back of the room to be quiet. "Go on, please, Rufus."

Barbara Jean wasn't laughing, but she sure was watching.

"I don't wanna read," Rufus said, closing his book with a bang.

Now even the boys were beginning to snicker.

Rising to his feet, Rufus clumsily, but accidentally, knocked over his desk.

"Rufus. . ." began Mrs. Jones.

"I'M GOIN', I'm goin'. . .you don't have to tell me." His body swaggered but his voice sounded resigned.

Banging the door shut, Rufus headed for the principal's office. He didn't really mind the fellas laughing at him, 'cause they weren't very 'swift' themselves. But those girls thought they were so smart. Actually, it just wasn't cool to have girls laughing at you. It would be all over the neighborhood by the time he got home from school. And, there was Barbara Jean. . .

Adolescence is unquestionably a difficult time for all youngsters and peer group influences are strong for all races and all classes. But the peer group influences are particularly powerful in the black community, where many parents (those on the scene at all) must work long hours or simply have given up on trying to control their children. With minimal adult supervision and influence, the power of the young peer group becomes vital in all areas of endeavor, often persisting through adulthood.

Which brings us to one of the possible reasons "Rufus can't read." He cannot and will not attempt to compete with the girls his age who, due to male-female developmental differences, have a physical and mental "jump" on him. He cannot and will not chance appearing stupid in front of his peers.

A possible solution in predominantly black schools would simply be to separate the boys and the girls for such academic courses as reading and math. This has been experimented within some schools but is not standard practice.

THE MAJOR argument against such practices comes from those educators who feel that boys and girls need the socialization process which occurs when they are in the same classroom.

This, of course, is true. But could they not receive coeducational socialization a portion of the day (say, in music and art) as opposed to all day?

It appears to be a matter of immediate priorities. In our schools we need academic achievement. And, if coeducation stymies this goal in any way, it needs to be re-examined.

Not only that, in the black community, coeducational socializing, on a very effective scale, takes place in the streets. Think what a big man Rufus will be when he can read—that is, compete adequately with the society at large—and have the respect of Barbara Jean.

MRS. EMILE PATRICK

Fall Wedding Is Planned

A Sept. 12 wedding in the Church of the Epiphany in Vacaville is planned by Mary Margaret Saltsman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Saltsman of Vacaville and Hugh N. Cook III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh N. Cook Jr. of Petaluma.

A graduate of Vacaville Union High School, the bride-elect is the sister of John, Martha and James Saltsman and Mrs. Catherine Boykin.

Her local grandmother is Mrs. Roy S. McCrimmon of Vacaville. Mary is employed in the regional administration office of a Santa Rosa bank.

Hugh, a graduate of Petaluma High School, is employed as a plasterer.

Long Range Dates

WASHINGTON (UPI) —If you're a long-range planner, go ahead and plan all the way to the year 2,050. The telephone directory in the nation's capital devotes a full page to a bunch of tables, enabling one to match dates with days of the month to the year 2,050. Somebody at the phone company, at least, figures the world's safe for a while.

A CEREMONY at Deer Park Villa restaurant in Fairfax united in marriage Kathleen Marie Boomer and Richard Thomas Born. The bride's parents are Mrs. Robert J. Division of Larkspur and the late William Henry Boomer, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence George Born of Novato.

Cynthia Ward To Be Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Roth of Petaluma have announced the engagement of Mrs. Roth's daughter, Cynthia Ann Ward, to Richard Hayden Crane, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Crane of Santa Rosa.

A graduate of Petaluma High School, the bride-elect is attending Santa Rosa Junior College.

Richard, a graduate of Santa Rosa High School, is associated with his father in the agricultural business.

Glass Table Rim

Do you have an indoor or outdoor glass-topped dining table? If the top lifts off, don't overlook sudsing off the table rim that support the glass. Spilled liquids and food particles can build up into a gummy mess which needs to be washed away.

'Wives Can Crucify Their Husbands Chances Abroad'

New York (UPI)—The wife of an American engineer in an important post in Europe sat on the dais in an engineering society meeting and proclaimed loudly how much she disliked Europe. Within 60 days, her husband was demoted to a job in Kansas City.

The teen-age son of an American executive called his father "a dope" in front of several German businessmen. The resulting silence, was almost deafening. In order to save dad's job and face, the son had to be sent off to an expensive Swiss school at once.

Such incidents point up the observed fact that "wife failure" and "children failure" cause more trouble to American companies abroad than executive failure.

"Wives can crucify their husbands by inability to adapt to foreign surroundings," says George Baan, international director of Handy Associates, an executive search firm.

"Too many wives expect to find glamor in a foreign post and react badly when it fails to materialize," said William H. Clark, head of William H. Clark Associates.

"They can't adapt to inconvenient shopping—no supermarkets—or the language barrier," Clark said. "Wife failure is particularly likely if the foreign post is in a provincial area or one of the underdeveloped countries. Paris or London will be easier to adapt to."

Baan said he has learned from experience that the wife and the children must be studied carefully but "casually" before making a final recommendation for a foreign appointment.

Both Baan and Clark commended the techniques developed by Mobil Oil Corp., International Business Machines Corp. and a few other big companies in studying the family relationships of an executive before sending him abroad.

William Alexander Jr., of Mobil's international division, said his firm has developed a four-hour interview with husband and wife to determine if the couple will get along as well with each other and with other people in a foreign environment as they do in the United States.

Alexander said the couple's relationships to each other is potentially more important than their attitudes towards other people in reaching a decision about sending them abroad.

A couple that is happy in the domestic environment may be unhappy and even drift apart in a foreign environment. This, of course, would ruin the man's job performance.

In his four-hour interview, Alexander usually has to break some bad news to the wife. Considering the nature of the oil business, she may learn for the first time that her husband will have to make regular trips away from home without her.

Book Depository Sold To JFK Memorabilia Collector

DALLAS (UPI)—The Texas School Book Depository, that infamous red brick building from which President John F. Kennedy was gunned down in 1963, was sold at public auction Thursday.

Aubrey Mayhew, 42, of Nashville, Tenn., who claims he owns the largest collection of Kennedy memorabilia in the world, bought the building for $650,000. Asked what his plans were for the building, Mayhew replied, "none." Asked why he bought it, Mayhew said, "it was cheap."

There was more to it than that, of course, and it all came out at a press conference after Mayhew signed the contract and put up the $65,000 deposit. Prior to that Mayhew refused to answer questions because newsmen were "too disorderly" to suit him.

Mayhew said he became interested in preserving Kennedy memorabilia about six months after the assassination because, as he put it, "history was being made and I wanted to preserve some of it."

With the aid of a partner, whom he refused to name, Mayhew established the John F. Kennedy Memorial Center in Nashville. He said the center would remain in Nashville despite his purchase of the depository.

The present owner of the building, Col. D. Harold Byrd, reportedly had been offered $1.5 million for the 67-year-old structure.

THREEPENNY OPERA—Pam Crane has the role of Jenny, Dan Niblock (standing) plays Tiger Brown, and Jim Nichols is Filch in Sir Francis Drake High School's production of the Kurt Weill and Bertolt Brecht musical "Threepenny Opera" set in the 1920s. Performances will begin at 8:15 today, tomorrow and next Friday and Saturday. (Independent-Journal photo.)

'Threepenny Opera' Will Bow Tonight

Sir Francis Drake High School's production of the Weill-Brecht "Threepenny Opera" will open tonight in conjunction with the school's fine arts festival.

The production, which will begin at 8:15 today, tomorrow, and next Friday and Saturday in the school's little theater, will include breaks in the story in which the young actors will speak to the audience and relate the appeals of 1928 Berlin to 1970 Marin.

Among the cast will be Joel Blum, a senior, as Macheath; Pam Crane, a senior, as Jenny; Cynthia Farina, a sophomore, as Lucy Brown, and Risa Skerpan, a junior, and Susan Most, a senior, sharing the role of Polly Peachum.

In addition to the musical in the little theater, the fine arts festival will feature exhibits of the work of students in the fields of jewelry, painting, photography and ceramics.

The exhibits, all in the fine arts building, will be open from 7 p.m. until curtain time each of the four evenings, and from 2 to 5 p.m. tomorrow and next Saturday when live music and refreshments will be provided.

Orchestra Da Camera To Present Concert On Sunday

Four young musicians will be soloists in a free public concert to be presented by the Orchestra da Camera at 8 p.m. Sunday in Alumnae Hall on the San Domenico school campus in Sleepy Hollow.

Organized by the San Domenico music department headed by Faith France and guest conducted by Hugo Rinaldi, director of music for San Rafael schools, the orchestra is composed of faculty members and students at San Domencio and some Marin professional and nonprofessional musicians.

Soloists, all of whom have won many musical honors, will be pianists Joan Franzini, Joanne Gaizutis and Michael Mello and cellist Jan Gauder.

Highlight of the program will be the Concerto in C Major for Two Pianos by J. S. Bach performed by Joan Franzini and Michael Mello. They have been chosen to play this work at the Junior Bach Festival on April 25 in Hertz Memorial Hall at the University of California.

Joanne Gaizutis will play Copland's "Quiet City" and the Greig Concerto in A Minor for Piano.

Jan Gauder will perform the Concerto Do Minore for Cello by Antonio Vivaldi.

The music for this concert is provided through the cooperation of Local 6 of the American Federation of Musicians AFL-CIO.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and from Parents Magazine. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY:

"Goodbye, Mr. Chips" — Beautifully stages musical version of James Hilton's novel about a lonely schoolmaster who falls in love with a music hall star and her influence on the students and the professor.

"Oliver" —Great, big, overlong musical made from the show, which was made from the Dickens' classic. Delightful version, although there are some scary moments for very young children.

ADULTS AND TEENS:

"Anne of the 1000 Days" — Magnificently staged and cast, historical drama of lust and political intrigue which encompasses the courtship, marriage, trial and beheading of Anne Boleyn. An elegant pageant presented with new perspective.

"Cactus Flower" — Middle-aged playboy dentist drafts his nurse to masquerade as his estranged wife and rescue him from a complicated situation with his current mistress.

BORDERLINE:
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Alice's Restaurant" — Thought provoking, true story. Folksinger Arlo Guthrie describes a commune that welcomes the wandering hippies who sing, dance, make love and smoke pot in an uncommitted life that is both sad and funny. Some of the language and actions are in poor taste.

"Frankenstein's Daughter" — Ponderous crudely executed chapter in this series has only one claim to originality, the sex of the monster. Wooden subhuman mediocrity.

"John and Mary" — A story that starts with sex and ends with the awakening of love. Amusing, poignant film, extremely well performed. Always-present nude scene is prominent.

"Long Ride from Hell" — Only surviving member of a family, all who have been murdered, sets out to even the score. Brutality and blood and a weak plot plus low level of acting make for a poor picture.

"They Shoot Horses Don't They?" — Dance marathons of depression years are vividly recreated in this powerful unusual drama in a study of humanity that is symbolic of life's struggles. Ending is macabre and shocking.

ADULTS ONLY:

"Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice" — An irreverent social satire, slick in its trimmings, has a sharp bite in its characters, dialogue and frank appraisal of modern marriage and morals.

"Hard Contract" — A professional assassin who murders and makes love with equal heartless detachment, falls in love. Some provacative discussions about good and evil, life and death. Nudity, explicit sex and murder are wrapped in glamour and casually presented.

"MASH" — Title stands for Mobile Army Surgical Hospital. Antiwar film deals with three Army surgeons who have developed an outlandished life style in order to survive the gore and horror that they live through. Scenes are grusome as they are funny. Bittersweet element of truth in action and dialogue. Strong stomach is recommended.

"Midnight Cowboy" — Offbeat, hardhitting story of a male prostitute and a crippled hustler who meet in New York. Sordidness is tempered by skill and compassion, told in an uncompromising, way.

"Putney Swope" — Devastating satire about an agency taken over by militant blacks led by Putney Swope. After promising opening, humor sinks to tasteless level as foul language and nudity are substituted for wit.

"Zabriskie Point" — Director of this film makes a vague, confused statement on what is bugging our youth on American culture. Story filled with symbolic metaphors, especially during a sexual encounter in the barren, dusty desert.

Youth Admits To Weed Charge

David Darrell Chappelle, 19, of San Rafael has pleaded guilty to a reduced misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana Feb. 25 when arrested on a balcony outside the Hall of Justice.

He had originally been charged with a felony count of the same offense.

Judge Hadden W. Roth on Wednesday set sentencing for May 29.

Chappelle was stopped by a Marin Drug Abuse Bureau inspector who asked the youth what he was doing outside his office. The inspector said the youth placed a lid of marijuana on a table behind him when the officer started to search him.

ART REVIEW

Sister Joanne's Woodcuts Explore The Human Feeling

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The viewpoints in the two media are so different that discussing Sister M. Joanne's woodcut and watercolor show through April 24 at Dominican College's San Marco Gallery is almost like dealing with two shows.

In her dark, religious woodcuts, the Dominican College art instructor explores the deep, often tormented aspects of human feeling. Her watercolors are a warm personal response to the gentle gifts of nature.

In direct terms or not, Sister Joanne's woodcuts suggest painful messages. Where they lack the actual agony of "I Have Loved You," in which Christ's body has just been lifted from the cross or of "My Soul iIs Ready To Die With Sorrow," in which crumbling souls bend behind the main, self-offering figure—they often portend the same.

In "I Have Called You A Friend," all the gestures and body attitudes during the washing of Christ's feet are chillingly relaxed and trusting. And there is a tight quality in all the prints which goes beyond the natural forcefulness of the technique and which suggests even more powerful feelings.

To the same degree, Sister Joanne's watercolors are loose, soft and fragile. The stiffness of mountain brush and the hardness of stone haze in a moist, gray-green diagonal flow to suggest the contour and substance of a canyon.

"Tulip Trees in Autumn" are a fusion of fall colors warmed by an indirect glow. While "Autumn Light" shows dark wet branches reaching up through blurring gold toward the hard steel of a growing colder sky.

Sister Joanne has great control of the watercolor medium, particularly in a spring scene, its tree bursting white with the season and spattering the fence and cool green grasses below with shattered shadow.

Oddly, the show's one oil, a medium which unlike difficult transparent watercolor can be constantly corrected by overpainting, is the one very awkward and badly painted piece in the show. The sea, sky, sand and rocks in this beach scene are all alienated from the place and from each other. And it is unfortunate that Sister Joanne elected to include it at the risk of diminishing the importance of other work at which she is more skillful.

Band Concert Sunday At Tam High

A free public concert of the Tamalpais High School Band directed by Robert J. Greenwood will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday in Ruby Scott Auditorium at the school.

Heralding World Earth Day Wednesday the program will include selections by composers of eight nationalities.

Works to be performed are "The Thunderer" march, Sousa; three movements from "Les Biches," Poulenc; "Berceuse and Finale," Stravinsky; "Minuet and Dance of the Spirits" featuring four flute soloists, Gluck; "Romanza," Mozart with Kevin Omi as horn soloist; Toccata, Fescobaldi; suite from "Bohemia", Nelhybel; and "Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral," Wagner.

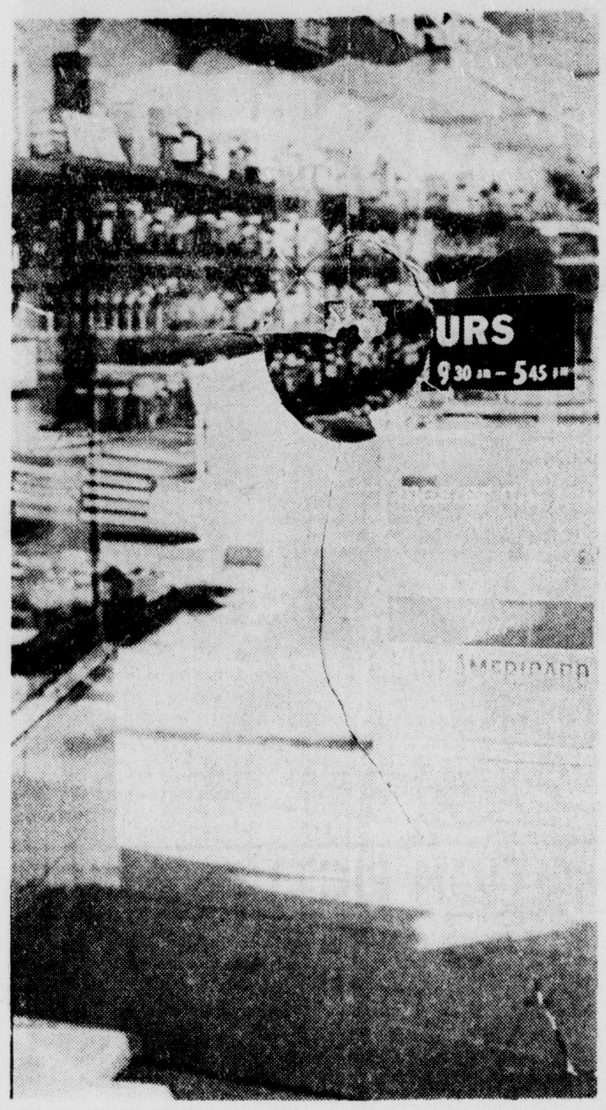
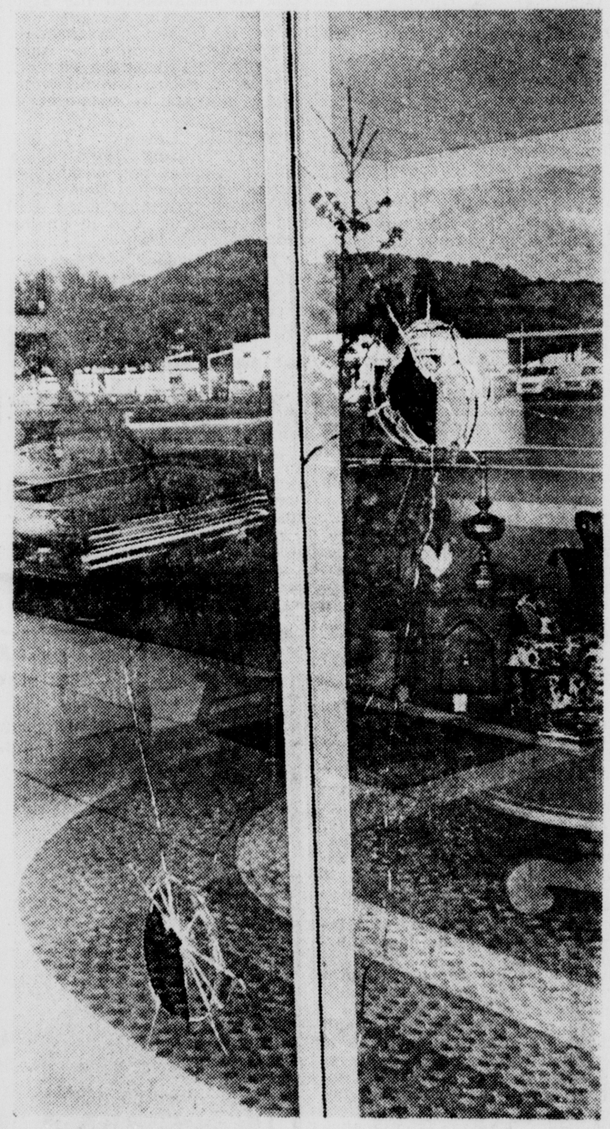
Vandalism Continues In Wake Of Strike

TARGET IN NOVATO—Damage to Independent-Journal property, which has been underway since San Francisco Typographical Union 21 struck the newspaper Jan. 7, extended to the Novato Bureau at 1535 Grant Avenue Monday night when the identification sign outside the building was pierced by an object. Nearly every window at the main plant in San Rafael was broken by rocks, steel nuts and picket signs during a demonstration just two months before, on Valentine's Day. The Novato office has also had its front window broken by metal apparently fired by slingshot.

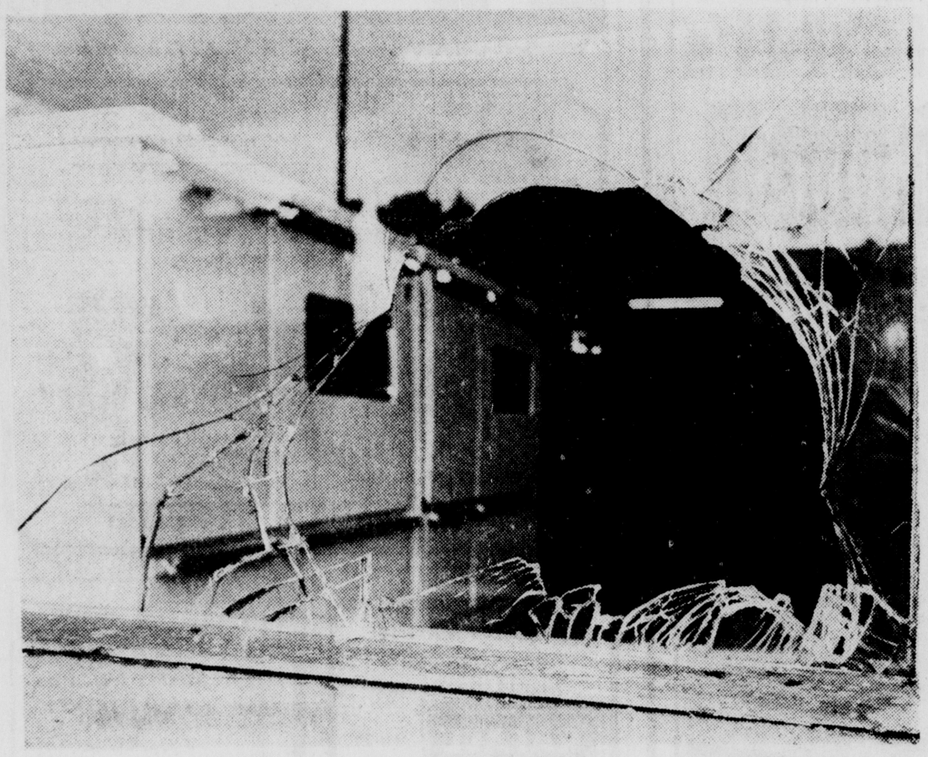


DOOR SMASHED—A metal nut crashed through a glass front door of San Rafatel Health and Dietary Foods, 1132 Fourth Street, San Rafael, Monday night. Owner Howard D. Embury told San Rafael police he had been threatened by the typographical union because he was advertising in the I-J.

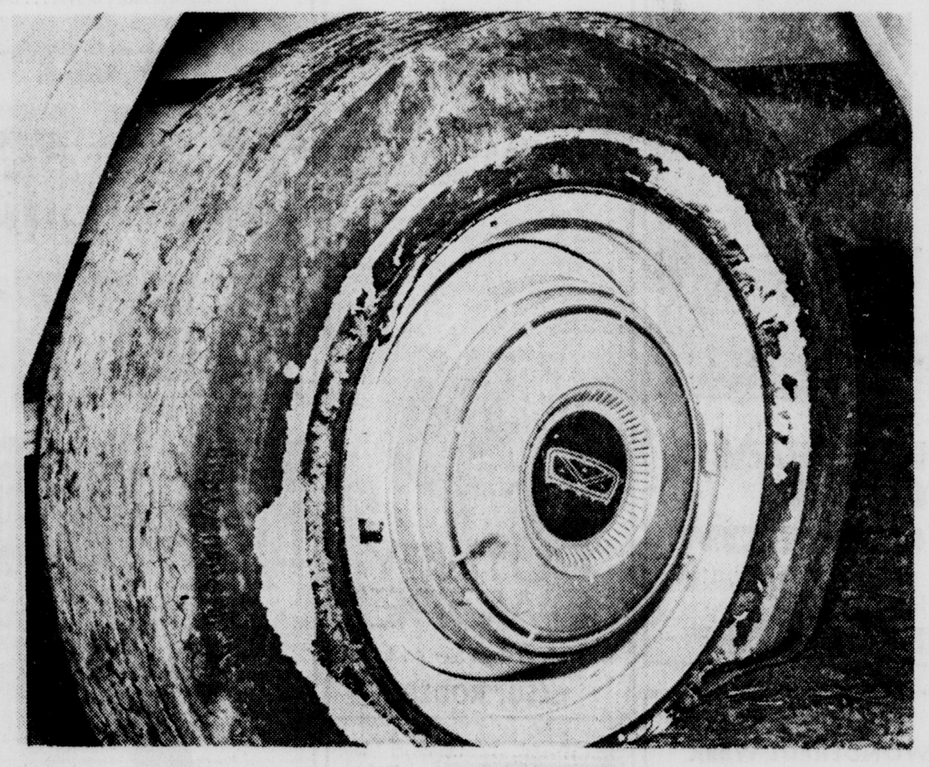
REPORTER'S CAR SMASHED—The shattered windshield, left above, is part of the damage caused to the car of Wat Takeshita, an I-J reporter in the early morning of April 4 while it was parked outside his San Rafael apartment, in the center of a row of about 10 cars in the tenant parking area. The back window, right above, was smashed as well as the window on the driver's side and four tires were slashed, apparently with a knife. Overall damage was $350. It was the latest in a series of attacks on I-J employees' cars since the strike began.



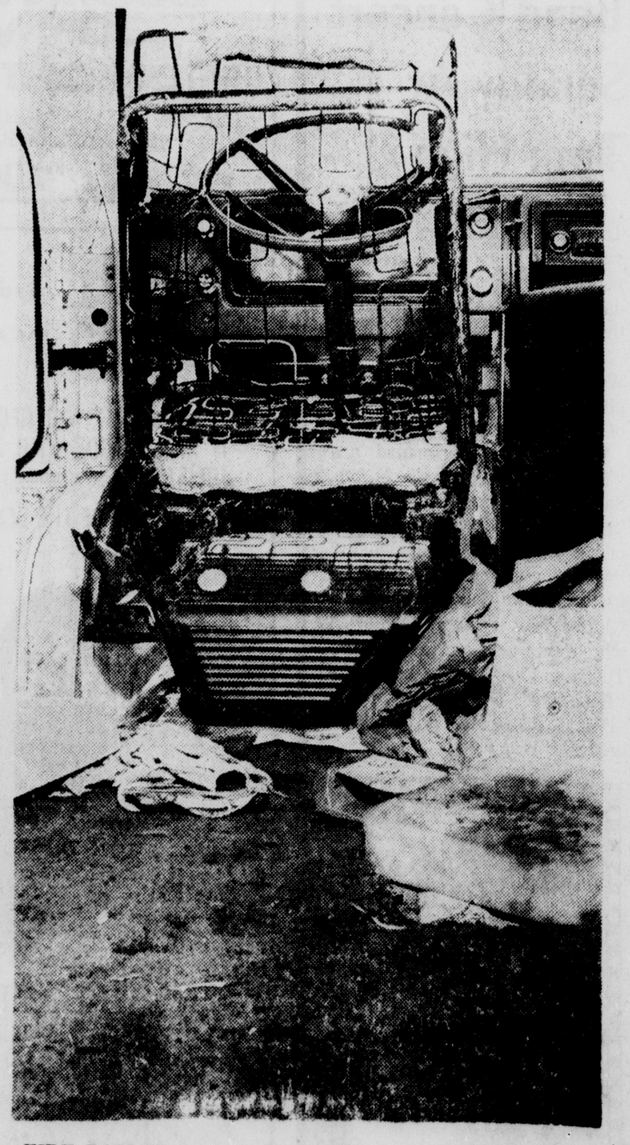
WINDOWS PIERCED—Pieces of metal pierced five holes in four windows at Johnson's Red Barn, 7388 Redwood Highway in Novato, Monday night as vandals struck in three cities, Novato, San Rafael and Petaluma.

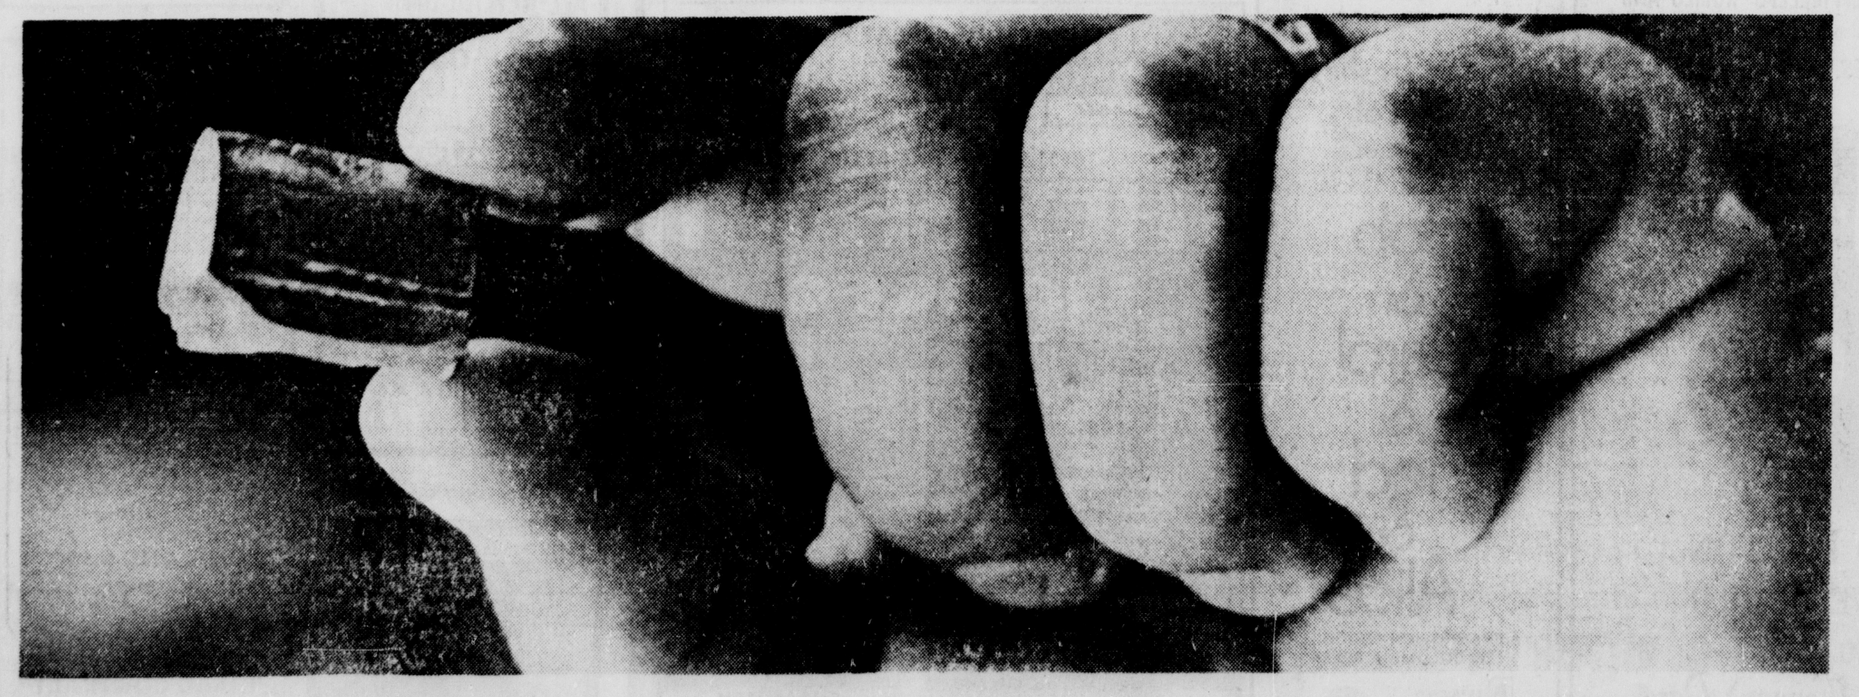


STORES HIT—A one-inch pipe was used Monday night to smash the front window at Martin and Harris Appliance Service, 1604 Fourth Street, San Rafael, in another of a long series of attacks against stores in Marin which have been underway since early February.



TIRES SLASHED—Vandals broke several windows, slashed two tires and set fire April 4 to a truck owned by the American Sentry System of 1299 Fourth Street after operator of the alarm system firm had received a call asking him to stop advertising in the Independent-Journal.





ONE OF THE WEAPONS—A Novato police officer holds a piece of lead used Monday night when five windows were broken at Johnson's Red Barn, 7388 Redwood Highway, with the loss estimated at $1,200. The same night windows were smashed at three business firms in Marin and one in Petaluma. Metal bolts and nuts as well as pieces of lead have been the weapons used in attacks on stores.

FIRE DAMAGE—Vandals are suspected to arson April 4 when a fire was set in a truck owned by American Sentry Systems of San Rafael with flames damaging the driver's seat and scorching the flooring. (Independent-Journal photos)

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Mill Valley Redwood Restaurant Spot Changes Hands And Menu

There are new owners at the Redwood Restaurant in downtown Mill Valley.

Lou Gorman, who has operated here for several years, has sold out to Miss Joeen M. Arnone of Greenbrae and Robert W. Dean and Leon B. Alvey of San Rafael, who took over the place on Wednesday. They have not been in the rerstauant business before, but all three are experienced cooks.

Plans now are to continue the same hours from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., serving breakfast, lunch and dinner as before. They will feature at least one hot special entree for lunch, specialize in Mexican food for dinners and go all out on Sunday brunches.

In due time the restaurant will be remodeled and redecorated. Counter and booths will be removed and tables will be substituted—very likely without interruption in service.

Lou, who has had little time for himself over the past few years, will take an extensive vacation before going into business again.

SMORGASBORD is quite a featurer at Cloud 5 in Novato these days. At lunchtime three are at least four or five hot items and any number of salads and cold dishes for the taking. Price for this on an "all you can eat" basis is $1.50.

At night the smorgasbord is included in the complete dinner. And when you come to look over the menu you'll notice it now includes steak and lobster combination at $5.50 (for the complete dinner including the smorgasbord). This is a big favorite.

In August, Chris Bolton plans to close the dining room for about four weeks and fly to Germany for a vacation—taking her crew with her. Look for some interesting menu developments at Cloud 5 this September or during the fall and most likely an increase in the number of German dishes. The bar at Cloud 5 will remain open during the August vacation period.

MOST OF THE ITALIAN RESTAURANTS in this country are usually obliged to compromise with American tastes.

Unless you have an Italian heritage and have an acquaintance with classic dishes from that country which were served at home, the odds are that you are not likely to do much exploring on your own.

Sal Iachino, who owns Romulus on downtown Fourth Street, San Rafael, tells me he has tried a number of items which are favorites in Italy and they have not seemed to go over. Not recognizing the names, people simply don't order them.

One of the exceptions is Sal's veal saltimbocca a la Romana. This is served flat—not rolled as you will find in many restaurants. Apparently it was popular with the Italian kings and there are weekends when Sal will sell over 100 orders.

At Romulus Mondays through Thursdays, Sal has added a different dinner special for each night. It may be scallopini or cross rib or some other, but the price is usually around $3.95 for the complete dinner—and that includes a glass of wine with the meal. There are also mahi mahi on Fridays and prime ribs on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Romulus lunches are served through the week up to 4 p.m. True, at that hour there aren't many people in the restaurant—but if you are a late luncheoner (or an early diner) you can be assured of a full meal.

There are also several daily specials on the lunches. Cannelloni with white cream sauce is a Tuesday offering at $1.50. On Thursday look for corned beef and cabbage (not exactly Italian—but as I said, you have to compromise). There are two Friday lunch specials—filet of sole and the eggplant parmigiana.

MONDAY NIGHT and you believe most restaurants are closed then—so where to go for dinner? There are more places open on Mondays than you realize. Here are some of them:

In San Rafael you'll find service at Anjo's, Bernard's Executive Lounge, Cal's Steak House, Eugene's Country Club Restaurant, The Galley, Gold Nugget Specialty House, Hauf Brau House, Holiday Inn, International House of Pancakes, The Kettle, La Casa Restaurant, Lin Fa Gardens, Lyons Restaurant, San Rafael Joe's, Taberna, Travelers Inn and Villa Rafael Restaurant.

In Sausalito: Alta Mira Hotel, Bluefin Inn, The Boat House, The Deck House, Ondine, Patty's, Red Pants Restaurant, Rico's, Sausalito Inn, Seven Seas, The Spinnaker, The Vicarage and Zack's.

In Strawberry: All three—The Ancient Mariner, Kublai Khan and Original Hick'ry Pit. In Mill Valley: El Rebozo, Hi Ho Restaurant, La Ginestra, Redwood Restaurant and Sabella's.

In Tiburon: Arlfie's Footlight, The Dock, Sam's, Thirty-Nine Main, Tiburon Lodge and Tiburon Tommie's. In Corte Madera: Boitano's, Edgewater Inn Restaurant, Copper Penny (formerly Hyatt Coffee Shoppe), Marin Joe's and Paradise Coffee Shop.

You'll also find Lyon's Restaurant in Greenbrae; Jean's Kitchen in Ross and the Golden Palace, Juarez, London Arms, The Pepperwood and Senor Alfredo's open in San Anselmo. In West Marin there is service at Chez Madeleine and Silver Dollar Inn at Point Reyes Station; Gibson House and Tarantino's in Bolinas; and Elwood's at Stinson Beach.

In Northern Marin: Berkeley Farms Restaurant, Camillo's, Cloud 5, De Borba's, Copper Penny (formerly Hyatt), Sportsman's Lodge, Sizzler Steak House and Tower of Pizza.

SUNDAY BRUNCHES are a specialty of many Marin restaurants. Some of those who favor this business are: Dominic's and Le Chalet Basque in San Rafael; Alta Mira Hotel, The Boat House, The Spinnaker and Valhalla Inn in Sausalito: Sam's Anchor Cafe, Thirty-Nine Main and the Windjammer in Tiburon; Redwood Restaurant, Mill Valley; Blue Rock Inn, Larkspur. The Pepperwood, San Anselmo; and Sportsman's Lodge in Novato.

You'll also find such seven-day-a-week restaurants as Holiday Inn, Sabella's, Tiburon Lodge, The Dock and several others who open early on Sunday handling special breakfast and lunch.

PEOPLE COME FROM OVER the county to McKee's in San Rafael for lunch—from Novato, San Anselmo, Southern Marin and other places. More of them should go there for dinner.

Don Caseldine's new dinner specials are going over strong Tuesdays through Saturdays at $1.75—which includes soup and salad. These vary from day to day—roast beef, short ribs, beef burgundy, Swiss steak and baked chicken, along with the necessary extras.

Food is definitely high quality—which also goes for Don's cooking.

AT GATSBY'S in Sausalito, Jean Hoffman, Nat Johnson and Al Pimental are back from their vacation and playing Wednesday through Sunday nights. They have given themselves a new name—Heavy Duty.

Here on Sunday afternoons and Monday and Tuesday evenings are Nancy Brown and Lis Kindred who sing and play bass and guitar and are teamed with Rik Elsmit, also on guitar and vocals. They have piano and drums backup and a varied repertory. This young group goes under the same of Ripple.

Behr Promises To Remove Signs

Peter H. Behr, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, promised yesterday "to restore the beauty of our highways" by removing his campaign signs after the June 2 primary.

Behr's signs were criticized in a letter published in yesterday's Independent-Journal. The letter writer objected that the signs were contrary to Behr's stand as a conservationist.

Behr, in a statement today, said he regretted "that getting elected requires the use of roadside signs or billboards that blight the landscape."

He said that he would remove all his signs no later than June 4.

Chemical Blast Hurts Collegian

A 19-year-old College of Marin student was treated at Marin General Hospital Wednesday night for injuries suffered when a vial of chemicals he was mixing in the bedroom of his Terra Linda home exploded, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Steven R. Eskildsen of 638 Barbaree Lane suffered burns and blisters on his hands as well as internal bleeding in his ears, according to sheriff's deputies.

Officers said that Eskildsen was stirring a vial of lead nitrate and sodium azide with a metal screwdriver when the explosion occurred. There was some damage to the floor of his bedroom, also.

Jenner Rezoning Wins 4-1 Nod

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA—The Sonoma County Planning Commission conditionally approved yesterday by a 4-1 vote, rezoning of 1,000 acres on the Russian River near Jenner that is to be the site of a huge residential development.

Before giving consent, the commission said it would require a 20 per cent reduction in housing density and a "scenic design strip" that would protect natural views from Shoreline Highway.

Dissenting was Commissioner Carolyn Wolfe, who said she wanted to see what action the Legislature takes on an assembly bill that would create a coastline regulating agency.

The development, located on the south side of the river, is proposed by the Russian Harbor Corp., a sister company of Northern California Aggregates, which plans a controversial dredging operation lasting at least 10 years from the river mouth to a point 1.5 miles upstream.

Russian Harbor Corp. also holds options on an additional 6,900 acres on the north side of the river and plans ultimately to house 20,000 persons in the region.

As the planning commission began its hearing, the state Environmental Quality Study Council, a legislative advisory group, was winding up an all-day session at Santa Rosa High School on the effects of the two projects. More than 25 speakers testified for and against the corporation's plans, many of the opponents agreeing with Mrs. Wolfe that the projects should await legislative action on the coastline measure.

Participating was a co-author of the legislation, Assemblyman John Dunlap, D-Napa, who said the projects should properly be reviewed by a coastal control agency.

"The California Coast does not belong to just a few people, it belongs to all of us," he said.

Other opponents said the dredging would interfere with the coastal environmental balance.

However, Dr. David Joseph, executive officer of the North Coast Regional Water Quality Control Board, who served on a 1964 task ofrce that studied the Jenner projects, denied dredging would be detrimental to marine life and said it would enhance recreational use of the area.

The dredging would remove 29-acre Penny Island near the river mouth, and conservationists have claimed the island is a wildlife refuge. But a Novato zoologist, Philip H. Arend, who was hired by the proponents to study the island, said it is a wasteland and not worth saving.

"The island is of very little importance ecologically," he said, adding that Penny is choked with coyote brush and blackberry brambles and is in danger of eroding away.

The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors is scheduled to resume testimony into issuing a permit for the dredging May 5.

House-Sitter Arrested In Weed Case

A 29-year-old Fairfax man, who was house-sitting the residence of two friends arrested Tuesday on suspicion of setting up a mail order drug business, was himself arrested yesterday on suspicion of possessing marijuana.

After the arrest of Edward Nation Meyer and Tina Ann Hansen at Miss Hansen's residence at 200 Tamalpais Road, Fairfax, on Tuesday, William Paul Lipps, of 207 Tamalpais Road, agreed to stay at the Hansen home to protect the house.

When Fairfax police and a Marin narcotics agent returned to the home yesterday in connection with the Hansen case, they noticed Lipps acting strangely and a heavy odor of what appeared to be marijuana smoke in the house, James R. Orr, Fairfax chief of police, said today.

A search warrent was obtained, and officers returned to the house, where they found about seven ounces of marijuana. Lipps was held at Marin County jail to appear today in municipal court.

Alioto Team Acts On Defying Ban

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — San Francisco officials, in a legal end run around the state's tough new water pollution law, have issued sewer permits for $55 million in new construction that was barred by the state, it was learned yesterday.

The tidal wave of sewer permits came after San Francisco Superior Court Judge Carl H. Allen lifted the state's ban on new permits. The judge issued his series of orders on Monday, and city building department officials promptly telephoned every person who applied for, or expressed interest in a permit, to come to city hall immediately and get his sewer permit.

Judge Allen set a hearing on his orders for April 27, but indicated he would continue the thaw until the case is settled.

But a legal crunch between the state and city was due late today in Judge Allen's court, with Deputy Atty. Gen. Harold Teasdale and Mayor Joseph L. Alioto due to argue the state's plea that the judge renew the ban, imposed last month.

Teasdale warned that the city's issuance of the permits may get the developers in even more trouble. He told newsmen that if the state won the suit filed against it by San Francisco, then the state will disconnect any sewer connections permitted by the city under the judge's orders.

Alioto, in an interview with the Independent-Journal, said there was "nothing unusual" about issuing sewer permits before building permits had been issued.

He also insisted there was nothing exceptional about issuing sewer permits before plans even cleared the city planning commission.

One of the permits issued, on Tuesday, was for a $24.5 million hotel in the Embarcadero Center — despite the fact that plans for the hotel itself were approved only yesterday by the planning commission.

Alioto also said there was nothing unusual about issuing $55 million in sewer permits in four days.

He argued that the city's fight with the state over the city's long-standing pollution of the bay was "a civil rights area." Declaring the city was doing all it could within its financial power to clean up its sewage, Alioto asked, "What the hell is wrong with these (state) people?"

"No one is going to flush a toilet in Rockefeller Center (Embarcadero Center) for a year and a half" during its construction, he said. By then, the city will have its pollution problem under control, Alioto said.

He also criticized the state for demanding additional tests of sewage quality, tests that will cost the city an additional $126,000 next year, Alioto said.

"I'm getting madder all the time — these (state) people are doing all the talking and not putting up a dime," Alioto declared angrily.

The city's issuance of the $55 million in permits gave the city most of what it lost when it pleaded for exemptions from the ban for $64.7 million in construction. Exemptions were limited by the state and regional water quality control boards to schools, hospitals, public housing and public service facilities such as a telephone exchange.

The $55 million end run by the city included a high-rise hotel, office buildings, motels and apartment.

William C. Weber of San Mateo, chairman of the regional board, said he was surprised that Judge Allen had lifted the ban before allowing the state to argue its case.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, in his Tuesday press conference, said "it is kind of time to separate the sheep from the goats, and find out whether we mean all these things that people have been saying about environment or do we just mean it for somebody else, and whether we want to keep on polluting the bay."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Low Blood Sugar Can Receive Temporary Boost From Candy

J. M. writes: "I work hard six days a week—harder than most women. Every day, about mid-morning and mid-afternoon, I seem to get tired.

Coffee breaks do nothing for me. Our company doctor told me sucking a hard piece of peppermint candy would boost my blood sug- level and give me some energy, and it did.

"Does the candy really boos my blood sugar level and give me some energy, and it did. imagination? My co-workers think this is for the birds, yet they eat the peppermint and kid me while munching away."

Candy elevates the blood sugar level temporarily and dispels fatigue provided—and this is important—that the tiredness is caused by too little sugar in the blood (hypoglycemia).

This condition is suspected whenever an individual develops fatigue, drowsiness, hunger, uncontrollable yawning, nervousness, sweating, trembling, or rapid heart beat between meals. In some the level does not fall low enough to produce all these symptoms.

YOUR CO-WORKERS will not get a boost from the candy if their blood sugar is normal. Any carbohydrate containing sugars, such as fruit juices, grapes, raisins, or milk, will bring temporary relief, but they are not advisable for long periods of time, especially when symptoms are severe.

Hypoglycemics do better when they consume foods that are slowly absorbed and do not stimulate too much insulin. (Insulin lowers the sugar level.)

Menus rich in protein and moderate in fats, but low in carbohydrates are preferred. It may be necessary to supplement the diet with between-meal snacks of protein or slowly absorbed carbohydrates (milk or peanut butter). Artificial sweeteners are a good sugar substitute.

OBESE HYPOGLYCEMICS must avoid too many calories because some of them make a complete switch and become diabetics. A complete examination is also suggested because some victims have a malfunctioning pancreas or liver.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

AGE, NOT MENOPAUSE

R.R. writes: Can the change of life cause cancer, heart disease, or high blood pressure?

REPLY

No. These diseases are more common at the menopausal age than in youth. But should one of them develop, it usually is coincidental.

Provision is hereby made for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds as follows: At the time of making the general tax levy after incurring the bonded indebtedness, and annually thereafter until the bonds are paid or until there is a sum in the treasury set apart for that purpose sufficient to meet all payments of principal and interest on the bonds as they become due, the Council shall levy and collect a tax sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and such part of the principal as will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied at the next general tax levy will be available; provided, however, that if said bonds are authorized to be issued at said election, and it is expected that all or any part of said bonds will be sold at such time that the principal of or interest on such bonds will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied after such sale would be available to pay such principal or interest, the Council, at the time of fixing the annual tax levy, may levy a tax in an amount clearly sufficient to pay that portion of the principal of and interest on said bonds which it is expected will become due before the proceeds of the next succeeding tax levy will be available. If the earliest maturity of the bonds is more than one year after the date of issuance, the Council shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the interest as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal on or before maturity. Such taxes shall be levied and collected as other City taxes and shall be in addition to all other taxes and shall be used only for payment of the bonds and the interest thereon.

Section 4. The City Clerk of the City is hereby directed (a) to publish this ordinance once in full in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published in the City, at least three days before its adoption, and (b), upon the passage and adoption of this ordinance, to publish the same once a day for at least seven (7) days in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published at least six (6) days a week in the City, and such publication shall constitute notice of said election. No other notice of the election hereby called need be given.

Section 5. This ordinance shall be forthwith entered upon the minutes of the Council and in the Ordinance Book of the City. This ordinance, being an ordinance calling and ordering an election, shall take effect from and after its final passage and approval.

LONG-TERM NOVATO PROJECT

Pupils Creating Own Wilderness

By THERON A. NEWELL

A nature study class normally involves getting the students into a school bus, going to some unspoiled area and then studying plants and animals in their natural habitat.

But that is being changed at Pleasant Valley School in Novato.

Teachers, students and parents are building their own nature study area, a miniature one.

It will be years in the making but will be a continual process in which students will be able to study the workings of nature day by day through the changing seasons. It will be constructed right on the school grounds — just a few feet from the classroom.

Principal Ray Monson and his staff has been working on the idea for several years. Until urbanization, Pleasant Valley was a quiet region of orchards and pastures and hills studded with oak trees. Then the developers moved in and the pastoral setting was changed into one of buildozed slopes and scores of houses.

When the school was built, the hill behind it was cut. So deep were the cuts that a 1,000-foot-long bench was left. Rye grass was planted to prevent erosion. Children played on the bench or slid down the slopes on cardboard. During wet weather, parents complained about muddy clothes, so the area was placed off-limits during the school hours, Monson said.

When the Parent-Teacher Association raised funds from carnivals to landscape the front of the school, Monson said, turning the bench into a natural area was proposed.

"The idea caught on with the students and they started turning their energies in that direction," he said.

The school received help in planning from Bowling Green School in Sacramento, where a one-acre "wilderness" area had been constructed.

The biggest hurdle was to get water to the site for a planned pond, 50 feet in diameter.

The district board came through by voting $100 to pipe water to create the pond. The rest of the work and plants will be provided by the students and parents, said Monson.

The school has already purchased 500 seedling Bishop pines for $10. Students have scrounged coffee cans and planted the seedlings in them. They have fenced off an area in the school yard for the trees. Next fall they will plant the trees to start a forest on the flat.

The pond is intended to become a watering spot for birds and the home of aquatic life.

"The area will never be pruned, trimmed or cut," says Monson. Leaving nature undisturbed, year by year, the school will keep a record of the changes. Monson already has a notebook filled with pictures of the area.

"It will teach the coming generation of Americans how we can preserve and protect the heritage of our natural setting," Monson said.

IRATE DWELLERS

Panel Admits To No Rent Power

By WAT TAKESHITA

A rent boycott and mass picketing were suggested last night as possible weapons families might use against a Tiburon landlord who suddenly raised rents from $190 to $290 to rid himself of tenants with children.

A dozen irate persons, some of them already ousted as tenants of Tiburon View Apartments at 4 Circle Drive, appealed to the Marin County Human Rights Commission for some kind of rent control.

James Quiett, commission chairman and Austin J. Thompson, executive director of the Human Rights Commission, explained at the Civic Center meeting that under present law, the tenants have no redress. However, individual commissioners declared they sympathize with the evicted residents and called for wide publicity and concerted citizen action to fight exorbitant rent raises aimed at evicting families with children.

"Nobody is going to win anything by acting individually," declared Commissioner Harry D. Williams. "The only thing we can do is keep moving north. Pretty soon we'll be commuting from Alaska to San Francisco. Perhaps you can boycott and not pay rent for three or four months. . .Pull a countywide rent strike."

"What we need is a bill of rights for tenants and a code of ethics for landlords," said Commissioner Richard Harding. "I don't know how it can be done, but there should be some way."

Kenneth Eckley, who was forced to move to Casa Marinwood because of the $100 raise in rent, suggested picketing the apartment owner, Charles Schonfeld of San Francisco.

"He owns the Continental Lodge on Van Ness," said Eckley. "Maybe we should all go and picket his motel."

Eckley described Schonfeld as "a big liar" for saying that the rents were raised because children damaged his apartment. "My daughter was born in that apartment. She was only 5 years old and couldn't have caused any damage. I challenge Mr. Schonfeld to find any damage."

He said some of the tenants evicted by rent raises had children only 6 months old. "You can't tell me a 6-month-old will cause damage!"

Eckley said his rent was raised from $190 to $290 last August. "Then they turned around and rented the same apartment for $23[illegible]."

"What he's trying to do is make them high-priced apartments," declared Richard Hegeria, who moved to 5 Andrew Way. "My wife is seven months pregnant, and we have a boy in school. We were given one month notice to get out. This man is just trying to make another buck and he doesn't care how he makes it."

Thompson reported that he, Deputy County Counsel Thomas G. Hendricks, and two tenants visited Schonfeld at his San Francisco office on March 31, and Schonfeld agreed to these temporary concessions:

Edward G. Navarro, who has two children who will graduate from their respective schools in June, got a reprieve until July 1. Navarro, who got a notice of rent raise from $185 to $275, will be able to stay through June at $235 per month.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Stern were offered a new lease and allowed to stay at the Tiburon View Apartments.

Hagerla announced he has circulated a petition which now has about 60 signatures, asking the county for some legal means to protect the tenants. "We plan to present this to the Marin County Board of Supervisors."

Other ousted tenants who spoke up last night included Willis Harpster, who now lives at 30 Central Drive in Mill Valley; Michael Wardlow of Tiburon Estates; Garry Sebring of San Anselmo, and Navarro.

"What you should do is form a union," Commissioner Mary Brooks told the tenants.

"But they've all moved out now except two," replied Mrs. Rita Stern.

Mrs. Brooks, obviously ired by the rent raise, muttered something about resorting to direct action, like using a baseball bat.

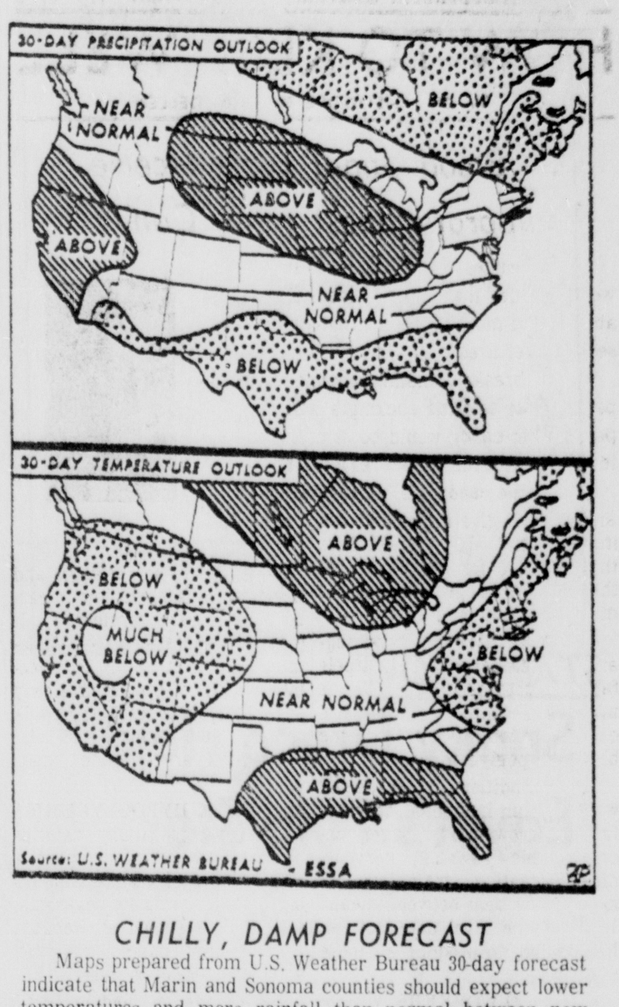
The audience applauded, and one person shouted: "We ought to have someone like you speak for us."

Clinton L. Mosher, former political editor of the San Francisco Examiner, who first complained to the commission about the rent raise last month has moved to Sonoma County. He wrote to the commission that he will continue the fight through a private attorney.

Thompson said the rent raise is not an isolated case restricted to Tiburon. "The middle class is being driven out of the county. Police, teachers, bank tellers, the mid-management type of people find they can no longer live in the county."

Thompson said he and his staff will continue to work for legislation to protect tenants' rights.

On a motion by Commissioner Charles B. Weers, the commission voted 5 to 0 to ask the county supervisors to support such legislation.



CHILLY, DAMP FORECAST

Maps prepared from U.S. Weather Bureau 30-day forecast indicate that Marin and Sonoma counties should expect lower temperatures and more rainfall than normal between now and May 15. Last year, San Rafael had only .73 inches of rain for the period although 1.69 is average. Petaluma recorded .75 inches. The mercury reached 90 in San Rafael and 91 in Petaluma last May 5, and swooped to 38 in Petaluma on April 25 and 30, while 42 was the period's low for San Rafael, on May 1. (AP Wirephoto maps)

Loggers Face Fire Charges

Criminal charges were filed today against an Oregon logging firm which is accused of allowing fires to burn uncontrolled on the Ethel Righetti ranch at Bolinas Ridge.

Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said that the logging partners, George Walker, Robert Matthews and Jerald Humbert, of North Bend, have been notified in a letter to appear in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday.

SEVEN COUNTS

The loggers have been charged with seven counts of illegal burning during the period between April 7 and last Tuesday. Open burning is prohibited under a regulation of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, and the logging firm's burning permit expired on March 31, Bales said.

Last week County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney asked the district attorney's office to file the charges, saying that Marin County Fireman had gone several times to put out unattended fires.

"The fire chief isolated the fire . . . immediately because the fire was very close to a highly incendiary area of dry brush, which, if ignite would have spread to Marin Municipal Water District lands," Maloney said of the first fire on April 7.

SEEDLINGS BURNED

"Rather than piling the slag and debris and burning it under controlled conditions, the loggers merely set fire to the entire area and have burned extensive areas containing ground cover and seedling trees," Maloney charged.

Bales said today that firemen using bulldozers and other equipment battled 14 fires on the ranch in the seven-day period.

The misdemeanor offense with which the loggers are charged carries a maximum penalty of six months in jail and a fine of $500 on each count, Bales said.

The lumbering firm was under attack last summer for allegedly poor logging practices, and an Alameda County judge ordered the firm to meet certain standards.

Marin's Agricultural Preserve Sprawl Called Bad For Tax Base

By WAT TAKESHITA

Marin County's agricultural preserve area, which covers about 65 per cent of the entire land area in the county, may have to be cut down drastically to save the tax base.

This was the consensus of members of the county's Land Conservation Advisory Committee, which met at the Civic Center yesterday.

Chairman Boyd Stewart and his colleagues, however, want to make sure that shrinking the preserve area will not deprive ranchers who are engaged in legitimate agriculture the right to agricultural preserve status and lowered assessments.

Committee members decided not to take action yesterday but set another meeting for 10 a.m. next Thursday in the county counsel's office at the Civic Center. Stewart said the county supervisors want some indication in the next week or two on what direction the committee is going.

Assessor Bert W. Broemmel reported that of the total 333,440 acres in the county, 213,264 acres are designated as agricultural preserve area. Landowners in that preserve area have the right to sign a contract with the county, promising to keep their land agricultural for 10 years, and thereby get reduced assessments. Thus far, 91,884 acres are under preserve contract and taking advantage of reduced taxes.

Committee members agree that in many cases, small landowners are signing contracts with the county under the guise of agricultural use by grazing a couple of horses or cows.

"The way to stop this is to remove from the preserve area all land other than those now under contract," suggested Stewart. "We would not harm those who in good faith made the contract, and we would then buy some time to determine where the preserve area should be."

He said undoubtedly, some areas not under contract would have to be put back in the preserve area.

Before the present vast preserve area is shrunk, the county would hold hearings, and those who want to enter into contracts with the county would not be denied that chance, said Stewart.

Normand H. Traverso, executive manager of the Marin Property Owners Association, who sat in on the meeting, agreed that one solution would be to limit agricultural preserves to the 91,884 acres already under contract. "Then the only others who can come into the preserve would be large pracels 100 acres or more," said Traverso. "It's a radical way but the only way to stop small parcels from coming in."

Giacomini pointed out at in many rural areas, vast acreages entering preserve contracts are shifting the tax burdes onto the remaining property owners.

Under new amendments to the agricultural preserve law, each county has until November of 1971 to establish land uses "not incompatible with agriculture'r' in all peserve areas that are not under contract.

This poses another question, said Stewart. "Is it fair to put the burden on those who don't contract and at the same time limit them to uses compatible with agriculture?" asked Stewart. "They would then be under pressure to come under contract. I don't know whether that's fair."

At next Thursday's meeting, Planner Rowland Darnell is to supply overlay maps to show the various general plans in the county; the rural communities of Point Reyes, Marshall and Tomales; and a rough idea of where developments are possible or expected in the near future.

Commuter Pool Drive Credited For 1,000 Cars

A one-day campaign to encourage Marin commuters to use car pools yesterday cut morning traffic on the Golden Gate Bridge by almost 1,000 cars, officials reported.

The Independent-Journal reported yesterday that the campaign's effort to form car pools at shopping centers failed, but new car pools apparently were formed independently by commuters in their own neighborhoods.

Dale W. Luehring, general manager of the bridge, said 16,226 cars crossed the bridge southbound between 6 and 9 a.m., compared with 17,200 on a normal day.

He acknowledged that the campaign, by a San Francisco radio station had not been as effective as hoped, but said that "every little bit helps."

The district is considering cutting tolls for cars carrying three or more persons during commuter hours.

Peevey Hits At Oil Allowance

Michael Peevey of San Rafael, candidate for the Democratic nomination for state Senate, has called for "ending the infamous oil depletion allowance and closing the capital gains loophole."

Peevey, speaking at a coffee at the Novato home of David McConnell Wednesday night, said these two steps would raise over $200 million in new tax revenue to be used for increased state aid to local schools. This, in turn, would ease property taxes, he said.

"It is grossly unfair to expect taxpayers to pay higher property taxes every year in order to support local schools," Peevey said. The share of state support of the cost of elementary and secondary school education paid from state-collected taxes was down to 35 per cent, he said, but 10 years ago, it was 50 per cent.

"This downward trend must be reversed," Peevey said.

Sonoma Ends Marin Edge In Population

Sonoma County has overtaken Marin in total population, dropping Marin County from 18th among the 58 counties of California, according to the annual California Taxpayers Association research bulletin issued today.

The bulletin lists Sonoma County's population as 204,100 as of July 1, 1969, which is 500 more than Marin's population of 203,600.

In assessed value per capita, Marin ranks fourth among the larger counties with populations of 200,000 or more. Only San Francisco, Contra Costa and Kern have higher assessed value per capita.

Marin County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said Marin's assessed valuation per capita is $2,739, as compared with the statewide average of $2,505.

Sonoma County's assessed value per capita is $2,225, which ranks 50th among the 58 counties.

In total county budget, 51 counties have higher budgets per capita than Marin, Mitchell reported. In 1969-70, Marin's budget per capita was $168.65, whereas the statewide average was $199.65. "One contributing reason is that Marin has a lower welfare budget per capita than most counties," Mitchell explained.

Sonoma's budget per capita is $221.20, or 38th in the state.

In the amount of property taxes collected per capita, Marin ranks 36 among the 58 counties, while Sonoma ranks 31st.

Marin County started the 1969-70 fiscal year last July with a reserve of $107,000, in a total budget of $34,336,000. That was the smallest reserve fund of any county in California with a population of 40,000 or more, said Mitchell. Last week, the county's reserve fund dwindled to $153.

Lake Superior is the largest body of fresh water in the world. It is fed by more than 200 rivers.

Impassioned Plea To Indian Court Rights

American Indians should have the right to their day in court and a jury trial like any other American, the Marin County Human Rights Commission declared last night by unanimous vote.

Acting on an impassioned plea by Commissioner Harry D. Williams of Fairfax, himself an American Indian, the commissioners urged the Marin County Board of Supervisors to ask Marin legislators to push a resolution in the Legislature.

Williams said that a resolution, similar to the one that was killed in 1967, will be reintroduced this year in the California Senate. The resolution asks Congress to grant Indian citizens the right to judicial determination of their disputes with the United States.

"We have no place to appeal," said Williams. "As an Indian, everything we take to court has to go through an Act of Congress. We can't even get an attorney without approval from Washington!"

Gregory Blasts Wealthy Families

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The "real enemy" of the nation are the wealthy families, says former entertainer Dick Gregory.

"The real enemy is not the police," Gregory told a San Francisco State College audience Thursday. "The real enemy are the Duponts, the Rockefellers and the Kennedys."

Gregory, who has been leading social protests for several years, also urged the students to organize into effective political groups and to continue fighting racism and the Vietnam War.

Merger Studied In Terra Linda

Possible merger of the Terra Linda Community Services District and Terra Linda Parks and Recreation District will be discussed at a special meeting Tuesday at 9 p.m. at the Firehouse.

According to Helen Lontz, secretary for the community services district, the regular meeting of the district was changed from Monday to 7:30 p.m. Tuesday to accommodate the special meeting.

The merger has been proposed, Mrs. Lontz said, because the parks and recreation district cannot operate on its tax base. She said it was not known yet if the merger would be legal.

Snaky Draco Held Egypt's Pole Star

By SHERMAN WALKER

Draco, the Dragon, is a long snakelike figure that curves around the pole. It stars are dim but plentiful.

Its brightest star is almost magnitude 2. It has about 30 others that are of magnitude 3, 4 and 5.

To the ancient Egyptians this constellation was of religious importance and the brightest star, Thuban, which was the pole star at that time, was considered sacred.

To locate the Dragon in the sky, face northward and look at the region that is about halfway between the North Star and overhead.

The great pyramid of Egypt was designed so the rays of Thuban shone down the great passageway, which is over 300 feet long.

Due to precession the position of the celestial pole, as well as Thuban, gradually shifted and the later pyramids and temples showed a slightly different position to accommodate the changed place of the star.

This constellation has many mythological stories—sometimes the stories are different but the characters are the same.

The dragon supposedly guarded the golden apples of the Hesperides. It is also alleged to be the dragon that guarded the Golden Fleece and was killed by Cadmus.

It was the teeth of this dragon that were planted and then sprang up as soldiers in armor. This planting idea was used in the capture of the Golden Fleece.

In yet another version, the dragon was whirled into the sky by Athene in a battle between gods and giants.

Athletics Face Twins In Three-Game Series

OAKLAND (AP)—It's a little early in the season for crucial baseball games but the Oakland A's will be playing three of them against the Minnesota Twins starting tonight.

The A's tuned up for the big series with a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox Thursday night as John "Blue Moon" Odom, the only Oakland starting pitcher who won't face the powerful Twins, tossed a six-hitter.

Manager John McNamara of the A's named Jim Hunter, Al Downing and Chuck Dobson to pitch against Minnesota.

Last year, the Twins defeated Oakland 13 times in 18 meetings and went on to win the American League West title.

Odom struck out nine batters and said his only mistake was "a hanging slider" to powerful Buddy Bradford, who smashed it 450 feet into the left field bleachers.

Odom was a question mark when the A's went to spring training this year because of a sore elbow which sidelined him for a week.

"The elbow still hurts a little," he said. "I guess it always will."

He had to soak his arm in ice water for 15 minutes to prevent it from swelling.

"I tried to get the ball over the plate and make them hit it so I wouldn't have to throw so many pitches," Odom explained.

He tired in the late innings and walked two batters in the ninth. That brought up pinch hitter Tom McCraw with a chance to win the game. But Odom struck him out to end the contest.

The A's collected 10 hits, including three each by Rick Monday and Felipe Alou. Monday had two doubles and a single to lift his season average to .410.

"It's the extra weight I put on my shoulders and arms," Monday said when asked to explain his batting spree. He played last season at about 185 pounds and now weighs more than 200.

The A's scored one run in the third inning when Dick Green's single brought in Alou, who had singled and advanced to third on two ground outs.

Chicago tied it in the fifth on Bradford's solo homer.

The A's took the lead 2-1 again in the bottom of the fifth. Monday doubled and Alou singled, and Monday scored when Chicago's Bill Meltin threw to second, trying to nail Alou, who had advanced on Reggie Jackson's sacrifice fly.

Singles by Dave Duncan, Bert Campaneris and Monday produced the A's final run in the sixth.

Accurate Figures Needed In Racing

The Associated Press has a report this week on sports attendance, the results of a survey showing horse racing the No. 1 spectator sport in the United States for the 18th consecutive year.

Of course, take away the pari-mutuel betting attraction and I'd bet not even horses would go to horse races.

But that is not my topic for today. I want to discuss the rest of the attendance survey which places auto racing number two in spectator popularity with football third and baseball, the so-called national pastime, dropping to fourth.

I'm not calling anyone liars but I'd like to see some accurate figures on auto racing. The A.P. story innocently noted: "Auto racing, a booming sport and perhaps the fastest-growing placed second in total attendance with an estimated 14,300,000. Exact figures were not available."

They Pad The Numbers

Dig that last sentence. It's the key to the whole thing.

Auto racing promoters, you see, are notorious for padding attendance figures. They use forks to write down digits. That is why your eyes pop out at some fancy attendance figures coming out of raceways like Riverside, Laguna Seca and Sears Point. The promoters do so to outdo the next guy and to enhance their images.

However, I often wonder how stockholders feel when they c o m p a r e fancy attendance figures with earning reports.

This weekend the Trans-American Series opens its popular, 13-race series at Laguna Seca. This is one of the nation's premier road races and will draw a sizeable throng to the Monterey facility. Yet, do not for a moment believe the "announced attendance" figure. It will be pure fiction.

Most newspapers are wising up and making their own estimates of crowds, although some still dutifully report the fictional figures as the gospel.

Many Guesses, Take Your Pick

Last year I started questioning attendance figures at Sears Point and I am afraid I started a fad. Because the papers, which last year gave announced figures, this year have all but called the track officials liars.

On April 4, for example, one Sears official estimated attendance for the Indianapolis car races at 38,212.

G o r d o n Martin, the Chronicle scribe, reported one-third of the figure would be more accurate.

M i l e s Ottenheimer of the Examiner estimated "close to 25,000 to 30,000."

George Hower of the Santa Rosa Press-Democrat guessed 14,700.

The scribes, including myself, disagreed on numbers but unanimously guessed considerably lower than the announced figures.

Shouldn't Use Estimates

I think Sears got the point because last Sunday I didn't see or hear any "announced attendance figure." Perhaps they've decided to keep paid attendance to themselves and let reporters covering the races make their own estimates.

But when they come out with surveys on sports attendance figures, I think they ought to shelve auto racing until the promoters offer some cold, hard paid attendance figures and not, as the A.P. reports, "estimated" figures.

Other sports have been known to pad their attendance, but not nearly as flagrantly as racing.

I mean, it would be pretty hard to say a crowd of 120,000 saw the 49ers play in Kezar Stadium with only 60,000 seats.

But, as an auto racing promoter would explain "Laps, baby, LAPS!"

NEW ORLEANS GOLF

Mitchell Gets His Chance

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —Gary Player and Orville Moody are pretty familiar names in the golf business. But they found found themselves a stroke behind today in the $125,000 Greater New Orleans Open with a Virginian named Bobby Mitchell leading the way.

Mitchell isn't one of golf's top performers. In his fifth year as a touring pro, he's still looking for his first victory and can't be found among this year's 100 leading money winners.

SEVEN UNDER

He put together a seven-under par 65 Thursday for the opening round lead in the chase for the $25,000 winner's check. But he's got a long way to go in the next three days with Player and National Open champion Moody in the thick of it.

Player, the hottest item on the tour this year and a near-miss for a playoff berth in the Masters earlier this week, came in among the late finishers with a 66 ,as did Moody and three others.

If there was a bad day, par had it with 59 golfers finishing better than regulation 72 over the 7,080-yard Lakewood Country Club Course. A score of 69 was only good for a 19th place tie in the opening session.

STUMBLES

Masters champion Billy Casper and money leader Lee Trevino were among those who failed to startle the galleries. Casper, who whipped Gene Littler for the Masters title in a playoff Monday, started well enough with a front nine 34 but stumbled to a 37 on the back nine for a 71. Trevino, whose $84,000 puts him far and away in front place among the check collectors this year, matched par with a lacklustre 72.

The 27-year-old Mitchell, a golf pro since he was 15, said he "always plays good on this course. I just missed by one stroke here last year."

Rec Softball

In San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball league play last night, the Mustangs defeated C.W.A. 11-4 and the Broncos edged Foust Chevron 5-4.

A Pair Of Willies Are Back In Style

Home Runs Do The Job In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — A couple of guys named Willie boosted the San Francisco Giants to a 11-9 victory over the Houston Astros in 10 innings Thursday night.

Willie Mays tied the score 9-9 with his two-run homer in the eighth inning and Willie McCovey won the game with a two-run shot in the 10th.

It was the second straight night the two clubs battled an extra inning, but Wednesday night the Astros won.

McCovey connected off reliever Jack Dilauro. Bobby Bonds had opened the inning with a triple and Alan Gallagher fanned and Mays grounded out before McCovey came in and did his thing.

After leading 6-3, the Astros fell one run behind in the sixth but picked up three runs in the seventh, including a four-bagger by Jim Wynn.

Then Willie Mays came up in the eighth and deadlocked the score with his homer.

The Astros struck early in the game, scoring three quick runs in the first inning on a walk to Wynn, a triple by Tommy Davis and a home run by Denis Menke.

Jim Bouton started on the mound for Houston and was chased by the Giants in their three-run fourth. The Astros used five pitchers in all. Dan Osinski was charged with the loss, giving him an 0-1 record.

Mike McCormick, starter for the Giants, was knocked out of the box in the third. He was followed by four more pitchers with Ron Bryant, who took over in the eighth, getting credit for the verdict. Bryant now has a 2-2 record.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Reds' Youngster Classifi ed 1-A

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Gullett was drafted last June but his pitching has just been classified 1-A.

That's because the 19-year-old left-hander was drafted by a baseball team—the Cincinnati Reds—and the rest of the National League is on the receiving end of his meteoric rise to stardom.

"In time, he'll be nothing but a star. We're seeing a star being born right before our eyes," said manager Sparky Anderson after Gullett picked up his first major league victory with five scoreless innings of three-hit relief and got the win in Cincinnati's 12-2 romp over Los Angeles Thursday night.

"He'll have his bad outings in the future, sure, but he can't miss being a great one."

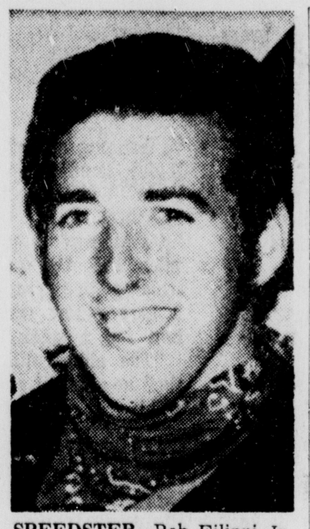
Those are strong words of praise for a rookie less than a year out of McKell High School in Lynn, Ky., who made only 11 appearances in the low minors before he was added to the Reds' roster just before opening day.

But the figures back him up. Gullett has pitched 6 1-3 innings in three big league games, allowing four hits, no runs, four walks and four strikeouts.

Elsewhere in the NL, San Francisco outslugged Houston 11-9 in 10 innings, San Diego topped Atlanta 5-4 in 10, Pittsburgh beat the New York Mets 7-4 and the Chicago Cubs nipped Philadelphia 6-5, also in 10 innings. St. Louis and Montreal were idle.

In the American League, it was Washington 4, Baltimore 2; Boston 8, New York Yankees 5; Detroit 4, Cleveland 2; Kansas City 8, Milwaukee 6; Oakland 3, Chicago White Sox 1 and California 3, Minnesota 2.

Gullett was an all-around athlete in high school. In his senior year he was 9-2 with 120 strikeouts in 52 innings and hurled a perfect game, fanning 20 of the 21 batters.



SPEEDSTER—Bob Filippi Jr. of Mill Valley, one of the leading drivers in weekly stock car racing at Petaluma Fairgrounds, will be on hand again tonight when racing resumes with qualifying at 6:45 o'clock and the first race at 8. Last week Filippi was a trophy dash winner in the sportsmen division.

Marin Man Seeks Trans-Am Honors

Craig Murray of San Rafael, surprising fourth place finisher in last Sunday's gruelling 200-mile race for late model stock cars at Sears Point International Raceway, will drive his 1968 Camaro in the opening event on the 13-race 1970 Trans-American Sedan Championship series at Laguna Seca Raceway near Monterey this weekend.

Murray, 30, president of the Sears Point Raceway, will be driving the same car. Mark Donohue drove to the 1968 Trans-Am title. Donohue also won the crown in 1969 in a Camaro but since has switched to American Motors' Javelins, which he and Peter Revson will drive Sunday.

Other factory-entered cars and drivers include Dan Gurney and Swede Savage in Chrysler's Barracudas, Parnelli Jones and George Follmer in Ford's Mustangs, Jim Hall and Ed Leslie in Camaros, Jerry Titus in a Plymouth Firebird and Sam Posey in a Dodge Challenger.

Sunday's 171-mile race around the 1.9 mile, 9-turn Laguna Seca road course will start at 1:30 p.m.

Sea And Ships Are A Way Of Life With Capt. Towle

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Instead of the usual greeting at the door of, "Come in," I was met with, "Come aboard." To him, the sea and the ships that sail it have been a way of life.

He's Capt. Elmer James Towle, a member of the U.S. Naval Reserve who has played a vital part in the opening day yacht festivities on San Francisco Bay for the last five years.

The ship I boarded was actually his spacious home on Corinthian Island, directly above the Corinthian Yacht Club, overlooking San Francisco Bay, Angel Island and the shores and skyline of San Francisco.

FLEET BLESSING

Capt. Towle is founder of the Blessing of the Fleet ceremony that has become a very important part of the yacht opening, this year scheduled May 3.

A boat is stationed between Corinthian Y. C. in Tiburon and Angel Island, this year the destroyer U.S.S. Cowell, with a Catholic priest, Jewish rabbi and Protestant minister aboard. As the boats participating in the opening day activities parade by, they are blessed by the three men.

When Towle got the idea for the blessing ceremonies in 1965, he contacted the Navy and got its cooperation in providing a ship, men and a brass band. A very religious man all his life, Capt. Towle, now in his 60s, thought it fitting to include men of the three primary faiths to do the actual blessing.

"From early times, it is a known fact that anyone who follows the seas always recognizes the great pilot above and the great belief He is watching out for us, to bring out happiness and contentment," Capt. Towle said.

Towle is president of the E. J. Towle Co., a metal stamping company in San Francisco and a former vice president of Talon Corp., the zipper king. He is also director of Liberty National Bank, chairman of A. B. Boyd Co. (gasket manufacturers) and president of ETCO Corp., a real estate firm.

He was in the active Navy for four years, and has been a member of the Naval Reserves 25 years. He has been interested in the seas since a lad of 15 when he was a naval cadet in San Francisco.

"Being a sailor has always been part of me," he smiled. "It probably goes all the way back to my great grandfather who was a Yankee sailor in New England."

Capt. Towle has been in the Corinthian Y. C. for 15 years, is a former director and present chairman of the activities committee.

NEVER TOO LATE

He finished his active duty with the Navy in 1962 and returned to San Francisco and kept care of his aging mother, who died the following year. Deciding it was never too late for a little learning, Capt. Towle returned to studies at University of San Francisco where he met Myrtle Cavanaugh. On June 5, 1965, Capt. Towle, a confirmed bachelor who had been married to the sea all his life, was married to Myrtle and they moved to their home on Corinthian Island. The house had been used as a summer home in earlier years by Capt. Towle's mother.

Capt. Towle is justifiably proud of the growth of the blessing ceremonies. He had invited Gov. Ronald Reagan and wife, and was informed the Governor couldn't attend but would be represented by Jack Bennett, deputy director of Navigation and Ocean Development for the state.

FISH AND GAME

Rare Birds Flit Along Market Street

By AL GIDDINGS

I have been working at the Fish and Game office in San Francisco all week. With the winds churning up the bay, I guess I haven't missed too much in the old home county.

Those fellows working in San Francisco are loaded with fish and game problems from all areas of Region 3.

For instance: Yesterday around noon one of the game managers mentioned he was going out to watch the fights.

I asked: "What flights?" and his answer, "The flights of quail on Market Street" broke me up. Such dedication!

Upon his return I asked what he'd seen and he said there were "good flights of double-breasted window shoppers, some pink-cheeked brown baggers, lots of longlegged miniskirters, a few broad bottomed lunch birds, and a slim hipped secretary bird, all taking the Market Street migratory bird route.

If you have time, spend a day watching these phenomena of nature. Bring a camera, too. Your wife might appreciate the shots you get. She may even come up with one of her own.

OTHER LITTLE tid-bits gleaned from the F-G office are somewhat interesting, too. A letter to all California wardens about ducks certainly deserves repeating.

The subject, "Freezing Migratory Game Birds Without Cleaning—Food Values," reveals if birds have not been thoroughly cleaned prior to freezing they should not be used for human food. Many birds carry bacteria in their intestinal tract. Freezing and thawing of these bacteria would allow the release of the toxin which they produce and, if ingested, can cause a severe food poisoning, with cramps, vomiting and pain.

Birds frozen while still containing the internal organs, particularly the intestinal tract, should not be used as food.

I've frozen undrawn birds myself, but it sounds dangerous, so from now on we'd better draw the birds everytime before freezing for safety's sake.

ONE OF THE FIRST steps in the plan to stock steelhead was taken this month with the shipping of more than 340,000 eggs to the Department of Fish and Game's Mount Shasta Hatchery. The eggs were taken from 80 female steelhead, then will be incubated at the hatchery until they are about six inches long, then will be planted in the Eel River to help build back the runs there. This run has declined greatly in recent years largely because of decreased water flows resulting from dams on the Eel.

Papermill Creek in Marin County is scheduled for a 10,000 fish plant of steelhead next year upon completion of the new Mad River Hatchery now under construction.

ALSO, THE Fish and Game Commission has scheduled hearings in 15 counties on 1970-71 special deer hunts recommended by the Department of Fish and Game. Proposed hunts are in Modoc, Lassen, Yolo, Solano, Placer, El Dorado, San Benito, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Kern, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Riverside, San Diego and Orange counties.

Hearings have been set at the Shasta County Courthouse in Redding at 8 p.m., May 13, on the DFG proposal for a special hunt for 100 Rocky Mountain Elk north and east of Shasta Lake in Shasta and Siskiyou counties.

There will also be a hearing in Alturas May 11 for a prong horn antelope hunt Aug. 29 through Sept. 7. Last year 270 hunters took 204 bucks and this year's census of 2,983 antelope in Modoc-Lassen-Shasta and eastern Siskiyou counties was the highest in recent years.

Special features you'll enjoy:

Country music is currently riding a crest of popularity. And Northern California is no exception. One of the groups that is responsible for this demand for goodtime, hillbilly music, and for its satisfaction, is the Thompson Brothers of Marin. Marin Magazine editor Don Keown has written a special feature on the Thompson Brothers, their music and their plans, for tomorrow's issue of the I-J's weekend supplement.

Marin County is home to many interesting shopping thoroughfares. And one of the most interesting is Novato's Grant Avenue. Where Kit Carson once rode and ranchers once bought their staples at the general store, colorful shops today cater to customers seeking the unusual. Free-lance writer-photographer Lois Jane Cleveland takes you on a shopping expedition along Grand Avenue in the I-J Marin Magazine's issue tomorrow.

Today is Friday, April 17, the 107th day of 1970 with 258 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full stage. The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1521 Martin Luther was excommunicated from the Roman Catholic Church after refusing to admit charges of heresay.

In 1917 Sen. William Calder of New York introduced a bill calling for Daylight Savings Time. It was defeated.

In 1961 a force of anti-Castro Cuban rebels began what was to end as the ill-fated Bay of Pigs incident.

In 1964 Mrs. Jerrie Mick of Columbus, Ohio became the first woman to complete a solo flight around the world.

A thought for the day: American author Oliver Wendel Holmes said, "Age, like distance, lends a double charm."

Marin To Hear Schoenberg Opus

A rare opportunity to hear the original version for the sextet of Schoenberg's "Transfigured Night," Opus 4, will be a feature of the Marin Arts Quartet concert Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Outdoor Art Club, Mill Valley.

Guest artists for the work will be cellist Eugene Winkler and violist Lucien Mitchell. Regular members of the quartet are violinists Charles Meacham and Michael Gerling, violist Elizabeth Bell and cellist Jean Mitchell.

Also on the program will be Quartet in G Major, Opus 18, No. 2 by Beethoven and Quartet in G. Minor, Opus 7, by Grieg.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When Holding Ace Best To Refuse First Round Ruff

When you hold an ace, you can often gain by refusing to take the first trick in that suit. When, instead, you hold a trump, you may gain by refusing to ruff at your first opportunity. The principle is the same, but players who see one are often blind to the other.

RUFFS DIAMOND

South ruffed the first diamond and led the ace of spades, expecting to have no trouble. He revised his expectation when East discarded a diamond.

South switched to hearts, losing dummy's king to the ace. East returned a diamond, and South ruffed again. It was still possible to make the contract, but South had muffed his easy play.

Declarer next led the ten of spades, but West grabbed the queen and returned the queen of diamonds to make South ruff again. South led his last trump, but West still had a trump. When South began the clubs, West ruffed the third round and led a heart. Dummy still had a losing heart and a losing diamond, and South had performed the difficult feat of beginning the hand with nine sure tricks and ending it with only eight.

EASIEST WAY

The easiest way for South to make the contract is to refuse to ruff the second round of diamonds. East continues with a third diamond, and South ruffs for the second time.

Now South can draw trumps. West gets in with the queen of spades but cannot lead another diamond. South has time to draw whatever trumps are left and can then take his four clubs safely. He wins five trumps, four clubs and one heart, winning the game and rubber.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - Q 6 3 2
♥ - 10 8 7 4
♦ - Q 9 2
♣ - 8 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass or bid two spades.

This is a borderline case; some experts would pass, and others would raise. You should tend to raise when you have a conservative partner who plays his cards well. Pass if your partner is an overbidder or if he plays the cards badly.

Personal Income Continues Climb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's personal income continued its steady rise in March while new housing starts rose for the second consecutive month, the Commerce Department reported today.

The figures gave some indication the housing construction industry may be recovering from its year-long slide into deep trouble, although the newest figures only brought the indicator to about where it was last December.

Personal income—roughly wages before taxes, although it also includes dividends, rental and interest income—totaled $782.6 billion during March, at a seasonally adjusted annual rate.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Worry Is Needless On Accounts' Safety

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am a widow and have most of my money in savings and loan certificates of deposit. My understanding was that if I had accounts in five separate savings & loans—not branches—each account was insured for $20,000. Now I have been told by a CPA that only one of my accounts was insured, that the Federal Deposit Insurarnce Corp. only insured an individual once. — H.G.

A. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.—FDIC—insures accounts in banks which are members of the Federal Reserve System. Banks which are nonmembers can, if they engage in deposit banking, apply for coverage under the FDIC.

The Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corp.—FSLIC—provides insurance for members of the Federal Home Loan Bank System, that is, savings and loan institutions. In addition, state-chartered institutions of the savings and loan type, if approved by the FSLIC, can qualify for coverage.

According to a law enacted by Congress in 1934 and updated three times since, insurance coverage up to $20,000 is afforded each saver in each FSLIC-insured savings institution.

Q. We recently purchased shares of International Funeral Services. Our cost was 19½. What is your estimate of the company's potential? We are retired and can't afford any great loss. — M.I.

A. As a result of a just-completed acquisition, International Funeral operates a chain of 55 funeral homes in Canada and the United States. Through Dec. 31, 1969, the first nine months of the fiscal year just ended, total revenues were $7.4 million and earnings were 21 cents a share. Balance sheet as of Sept. 30, 1969, showed a healthy current ratio of 1.9 to 1 with cash items accountisg for 40 per cent of current assets.

All homes now under the central management of IFS have been acquired since the company's inception in April. Continued growth through internal and external expansion appears to be in prospect. Unless you need income—no dividends have been paid—shares should be held.

Living Costs Up In Britain

LONDON (UPI) — Living costs climbed again in Britain in the month ending mid-March and the official retail price index rose 0.8 to 137.0.

Government figures showed that the index has climbed 2.6 in the last three months.

The department of Employment and Productivity (DEP) blamed "Rises in the average levels of many goods and services." Prices of potatoes and other fresh vegetables also rose due to seasonal variations.

PRESSURE TIRE TEST

A new B. F. Goodrich radial-belted passenger tire undergoes a plunger test at the company's tire test center in Brecksville, Ohio. BFG engineers say the tire can withstand up to 6,000 pounds per square inch of this kind of pressure compared with about 4,500 pounds that most bias-belted tires can take without failure. Wall Street Cuts Losses Late In Day

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market cut its losses late this afternoon. Declining issues on the New York Stock Exchange still held a 2-to-1 lead over gainers, but the gap was narrowing.

At 2 p.m., an hour before the close of trading, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 1.32 at 774.55.

The average had been down nearly four points earlier in the session.

Glamor issues were among the Big Board's most-active stocks. Prices of the most active glamors included Xerox, up 2⅞ at 84⅜; Telex, off 1⅞ at 112⅝; Mohawk Data, up ¾ at 44¼; Polaroid, off 1⅝ at 90; and Burroughs, off ⅛ at 133⅞.

Other glamor prices included Control Data, off ⅝ at 48⅛, and IBM, up 2¼ at 323.

The market's sluggish behavior is attributed in part to the continuing dampening effect of poor first-quarter earnings results and in part to unfavorable news about the economy.

The most-active issue on the New York Stock Exchange was Transcontinental Investing, off 1⅛ at 8¾ on a volume of 271,700 shares. That issue had been the most-active in Thursday's session when it closed off 1¾.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Nuclear Waste Firm To Expand

The Walnut Creek-based Nuclear Engineering Co., oldest and largest company engaged in the transportation and disposal of radioactive waste, is acquiring Protective Packaging, Inc. of Tacoma, Wash.

The transaction, expected to be completed this month, involves the exchange of 20,000 shares of Nuclear Engineering stock for Protective Packaging.

The acquisition is planned to develop an expansion into the fields of engineering consultation and specialized containers outside the nuclear field, such as delicate instruments and hazardous chemicals.

U. S. NATURAL RESOURCES, INC. of Menlo Park and East Sierra Development Corp. of Los Angeles have agreed on a merger of East Sierra into U. S. National Resources in an exchange of shares of common stock. U. S. Natural Resources owns a substantial portion of Yosemite Park and Curry Co. and other similar tourist operations facilities. East Sierra is a principal developer of condominiums and land in Mono County.

CESSNA AIRCRAFT CO. has reported total consolidated sales of $128.1 million for the first six months of its 1970 fiscal year ended March 31. Earnings reached $5.9 million or 84 cents per share. Sales for the previous year were $139.2 million, with earnings of $7.4 million or $1.04 per share. Twenty members of the Northern California Cessna Dealers Association will fly into Gnoss Field, Marin County Monday for a meeting hosted by the local Cessna dealer, Spectrum Air, Inc.

KAISER STEEL CORP. earnings for the first quarter amounted to $4,327,000 on sales of $96.3 million, equivalent to 58 cents per common share. First quarter earnings last year were $5,811,000 or 81 cents per share on sales of $97.5 million. The decline has been attributed to lower shipments of large diameter pipe, a decrease in fabricated steel products and low profit export tonnage.

POTLATCH FORESTS, INC. of San Francisco has reported a decline in both sales and earnings for the first three months of 1970. Net earnings at $872,000 or 12 cents per share compared with last year's record high $5,973,000 or 85 cents per share. Net sales of $75.7 million compared with $83.5 for the first three months of 1969.

LESLIE SALT CO., San Francisco, has reported net income for 1969 at $965,000 or $2.62 per share of common stock. Net income for 1968 was over $2 million or $5.60 per share. Operating revenues in 1969 were $21.4 million, an incrase from $19.9 million in 1968. Leslie, with approximately 45,000 acres of salt production and other property adjacent to San Francisco Bay, is one of Northern California's larger landowners.

AMPEX CORP., Redwood City, results for the fiscal year which ends May 2, are expected to show modest increases in orders and sales, with per share earnings approximately the same as last year's record totals.

MONSANTO CO. has reported a 6 per cent increase in first quarter sales and an 8 per cent decrease in net income from operations. Consolidated sales at $512.7 million compared with last year's $484.2 million. Net income from operations in the first 1969 quarter was $34 million or 97 cents a share. Income for the 1970 quarter droppd to $31.2 million or 90 cents a share.

HOST INTERNATIONAL, INC. has reported an increase in first quarter sales from $20.3 million last year to $24.2 million in 1970. Net income rose 14.1 per cent to $695,000 or 15 cents a share.

Quarter-Interest In Marin Firm Changes Hands

Farinon Electric of San Carlos has acquired a stock interest of approximately 25 per cent in Digital Telephone Systems, Inc. in a transaction valued at $1,250,000.

Proceeds of the sale will be used to finance development and initial manufacturing activities of Digital Telephone, according to the company's president, Donald Green.

Digital Telephone, located at 85 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park, was organized last year to produce new types of multiplex equipment within the communications industry. Within the next few months the company plans to begin manufacturing and marketing its first product, a system using only four wires to provide subscriber-line service up to 96 telephones.

Farinon, a publicly-held corporation, manufactures microwave and multiplex equipment. It reported sales of $8.5 million in fiscal 1969.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

42 EDITORIAL PAGE San Rafael, Calif. Friday, April 17, 1970

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Little Consistency Found In Narcotics Punishment

Many of those arrested in Marin County for marijuana or dangerous drug violations never go to trial. Sometimes this is not for lack of evidence. Here are some examples:

Sept. 11, 1969—Narcotics charges were dismissed by Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Superior Court against former hippie leader Donald C. McCoy Jr. and 10 of his erstwhile followers because Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales refused to reveal the name of the informant in the case.

Sept. 26, 1969—A charge of possessing barbiturates against Robert S. Jones, 22, was dismissed by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein in Marin Municipal Court. The judge ruled sheriffs' deputies had no right to open a container in Jones's waistband in which the drug was found.

Oct. 2, 1969—A charge of growing marijuana against Ronald J. Campagna, 21, was dismissed by Judge Hadden W. Roth is Marin Municipal Court because police illegally searched among ivy in a retaining wall at his home to find the plants.

WHEN PERSONS ARRESTED are found guilty of such charges, the punishment varies widely. Here are some examples:

Jan. 5, 1970—Robert D. McKendrick, who had three marijuana cigarettes in his possession when arrested, was fined $200 by Judge Joseph G. Wilson and put on one year's probation.

Feb. 18, 1970—John Frederick Tanzi, 21, was fined $150 and put on six months' probation by Judge J. Warren McGuire of Marin Municipal Court for possession of marijuana, which was found growing at his home.

Feb. 19, 1970—David R. Harris, 22, who had skipped bail after a marijuana arrest and subsequently was arrested for selling heroin, was sentenced by Judge Wilson to 15 months in jail for both offenses, with three years' probation.

Oct. 6, 1969—Rita Jean Hodges, 20, was fined $250 and given a suspended 90-day jail sentence by Judge McGuire for possessing marijuana grown at her home.

Nov. 18, 1969—David G. Russek, 21, was fined $100 and put on six months' probation by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court for being in a place where narcotics were used.

AND CONSIDER THIS one:

Frank Werber, 39, was arrested Oct. 14, 1968, by narcotics agents who confiscated 400 pounds of marijuana in his home.

Werber subsequently was charged by federal agents with transporting 258 pounds of the weed by air from Mexico City to his home in Marin. A federal court jury found him innocent of a charge of conspiracy to smuggle the marijuana into the United States. But a jury in Marin Superior Court convicted him of two counts of possession of marijuana—four kilos of it, found in his house, and other plants growing on his property.

The sentence for Werber, by Judge McGuire: six months in jail and $2,000 fine.

In which of these cases, if any, did the punishment fit the crime? Certainly not in all of them.

Attorney General's Opinion Sinks Interest Conflict Charge

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — How an attempt to embarass the Reagan administration and the Republicans backfired came to light this week with an opinion by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch.

It was made known some time ago that a member of the California Youth Authority Board, who was an appointee of Gov. Ronald Reagan, was the successful bidder on a contract for purchase of surplus real property of the Department of Water Resources.

Almost immediately in the hullabaloo that followed came the cry of favoritism, and the intimation of "conflict of interest."

LOUDEST in protestations was Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'Berg, D-Sacramento, who indicated the administration was craven in its treatment of the public interest. Z'Berg beseeched the attorney general, a Democrat, for a legal opinion as to this particular activity.

No doubt the Democratic assemblyman was somewhat surprised when the 13-page opinion was issued. It said:

"The mere fact of the purchase of such surplus property of the Department of Water Resources (through its agent, the Department of General Services) by such member of the Youth Authority board would not violate any applicable conflict of interest statutes of the state, nor the common law doctrine against conflicts of interest."

The opinion held that the Youth Authority board member entered into the purchase solely in his private, not official, capacity.

"The common law doctrine against conflicts of interest," the opinion said, "is not violated since we are unable to discern how, by such purchase, the Youth Authority board member has placed himself in any position where he might be tempted to disregard his public duties in favor of his private interests.

"The relatively new 'code of ethics' is not violated, since as to such an appointive officer, the purchase does not result in any gain 'by reason of his official activity.' "

THE POINT is that it is extremely dangerous to use conflict of interest as a political attack. The laws are highly technical, and what might be cause for question in one instance would be perfectly legal in another. The accuser, therefore, could easily be left hanging on a limb, as Assemblyman Z'Berg is in the present instance.

The decision would appear to indicate that appointees of the governor from private enterprise still can continue to make a living in their professional capacities, and work for the state, which for some years has been considered some kind of a sin, depending who happens to be in office.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Some Points About Candidate Riles

Re the story on the candidates for state superintendent of public instruction, three points about Mr. Wilson Riles were not brought out:

1. Mr. Riles has declared his support for the CTA-supported Proposition 8, except that he says it "does not go far enough". This is the school finance measure termed a "fiscal fraud" and "disastrous" by Governor Reagan and Assemblyman Bagley.

2. Although his Marin committee's campaign literature uses the term "Dr." Riles, his doctorate is honorary only.

3. His Marin literature quotes him: "Above all else, it seems to me that the one quality demanded of a public educator is—accountability . . ."

In 1963, Mr. Riles was sent to Sausalito as a consultant from the State Commission on Equal Opportunities in Education. His recommendations for an educational park initiated the moves which culminated in the recent grand jury report. Said one Sausalito parent recently; "You know, he never once came back to us to see how things were working out!"

This is accountability?

(In a public appearance in Marin County, Riles said he opposed Proposition 8 because its setting of a percentage of undetermined school costs to be paid by the state is unsound. — Editor.)

Campaign Signs Show Dichotomy

Seldom do we get to see a politician sacrifice his principles for expediency before an election. I think we are fortunate therefore to observe Mr. Peter Behr's campaign efforts. Mr. Behr is ostensibly the ecology-conservation candidate for state senate, however a spate of Behr campaign signs have recently marred the landscape on many of the main roads in Marin and Solano counties. Oddly enough they are the only candidate signs that I have seen in number. This is hardly highway beautification. This dichotomy between rhetoric and practice strikes me as most hypocritical, and leads me to thing that Mr. Behr's campaign like his automobile is propelled by pure gas.

Reasons To Keep Dogs At Home

I read the letter in the I-J by Mrs. Nan Street Fowler. And again someone sounded off without thinking. First of all some people don't like dogs, the mess they make and the barking. And I think I would be a little upset if someone got killed trying to dodge my dog while it was lying in the middle of the street, and what if someone had to take the anti-rabies shots because they couldn't find the dog that had bitten? Sure I like dogs but they should be at home, not roaming around on the streets.

FRED THOMAS

Dog Owners Defy Law, Shrug Blame

I have just been through a nightmarish experience, and after reading Nan Street Fowler's letter ("Readers Say," April 13), I am furious.

We have a female dog. . .Our dog was chained up in a totally fenced yard and kept in the house at night. . .We tied our gates with cord with wire interior, rope, belts, wires, and anything else we could get our hands on. These were chewed away daily by the local male "suitors," our plants were broken, a neighbor's child bitten, a sofa urinated on, garbage strewn about, an endless amount of dung in the yard, a dog fight. . .and altercation with one dog owner whose dogs "couldn't possibly be responsible for all of this". . .

What reaction did I get to all of this? (1) Keep your female in the house! The last time we did just that (and) it was my daughter who was bitten when she tried to enter her own yard. (2) Board her out! Who wants to pay the bill? (3) Have her spayed. Again, who wants to pay the bill?. . .(4) It's only nature! Well! Whoopee!. . .We have a leash law in this city, and these well meaning people with such well behaved animals will not only not obey this law but will not even acknowledge its existence. If they had, I would not have had this difficulty. . .

And who is to blame for all this? Not the animal owner who fails to control his pet, but owners of female animals who, whether or not their animals are confined, fail to spay them. Something is wrong with that logic! . . .

Organic Gardening Backs Earth Day

Wonder how many of the Independent-Journal readers are also Organic Gardening magazine readers. I am a reader of both, and I do hope your newspaper will give attention to the April 22—Earth Day—which is written about in the April issue of the magazine.

This ecology bit is really great.

Must confess it is nothing new to me as a former 4-H-er, Girl Scout leader, captain of the grammar school paper drive, and one raised by wise grandparents in the city and on a farm during the depression.

Would be great if a course in Respectology would be taught right along with the ecology bit, from the kindergarten level straight through to the college heights.

I'll find time that day to do something for this Good Earth, after all, Thank God I live on it in our land called Land Beautiful.

THE DRUMMONDS

Nixon Needs To Heal Wounds Caused By Nominee Rejections

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — It would badly hurt the country if President Nixon falls into a partisan fued with Congress because the Senate voted against two of his Supreme Court nominees.

We believe he will avoid such an ill-timed and unprofitable confrontation — and he will be wise to do so.

The prospects are that Mr. Nixon and the most responsible leaders of the Senate in both parties will act to pick up the broken glass and broken relationship which resulted from the double rebuff. To do otherwise would mean that the President and the Congress would head into a dead-end where everything worthy and urgent which each wants to do for the nation would be imperiled.

THAT'S NOT good enough. Indeed, it would be bad enough to tempt many people to believe that our political system is so badly fouled up that something very drastic — perhaps dangerously drastic — must be done.

After his slashing criticism of the Senate for, in his view, unfairly rejecting Judge Haynsworth and Judge Carswell, the President has every incentive of responsible duty and practical politics to invoke the spirit of the Taft-Hartley Act for a cooling-off period and to cultivate reconciliation.

It is likely that events will move in that direction.

THOSE WHO ADHERE to the double standard of political judgment — that liberals are worthily motivated and conservatives are partisanly motivated — seek to leave the impression that all the politics behind the Haynsworth-Carswell nominations was with President Nixon and all the virtue with those who voted no.

Untrue. To get at the core of the truth it is important to cut through the layers of political posing on both sides.

Consider this question. Would the U. S. Senate, as presently constituted, reject a northern liberal mediocrity if Richard Nixon had nominated one? We doubt it, and we think that most Washington reporters who know the Senate would agree. But the Senate did exactly that in reverse. It rejected an undistinguished judge who was a southern conservative, and while there were mixed motives, most of the no-voters avowed that their real reason was that Carswell was mediocre.

THE TRUTH, privately admitted, is that a considerable bloc of anti-Carswell votes came from senators who would oppose any southern conservative for the court, and a substantial bloc of yes votes came from senators who would favor a southern conservative jurist whatever his qualifications.

President Nixon is wrong in asserting that the present Senate showed it would never confirm a southern strict constructionist of high judicial quality. Such a nominee would certainly win the key Republican votes which decided the balance against Carswell.

But Mr. Nixon's exaggerated contention was within the political rules. It was designed to retrieve some political dividends among southern voters, whom he urgently, and for good reasons, wants to wean away from George Wallace.

RICHARD NIXON'S announced decision to name a non-southern moderate for the Supreme Court is a sound one. It removes the danger of another lacerating controversy, and it leaves open to him the opportunity to nominate an appropriate southerner when the next vacancy arises.

We doubt that Mr. Nixon will try to make the Haynsworth-Carswell rebuffs a senatorial campaign issue this fall. Too many Republicans voted against them to make it an effective issue, and anything which makes it substantially more difficult for the President and Congress to work together is hurtful, bordering on the dangerous.

The country needs the President and Congress working together co-operatively. The peril of stalemate on domestic problems — race, education, environment, crime, inflation — could become disaster if the process of government action grinds to a halt.

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Hope, But No Optimism, As Arms Talks Resume

By STEWART HENSLEY UPI Diplomatic Reporter

Washington (UPI) —As the United States and Russia resume their grim dialogue on nuclear disarmament, each side professes to be negotiating in "good faith." But neither has expressed any optimism concerning the outcome.

The objective of the strategic arms limitation talks (SALT), opening Thursday in Vienna, is an agreement to limit and possibly reduce the awesome arsenals of nuclear weapons. Mutual suspicion and basic political conflicts at various points around the world are the major bars to such an agreement.

On the positive side, however, Moscow and Washington have been drawn to the conference table by a common desire to lessen the possibility of eventual annihiliation. Short of this, there is also a pressing need in both countries to halt the fantastically costly arms race in order to finance urgently needed domestic programs.

President Nixon naturally has not disclosed the negotiating instructions he gave Gerard C. Smith, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency who heads the American delegation to the SALT talks. All the evidence here, however, is that the United States will follow a very cautious approach, attempting to deal with individual parts of the problem instead of proposing an over-all plan at the outset of the talks.

This is likely to be the Russian approach, too. American officials say the Russian attitude at the exploratory SALT talks late last year in Helsinki was businesslike and devoid of propaganda.

Nixon has been under pressure by numerous senators to propose some sort of general freeze on further Soviet and American deployment of missiles at the outset of the Vienna talks.

There is no evidence he has instructed Smith to put forward such a suggestion as a formal proposal.

The conflicting advice and pressures on Nixon are assumed to be representative of similar differences of opinion within the Soviet Politiburo, since Russia has always had its own dispute between those who wanted maximum military strength and those who urged diversion of more resources to consumer goods.

In effect, the SALT talks represent the efforts of politicians and diplomats of both countries to catch up with the technologists, who continue to devise increasingly expensive and devastating weapons systems.

The problem is to find a formula which leaves neither side with a decisive advantage and contains sufficient enforcement provisions to reduce chances of cheating to a minimum.

The negotiations are expected to be lengthy and arduous and nobody in Washington is willing to predict even partial success at this time.

Smooth-Running Team Shows How To Get Things Accomplished

Mill Valley City Councilmen Edward J. Boessenecker, who was reelected Tuesday, and Robert H. Andresen may not always agree on matters before the council, but when they work together they probably comprise one of the smoothest teams in the county.

In the space of six minutes at the April 6 council meeting, Andresen moved, Boessenecker seconded and the council passed resolutions and ordinances setting rules for the municipal golf course, rezoning a parcel of land, giving the city power to abate certain nuisances, and assessing a company for storm damage.

The quick work brought an admiring comment from retiring Mayor Dean N. Meyer: "This is a good example of efficient government in action."

THE MAYOR finally got before the council a campaign promise he made four years ago—annexation of the Strawberry Shopping Center and surrounding area.

On Monday, the night before the election in which Jean S. Barnard was chosen to replace him, Meyer opened another round in a four-year feud with Tiburon over the area east of Highway 101.

At his request the council voted 3-1 to direct the city manager to ask the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission to allow the city to absorb the 110-acre parcel.

Ironically, the mayor will not be on the council when the matter is brought to a conclusion, but Andresen, who voted against the annexation, still will be around.

Andresen made it clear that he did not oppose the annexation itself, but didn't want to spend bond money to extend sewer lines into the area, as the remaining members of the council voted to do.

"That money came from the rest of Mill Valley's citizens," Andresen said, "and it should not be spent for something that will not benefit those who are paying for it."

Observers said Meyer wanted to "go out with a bang," and action on the annexation and the approval several weeks ago of the 701 planning program enabled him to do just that.

THOUGH MILL VALLEY reportedly has but four black families, color definitely is a problem here. But it's not skin color but paint color that is causing ripples at city hall.

Last month two residents got up at a city council meeting and good-naturedly asked Mayor Meyer if the newly renovated recreation center at Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue had been painted with primer coats or whether the building always was going to be bright red and orange with blue trim.

Meyer replied that those colors were the permanent ones and furthermore that the color scheme had been picked by a professional color consultant under direction of the architectural advisory committee.

"I approve of the colors myself," Meyer said. "You either like them or you don't."

Last Monday's council meeting heard a complaint of a similar stripe: Rev. George Caxoer of the Methodist Church of Mill Valley complained in a letter to the council about the bright yellow lamp posts along Sycamore Avenue near the church.

Again someone from the audience asked if this was a primer coat, and once again Meyer had to tell him that the almost fluorescent yellow was the permanent color.

Time To Halt Moon Ventures While We Tidy Up Our Planet

Fusselman

What follows is not what I had planned. I think though it will help us all to spend some time considering this and what is transpiring as I write.

This column on Jan. 3, 1969 — the heading: "Why Quibble Over Brasilia When Our Men Fly To The Moon?"

"Sunrise in the Pacific! Could there ever be another so welcome—another watched with such joyful eagerness by so many missions.

Our prayers had been answered. Those three courageous men were down, floating on the waters. We had followed their voices and those of the ground control at Houston as they descended in the darkness. Now we wanted to see them—to see the men who had read to us passages from the Old Testament, from way out in the endless realm of space and were heard by us all as if they were just over there a bit in the garden or coming up the path. Could any people be more proud of their country—more proud of the nation whose ship and its men were shown to us on the screen in our own living rooms, and by way of a satellite, from way across the ocean, as we watched the horizon emerge from the darkness and the first trace of the new dawn developing into a sunrise over the ocean?

THERE WERE the men of the carrier's crew in their whites eagerly watching as were we—the helicopters appearing on the skyline, hurrying about like low-flying birds. Finally they came closer and closer until one landed on the runway of the Yorktown, its rotors slowing to a stop and there were our men, the three of them, waving to the cheering crew below. They came walking briskly across the deck as if they had just been around the block for their morning constitutional, instead of what might have been eternity. What a breathtaking sight!

HOWEVER, tonight, as I sit here writing, knowing that the Apollo 12 landing on the moon has given the scientists material to work and ponder over for many a decade and that we can send unmanned vehicles to the moon at will, it wonders me as I am sure it must wonder many of you.

Our hearts are heavy as we silently pray that the remaining rockets will function and so prevent these three men of ours from missing the earth by the 50 or a hundred miles that has been calculated. And these hearts of ours go out to the wives and families, who would carry such everlasting sadness of knowing that their loved ones had come to such an end.

My friends, even though splashdown should be wonderfully successful, it seems to me that it is time for a recess, while we tidy up our own planet. There is a lot to be done. The brains that have been working on this program are just the ones for the new job so urgently needed.

May this be a Good Friday!

Collegians Planning To Grade Teachers

The student government at College of Marin has agreed to set up a teacher grading system.

The Executive Council has named Samantha Keefe, freshman women's representative, chairman of a teacher evaluation committee, Nancy Oliva, public relations chairman, reported yesterday.

The committee is to prepare evaluation sheets to be given all teachers for distribution in classes. Students are to fill them out at semester's end, and the results will be compiled in a students' "teacher handbook," giving student views of teachers' teaching abilities.

The council also agreed to help support a proposed student-sponsored series of films on controversial subjects, such as the Vietnam war, pollution, overpopulation and the cold war.

Three members of "The Combinations," an improvisational theater group, outlined a proposal to perform on the campus in the near future, but the council took no action.

Civic Center Candy Stand Now Open

A candy-tobacco stand opened up this week in Lobby No. 1 of the new Hall of Justice, on the ground floor near the middle archway at the Civic Center.

The vending stand is operated by Julius Jacob of San Rafael, who was picked by the State Department of Vocational Rehabilitation from among four applicants.

Among items on sale are newspapers, tobacco products, candy and gum, cookies, greeting cards, minor drug items, hosiery and other sundries. The store is open from 7.30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Jacob, who is blind, operated similar stands in the Federal Building and the Education Building in Sacramento for 10 years before taking over the store in the Marin Hall of Justice.

"Please come around and say hello," said Jacob. "It gets pretty lonely out here. I guess many people don't know about the new store."

Hub Youth Ask Cooperation On Library Use

The San Anselmo Youth Commission wants the city and county to enter into a joint agreement covering library use.

According to chairman Jerry Suyderhoud, the commission, in a unanimous resolution Wednesday called for getting the two library systems together to provide additional books for use by San Anselmo residents on a free basis.

Suyderhoud said it costs $5 for San Anselmo residents to acquire a county library card, but the city's is free.

The resolution will be presented at the next city council meeting.

The commission also came up with a $100 budget proposal to submit to the council.

"We are asking for only $100 now," Suyderhoud said, "because we still have to ask how much they can afford to give us."

"We don't want to ask for too much," he added.

The next commission meeting will be April 29 at 8 p.m. at the city hall.

Mental Staff Vacancies Eyed

The Marin Mental Health Advisory Board concerned over staff vacancies in mental health services in the county has asked for a report on unfilled positions at its next meeting.

The board requesting Dr. Donald P. Wilson, director, and Asst. Director J. Jay Shinohara, of Community Mental Health Center, to present the report at the May 20 meeting at 8 p.m. in the Coral Room at Marin General Hospital.

The board asked for a report on recruiting procedures as well, chairman Peter W. Palmer said.

The board also postponed indefinitely tuesday's meeting with the Marin County Board of Supervisors so that additional planning data may be obtained.

Marin Youth Indicted On Draft Count

I-J SpecialReport

SAN FRANCISCO — Another Marin youth was indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday for refusing induction into the Army March 17 in Oakland.

Chris D. Ghilotti of 90 Grande Paseo, San Rafael, has been sent a letter ordering him to appear at 10 a.m. May 4 in U. S. District Court.

Two other Marin men who refused induction March 17 were indicted April 8. Robert E. Lopez of Sleepy Hollow is to appear in court Wednesday and Leland H. Jones of Corte Madera is to appear Tuesday.

The indictments are part of a promised speedup of prosecution of draft refusers to clear the courts of the cases. Until recently four or five months elapsed between refusal and indictment.

Ghilotti was one of 13 from the Bay Area indicted yesterday, seven who refused induction March 24, three on March 17 and three from 1969.

Maximum penalty for draft refusal is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Fischer Quints Attend School

ABERDEEN, S. Dakota (AP) — The Fischer quintuplets are now school kids.

In kindergarten at a rural school northwest of town are Mary Ann, Mary Margaret, Mary Magdalene, Mary Catharine and James Andrew. They reached their sixth birthday last September 14.

Cindy, 5, the quintuplets' sister, is also in the class of 17 youngsters.

The six started in kindergarten without fanfare. It had been anticipated they would go last fall, but the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer, decided against that.

The father, a $76 a week wholesale grocery clerk at the time of the quintuplets birth, is now a farmer-rancher.

Thrilling Splashdown After Perilous Journey

The World Cheers Pinpoint Landing

ABOARD USS IWO JIMA (AP) — Apollo 13's astronauts blazed back safely to their home planet today in a thrilling climax to America's most perilous journey. They quickly were hoisted aboard this recovery carrier in apparently good shape.

While an anxious world cheered the end of the flight, James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. rode their command ship Odyssey to a bull's-eye landing at 10:08 a.m., (PST) just four miles from this recovery carrier.

A helicopter plucked them from their bobbing spacecraft and deposited them on the deck of the Iwo Jima just 54 minutes after splashdown.

"I feel just fine," commander Lovell, making his fourth and last space flight, reported as the chopper ferried the trio towards the carrier.

The spacecraft landed close enough for television cameras aboard the ship and a helicopter to relay dramatic pictures as Odyssey broke through a cloud layer 2,000 feet high. The command module dangled under three huge orange and white parachutes.

Hundreds of sailors on the deck cheered and clapped as the astronauts splashed down in warm, rolling waters.

They cheered again when the helicopter touched on the deck and Lovell, Haise and Swigert stepped onto a red carpet. The men were bearded, and they walked slowly, steadily as they emerged.

Fleet commander Adm. Donald Davis welcomed them aboard with, "We're glad you made it boys."

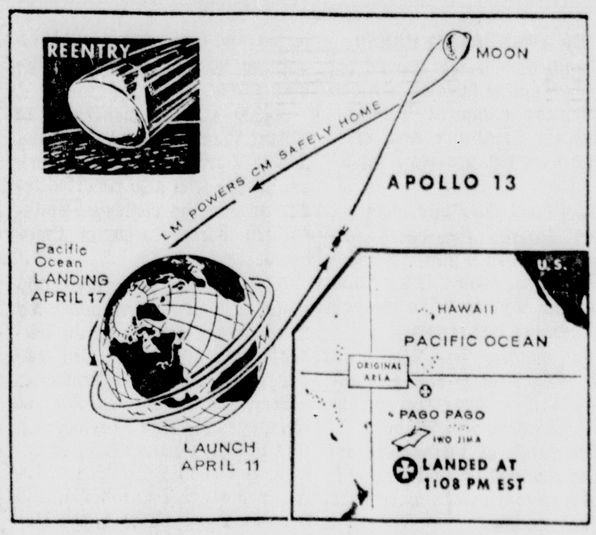
The ship's chaplain offered a prayer which concluded: "We offer a humble thanksgiving for their safe return."

Lovell spoke a few inaudible words to Admiral Davis and to photographers.

Following the welcoming ceremony, all three spacemen went below decks for a medical examination, showers and a hot meal.

They expected within a short time to speak by radiotelephone with President Nixon and with their families.

Nixon sent a message to Mission Control, congratulating it for the skillful manner in which it brought the troubled Apollo 13 back to earth.



APOLLO 13'S RE-ENTRY PATTERN

(UPI Telephoto drawing)

"We show you on the screen. You're looking great," Mission Control in Houston radioed as relieved, back-slapping officials observed the landing on a large TV screen in the control center.

The safe touchdown was a mighty relief for the millions who watched and worried after trouble developed Monday night. An oyxgen tank exploded then ruining the command's oxygen and power supplies.

That forced the astronauts to abandon man's third moon landing attempt and to turn to the lunar module systems as they fought for survival for four days.

Copter Hovers Over Capsule

A helicopter hovered over the bobbing capsule within minutes, and the first frogman was in the water 10 minutes after splashdown.

A flotation collar was placed around the spaceship.

Touchdown came after Apollo 13 slammed into the atmosphere 76 miles above the Pacific at 24,636 miles an hour.

The thickening atmosphere blistered the heat shield with temperatures up to 5,000 degrees and quickly slowed the Odyssey. Three 83.5-foot diameter parachutes unfurled at 10,000 feet to drop the craft into warm Pacific waters at 22 m.p.h.

The six-ton command ship Odyssey, disabled most of the journey, was the only section of the original 101,000-pound Apollo 13 ship to return to earth.

Earlier today they discarded the lunar module that had kept them alive and the service module where the oxygen explosion occurred.

Module Severely Damaged

When they backed away from the service module, they discovered it was severely damaged, with one whole side ripped away.

The view was frightening. The damage was severe.

"There's one whole side of that spacecraft missing . . . It's really a mess," Lovell exclaimed.

An hour before Odyssey hit the atmosphere, the astronauts jettisoned their faithful lunar module.

"Farewell, Acquarius, and we thank you," Mission Control paid tribute to the sturdy lunar vehicle.

"She was a good ship," said Lovell.

The successful landing climaxed a flurry of activity in the final hours of the abortive mission.

Side Of Spacecraft Missing

The condition of the service module, where the Monday rupture occurred, provided a big surprise.

"There is one whole side of that spacecraft missing . . . almost from the base to the engine," Lovell reported excitedly.

"There's a dark brown streak down the side. It's really a mess."

He said one whole panel, 22 feet long, and part of the engine bell were missing.

"Looks like a lot of debris is just hanging off the side," Lovell said. "It's near the S-Band antenna."

The service module contained most of the long-life oxygen and electrical power for the Apollo 13 command ship.

The explosion Monday night rendered the command vehicle useless until today when power was restored with batteries.

The astronauts discarded the battered service module to expose the command ship heat shield and protect them during the blistering re-entry through the atmosphere.

"Man, that's unbelievable," Mission Control said of the damage description.

Earlier Swigert slipped into the command ship to start the batteries and oxygen system. These oper-

Watchdog Says No On Richardson Bay

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin County's controversial "specific plan" for development of Richardson Bay was sentenced to death yesterday.

The execution by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission was postponed to give the county's planning staff time to comment on a devastating critique of the plan by the BCDC's staff, but there was little doubt about the outcome.

Joseph E. Bodovitz, executive director of the BCDC, declared the county's plan "so completely at variance with so many key policies of the commission's bay plan as to be thoroughly unacceptable in its present form."

Bodovitz took strong exception to the plan's provisions for high-rise buildings up to 12 stories, and for allowing each property owner to fill up to 40 per cent of his open water. He also criticized the plan for its silence on what would be done about the already massive pollution in Richardson Bay.

The commission, with rare exceptions, has upheld staff recommendations. A vote was set for 1:30 p.m. on May 7 in Room 1194 of the State Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue.

Few commissioners commented on Bodovitz's recommendation that the plan be rejected but those few, who did, called for an immediate vote. But vice chairman William D. Evers held out for three weeks to give the county time to comment and commissioners more time to digest the recommendation.

Yesterday was the fourth time commissioners had the plan before them. Bodovitz noted that more correspondence had been received on the plan than on any other matter in the commission's five years.

The total was 114 letters, postcards and telegrams in support of the plan, and 609 opposed. Its critics have concentrated on fill and high-rise provisions, and its defenders have maintained the plan was the last chance for rational development of the narrow bay, development they said was needed to finance dredging to keep it from choking with mud.

Bodovitz, however, noted that an 1859 survey of Richardson Bay found just about as much mud as today, with mid-bay depths generally one foot at mean lower low water.

Bodovitz said that unified development offered greater "options for ingenuity in design and development," but conceded it was unlikely unless owners could combine, either by selling to one individual or by forming a joint development corporation, or unless the county redeveloped the area.

If each parcel were developed separately, but in accord with the commission's bay plan, possibilities would include marinas, facilities for houseboats and "a few acres" of fill for small, water-oriented motels or boatels, restaurants, shopping areas, and a public way to connect Sausalito and Mill Valley, he said.

Bodovitz's report also apparently doomed, at least

Sausalito Schools 'Sick-Out' Spreads; Classes Continue

A "sick-out" by employees of the Sausalito School District to protest recent decisions by the district board of trustees appeared to be spreading slightly in its second day today, with most of the district's black employees absent.

Most of the absent teachers had been replaced by substitutes, according to District Superintendent Phillip W. Schneider, who said there was some doubling up of classes in Central, Manzanita and Martin Luther King schools.

Schneider said King School would again hold a minimum day today, letting students go at 1:30 p.m. The other three schools were to remain open until the regular closing time of 2:50 p.m.

Schneider said he thought student absenteeism at the district's four schools was 'probably more than normal," but could give no exact figures.

Central School Principal Robert E. Lea reported three of the school's teachers who were at work yesterday had called in sick today: Judy Feinglass, Helena Richardson and reading specialist Mary Davis.

Two more teachers at Manzanita School in Marin City, Doris Grant and Gail Dobie, were gone today, joining Helena Brown, who did not attend her classes yesterday, according to Principal Robert D. Thompson.

All five credentialed teachers at Bayside School were present, Margaret Muldary, lead teacher, reported, but three teacher aides and James Morgan, playground supervisor and art teacher, were absent.

The same 12 out of 26 teachers at King School who called in sick yesterday remained out today, according to Schneider, who was attempting to fill a triple role of district administrator, principal and office manager at King today.

Also absent from the schools were most teacher aides, central community worker Gabe Jackson, counselor Harvey Pearlman and a number of custodial and clerical personnel.

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that black cafeteria workers were

Berkeley Campus Suspends SDS

BERKELEY (AP) — The Berkeley campus Students for a Democratic Society was placed under interim suspension today following two days of destructive rampage on the University of California campus.

(See other stories, page 9.)

SDS was charged with "activities which threatened or endangered the health and safety of persons on the campus and the property of the university."

The suspension bars the militant student group from holding meetings or using campus facilities.

Nixon Sets Apollo Prayer Day

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon telephoned the families of the Apollo 13 astronauts shortly after their splashdown Friday and proclaimed Sunday as a national day of prayer and thanksgiving for their safe return.

"The imperiled flight and safe return of the crew of Apollo 13 were events that humbled and inspired people all over the world," Nixon said in his proclamation.

"We were humbled by the knowledge that in this stage of man's exploration of space, a safe splashdown of an imperiled mission is in its way as successful as a landing on and a safe return from the moon."

Nixon watched the splashdown from a special briefing room set up in an office adjacent to his White House office. Two former astronauts, Michael Collins, who is now an assistant secretary of state, and William Anders, executive director of the National Space Council, were with him.

The safe return of astronauts James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. "is a tribute to their own courage and also to the ingenuity and resourcefulness of those on the ground who helped transform potential tragedy into a heart-stopping rescue," the President said.

"To the astronauts, a relieved nation says 'welcome home.' To them and to those on the ground who did so magnificent a job of guiding Apollo 13 safely back from the edge of eternity, a grateful nation says 'well done.'"

Nixon told Lovell's wife, Marilyn, by telephone that "we're proud of the men and we're proud of you. It took great men to do this and it took great women to back them up."

Nixon reminded Mrs. Lovell that she had assured him in an earlier conversation of her faith that the astronauts would survive their mission. "You had that faith and things turned out fine," he said.

To Mary Haise, he said the astronauts had "been an example for us all" and assured her that "everyone in the world and in the country is pleased with the safe return."

The President spoke to the mother of Swigert, who is not married. He also talked to Dr. Thomas O. Paine, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, who told him that "everybody is smiling in Houston."

"Everyone is smiling here too," the President said, terming the space team's efforts a "marvelous achievement."

"When things go badly and an organization responds as NASA did, it shows that organization has what it takes," Nixon said.

His proclamation asked all the people in the world to join in offering prayers of grateful thanks.

Executives
WHY COMMUTE?
To be specific about it. You have to devote at least an hour and a half a day to commuting. That "costs" you 33 hours a month or practically a whole work week. In contrast, a Marin location would save you, on the average, two-thirds of that time and relieve you of lengthy congestion battles.
Two other advantages — modern air-conditioned office space in Marin is available at 25c to 50c per sq. ft. and, you'll probably find that employee turnover is somewhat less.
The Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, 824 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael (454-2520) will assist you in making the change — confidentially, of course.

FAA Medical Panel Puts Bailey In 'Goliath' Role

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration used three of its medical officers to assess the tactics and motives of F. Lee Bailey, leader of the recent air controllers' strike, the New York Times said today.

After going over an outline of Bailey's childhood and observing him in public, the medical panel reported that the Boston lawyer's primary motivation was a need "to destroy authority," the Times said.

The report by the doctors, including a staff psychiatrist, was used as the basis for determining strategy used by FAA Administrator John H. Shaffer in the labor dispute, the newspaper said.

Asked to comment, Bailey was quoted as saying, "Casual observations of that sort—from a doctor who's never interviewed me, never taken any psychological tests on me and probably doesn't know my I.Q. —are grossly unethical."

The doctors said their findings had little, if any, scientific authority, the newspaper said. "This isn't psychiatry. It's a psychiatrist's attempt to assessing an adversary," one was quoted as saying.

The Times quoted one doctor's assessment of Bailey as: "He's a headhunter. He collects heads. He's a young rebel, a David. His role in life is to slay Goliaths."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Bows To Demands

MUNICH (AP) — The Roman Catholic archbishop of Munich, Julius Cardinal Doepfner, today gave his backing to Jewish demands for revision of the Oberammergau Passion Play.

A statement from the cardinal's office said he favors "greater reform concerning text and style" of the play to eliminate passages and references called anti-Semitic by leading foreign Jewish groups.

The Passion Play is given at the start of each decade in the little Bavarian Alpine village. This year it begins May 16, and the cardinal announced previously he would open the season with a Mass before the first performance.

His statement said this "in no way means that the cardinal is completely satisfied with all the details of the religious folk play.

Seizes Gunboat

CHERBOURG, France (AP) — The French navy has seized a gunboat, built in Cherbourg for the Spanish customs service, to insure that it won't end up in Israel, informed sources said today.

The sources said the government two months ago embargoed delivery of the fast 104-foot armed patrol boat because the Spanish would not give a firm assurance that they would not resell the boat to another nation. The French navy took over the vessel.

The boat was built by Construction Mecaniques de Normandie, which built the five gunboats that broke the embargo on arms to Israel last Christmas morning.

Nixon Arms Plan

NEW YORK (AP) —President Nixon has directed the U.S. delegation to the strategic arms limitation talks — SALT — to offer the Soviet Union a comprehensive limitation on strategic weapons, the New York Times reports.

Quoting administration and congressional sources, the newspaper said in today's edition that the Predisent outlined his negotiating position Thursday at a White House briefing of congressional leaders.

The SALT talks opened Thursday in Vienna. The Times also said:

The comprehensive limitation plan was said to have been decided on in place of more cautious, weapon-by-weapon limitation proposals reportedly advocated by the Pentagon.

New Landslides

SALLANCHES, France (AP) —More landslides today endangered workers sifting the debris of the avalanche that killed 72 persons at a children's tuberculosis sanatorium Thursday and mounting skepticism greeted an official judgment that the avalanche was unforeseeable.

Teams working through the night under floodlights dug out more bodies of victims. By midmorning 42 corpses had been recovered from the thousands of tons of rock, earth and snow that crashed down on the hospital from a mountain called the Roc des Fiz.

Thursday night and again this morning work was halted by new slides of earth and rock.

To Stay Impounded

BOSTON (AP) — The transcript of testimony and the judge's report in the Mary Jo Kopechne inquest will stay impounded in the Suffolk Superior Courthouse for at least the next few days.

Clerk Edward V. Keating, in whose care the secret documents were placed, said Thursday they will not be made public before next Tuesday.

The court was set to release the documents Wednesday but a suit by Sidney R. Lipman, who was official court stenographer last January at the inquest in Edgartown, forced a delay.

Lipman claims he has the sole right under past court practice to prepare copies to sell to news agencies. His price is $802.20 a copy.

Cambodian Troops Open Fire On Viet Citizens

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cambodian troops opened fire on Vietnamese huddled in a concentration camp at Takeo in southern Cambodia and killed more than 100, survivors reported today.

They said the Cambodian soldiers entered the camp four times between 8 p.m. Thursday and 5 a.m. today. They "shot and shot and shot," a weeping Vietnamese boy reported.

The incident was similar to one at Prasaut in eastern Cambodia last week, when at least 73 Vietnamese were slain.

Thousands of Vietnamese are being rounded up and placed in concentration camps as suspected subversives.

By conservative estimate, more than 500 bullet-riddled bodies of Vietnamese civilians have been seen floating in the Mekong River.

Military officers in Phnom Penh say the bodies may be the victims of the Wrath of Cambodian peasants, aroused because of the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese attacks on the Cambodian army.

Considerable maneuvering of North Vietnamese, Viet Cong, South Vietnamese and American troops was also reported today around the contested southeastern border area of Cambodia.

The Cambodian army command said Communist-led troops made attacks at the border towns of Phnom Den and Ton Leap, in Takeo Province; burned an army outpost at Kempey, in Mimot Province; inflicted light casualties in an attack at Krach Bary, near Kratie, in northeast Cambodia, and fierd at a navy boat in the Mekong River, also causing light casualties.

The Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese now threaten most of southeast Cambodia and control the bulk of the Parrot's Beak, territory that juts into South Vietnam.

A battalion from the U.S. 25th Infantry Division has moved into the Vietnamese side of the border region to relieve South Vietnamese troops which have operated as deep as 10 miles inside Cambodian territory.

The task force—more than 2,000 South Vietnamese troops and hundreds of tanks and armored personnel carriers—has been fighting inside Cambodia in recent days, supported by jets and prop planes.

Only light and scattered aciton was reported from the battlefields in South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command said there also were 22 rocket and mortar attacks during the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today, but only seven caused casualties or damage.

The Cambodian government this week officially asked the United States for arms to supply its 35,000-man army, which it is rapidly expanding to meet the threat of the estimated 54,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops on its territory.

Walkouts In Truck Fuss Are Climbing

By UP INTERNATIONAL

Layoffs spread to new industries and the economic toll mounted today as 70,000 truck drivers stayed off the job again. Violence also mounted.

A car belonging to a teamsters mechanic was bombed in Dearborn Heights, Mich., a suburb of Detroit, Thursday and vandalism accompanied wildcat strikes in northeastern Ohio.

A 30-truck caravan was met at Richfield, Ohio, by 150 men who smashed every truck window with bricks and bottles, crippling the caravan.

Many of the 6,000 striking drivers in Cleveland returned to work Thursday but refused to drive their rigs. A trucking company owner said, "they're absolutely afraid of going out."

Akron, Ohio, police reported windows were shot out of the doors of two trucking companies Thursday.

House Votes Welfare Bill; Nixon Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has handed President Nixon a major victory by passing his far-reaching welfare reform package, but the administration faces a strong effort in the Senate to raise the assured family income over $1,600.

Several senators already have served notice they will try to hike the benefits despite the cost. The final floor showdown may come in June.

By a 243-155 vote that crisscrossed party lines, the House Thursday sent the measure to the Senate. Both Republican and Democratic leaders supported it, but conservatives in both parties—and a few liberals who wanted more generous provisions—were lined up in opposition.

The measure provides a $1,600 federally assured income for a family of four and increases the roll of eligible persons by an estimated 13 million, mostly the working poor and their families.

It requires adult beneficiaries to register for job training and assignment. The federal government would assume a greater share of the cost and administration.

The aged, blind and disabled would be assured $110 a month.

By official estimates, the bill would cost $4.4 billion—but opponents said the cost will turn out as much as three times that figure.

In the Senate, several members have tipped their hand on proposed amendments changing the benefits.

Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., has proposed an initial family floor of $2,520, rising by stages to $3,600.

Sen. Charles L. Goodell, R-N.Y., advocates a $3,800 floor.

Others, however, may attempt to trim the bill. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has termed the cost estimate hopelessly inadequate and said the work incentive provsiions are no improvement over present law.

Tiburon Council Orders A Recount

Tiburon City Council last night, after a short delay to insure legality, called for a recount of the balloting in Tuesday's municipal election.

The recount was requested by Alvin R. Kuhn, who finished two votes behind M. Carlisle Becker in a race for the third seat on the council, according to the unofficial tally.

The council appeared to be on its way to ordering the recount, when Becker objected to the wording of Kuhn's request.

Kuhn has said he was requesting a recount because of the possibility of an "error, mistake or miscount." Becker felt the wording fell short of the legal requirement that the person seeking a recount allege there was an "error, mistake or miscount."

Becker said he was not opposing the intent of the request, but taking issue with the wording.

Kuhn wrote he was seeking the recount so that the uncertainty be removed, and Mayor Branwell D. Fanning felt that this would also be to Becker's advantage.

Councilman Denis T. Rice said he would be unwilling to vote for a recount if Becker felt "the form" of Kuhn's letter didn't meet requirements.

At that point, the council decided to call a recess and get in touch with Kuhn, who wasn't present for a more definite statement.

About 15 minutes later the council got a new and satisfactory statement from Kuhn.

The council then called for the recount, and announced that it would start at 9 a.m. Monday at city hall and be open to candidates, their representatives and the public.

Kuhn posted $80 to cover the cost of the recount, and if he is still a loser, he also loses the $80.

The council appointed Vivienne Winblad, Alice Oldag, Mary Estudillo and Elizabeth Talbot, who had worked at polls Tuesday as the recount board.

A proposed discussion about Mill Valley bid to annex the Strawberry Town and Village shopping center, was put off until 8 p.m. Tuesday. The council adjourned until then.

Tribunal Upholds Key Route Into Marincello

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—The State Supreme Court by a 4-3 vote yesterday upheld a Marin Superior Court ruling denying a referendum petition on a key access road to Marincello.

It was a setback for the Golden Gate Headlands Committee which circulated the petition in 1966 in an effort to block the planned development of a city on the headlands, development presently at a standstill as a result of suits brought against each other by firms involved in the project.

Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson ruled in 1967 that he would accept the Marin County clerk's determination that 94 signatures on the petition were invalid.

Without the signatures the petition was 74 short of the required 6,090 and the committee appealed the judge's ruling.

In May 1969 the First District Court of Appeal overturned Judge Wilson's ruling, declaring that the judge should have made his own determination of the validity of the signatures.

The Supreme Court majority ruled that Judge Wilson didn't err in accepting Gnoss's determination and didn't err in refusing to allow the petitioners to produce evidence that the 94 signatures were genuine.

The justices also ruled that the county ordinance establishing the access road is subject to referendum.

After the petitions were filed, with 6,647 names, Gnoss ruled out 873 names, leaving only 5,774 qualified signatures, 316 short of the number required.

The committee petitioned the court to have "at least 316" of the signatures disqualified by Gnoss certified.

Judge Wilson restored 242 signatures, but this left the petition 74 short.

The headlands committee chose the Tennessee Valley access road ordinance as its target, feeling that to block it would be tantamount to blocking the entire project.

The petition sought a referendum to overturn the decision of the Marin County Board of Supervisors to approve the road.

Since then the program to build the $285 million planned city near Fort Cronkhite has bogged down in financial and legal problems.

Judge Wilson's ruling was that he had accepted Gnoss's determination that the 94 signatures were disqualified because of dissimilarities in handwriting with signatures on votr registration cards.

He said there was no evidence that Gnoss had been unreasonable or arbitrary in rejecting signatures.

The committee can either seek a rehearing before the State Supreme Court or take its appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Missing Coeds' Headless Bodies Found In East

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — A three-month search for two West Virginia University coeds has ended with the finding of their headless bodies.

The remains of Karen Ferrell of Quinwood and Mared Malarik of Kinnelon, N.J., both 19, were discovered by National Guardsmen and state police Thursday in a remote wooded area about 10 miles from the campus.

The bodies were found in a small ravine about 150 yards from a dirt road described by one resident of the area as a lovers' lane for college students. Authorities said one body was nude, the other clothed.

The girls had last been seen hitchhiking back to their dormitory the evening of Jan. 18 after seeing a movie in downtown Morgantown.

Two anonymous letters received recently by Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. suggested a search should be made in the general area south of here, triggering an intensive hunt by police, National Guardsmen and volunteer groups.

Thrilling Splashdown Ends Apollo Journey

ate from a separate system from the service module and are designed for use during re-entry.

Lovell and Haise fired the lunar craft's small jets for 23 seconds to zero in on the intended landing site 610 miles southeast of American Samoa.

"Right on the money," Mission Control said of the firing.

Before the burn, Apollo 13 was on a course that would have overshot the target by about 50 miles.

An hour after discarding the faithful lunar module, Apollo 13 slammed into the out limits of the atmosphere 76 miles above the Pacific like a speeding bullet. Their 24,636-mile-an-hour speed was slowed swiftly by the thickening atmosphere and forces nearly six times the force of gravity pressed the spacemen against their couches.

"Welcome home," Capsule Communicator Joe Kerwin said just before Apollo 13 hit the atmosphere.

During the hottest part of re-entry, with 5,000-degree heat blistering the heat shield, ionized gases enveloped the plummeting spaceship and blocked radio communications for three minutes.

"Okay, Joe," Swigert told Kerwin as Apollo 13 emerged from the blackout.

Five minutes before landing, three small parachutes popped out to stabilize the craft. Seconds later, at 10,000 feet, the three main chutes unfurled majestically and dropped Apollo 13 into the sea.

The astronauts are to spend the night aboard the Iwo Jima and fly to Samoa Saturday. They'll fly from there to Ellington Air Force Base, near the Space Center, with a scheduled arrival at 9 a.m. Sunday.

Former Marin Educator Retires

Dr. Wallace W. Hall, former Marin County superintendent of schools, will retire July 31 as superintendent-president of the West Valley College in Campbell, the college has announced.

Hall, superintendent in Marin from 1951-58, will be honored by the college at a public testimonial dinner on May 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Little New Yorker in Santa Clara.

Hall took over his position at the college in 1963 when it opened. Before that he was associate superintendent of public instruction and chief of the state Division of Higher Education.

Information on dinner reservations may be made at the college.

Additional Tire Damage Reported

Additional tire destruction in Marin came to light today with a report by Corte Madera police that three tires were discovered punctured yesterday at Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet, 5880 Paradise Drive.

The puncturing of the tires, apparently with an ice pick, according to police follows a rampage Tuesday night in which 123 tires were slashed at two Novato auto dealers' lots.

Campbell-Bishop, like those firms, has been warned not to advertise in the Independent-Journal during the strike by San Francisco Typographical Union 21 against the newspaper.

Campbell-Bishop has also had windows broken.

Collision Causes Injury, Arrest

A 40-year-old San Rafael man suffered a cut nose and was arrested on suspicion of drunken driving following a hit-run accident today, San Rafael police reported.

Booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $360 bail was Waldorf Keith Wallsten of 68 San Pedro Road. He was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

According to police the accident occurred at 2 a.m. at 182 Belvedere Street when Wallsten's car struck a parked car owned by Tololo Filipo of San Francisco.

A patrolman observing Wallstens' damaged car stopped him at 25 San Pedro Road minutes later. Filipo's damaged car was found a short time later after a police search.

Marin Suspects Hear Pot Charge

Two Marin men were scheduled to appear in Department 13 of San Francisco Municipal Court today as a result of their arrest Wednesday on narcotics charges.

Lee D. Malcolm, 26, of 1 Lincoln Road, Sausalito, and Henry R. Bayles, 26, of 14 Hillside Drive, Mill Valley, were arrested along with aSanFrancisco man, according to police, when they attempted to sell 500 pounds of marijuana to a San Francisco narcotics agent.

Malcolm was held at San Francisco City Prison on charges of possession of marijuana for sale and assaulting a policeman. Police said he tried to escape and was subdued.

Bayles was free on $1,250 bail after being charged with possession of marijuana for sale.

BAY

temporarily, plans pending before the county to develop Strawberry Cove.

"No development of any type should be permitted" in Richardson Bay until its effect on water quality is known, Bodovitz said. He noted that the only solution may be piping all sewage wastes out of Richardson Bay to the ocean, as is being considered by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board.

Bodovitz noted that the county plan said the 40 per cent fill was "the minimum necessary to provide an incentive for development." But Bodovitz objected that the county's plan "provides no information whatever to substantiate this statement."

Noting that the BCDC plan limited fill to the "minimum necessary," Bodovitz said that "to allow filling based on a formula, whether the formula is 40 per cent or 4 per cent, would be in violation of the bay plan. More important, reliance on formulas would allow much more of the bay to be filled than is necessary."

He also pointed out that "a substantial portion" of commercial recreation had to be on existing land under the BCDC bay plan. The county plan would allow up to 30.5 acres of new fill just for commercial recreation.

Bodovitz also questioned whether there was a market for 12-story hotels in the 185-acre planning area. He noted that the 11-story Le Baron Hotel near the waterfront in Burlingame contains 338 rooms, shops, restaurants, meeting favilities and parking for 461 cars — but took only 4.3 acres.

Enforcement of county codes would clean up the present conditions on the Sausalito Canal, he said, if fill were needed to finance the dredging, then it "should be deferred until other means of financing can be found."

In other business, commissioners received a report from Bodovitz that legislation has been introduced to delete from state plans proposed freeways on new bay fill between San Francisco and San Jose, and San Jose and Richmond.

Dr. Will Siri, president of the Save San Francisco Bay Association and former president of the Sierra Club, urged the commission's support of a moratorium conservationist are seeking on the State Water Project. The project's effects on ecology must be reevaluated, he said.

Palace's True Color

LONDON (UPI)—Thousands of tourist photographs show otherwise, but Buckingham Palace is really cream colored.

The palace has been getting its face washed for the first time in decades. And as the layers of London grime are scoured off by British government workmen—lo and behold—the brown old palace isn't brown at all.

Changes Made In Fairfax's Sign Ordinance

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night made a change in the proposed new sign ordinance that would benefit Fairfax's myriad small stores, according to commission vice president Hugh O. Winn.

He said the commission changed its proposal to allow one square foot of sign for each foot of frontage up to a maximum of 100 square feet instead of one square foot of sign for every four feet.

The old proposal discriminated against stores with only 20 or 30 feet of frontage Winn said.

The meeting was intended to be a public hearing on the sign ordinance of a proposed zoning ordinance, but no citizen bothered to come, according to Winn.

The zoning ordinance the planning commission is working on for presentation to the city council in about three months was also discussed.

Police Find 90 Kilos Of Weed

Somebody was put out of business last night when Fairfax police found 90 kilos of marijuana hidden in a secluded, wooded area on Manor Hill.

Police estimated the market value of the marijuana at $18,000.

Acting on a tip, Officer Paul Simpson went hiking into the woods at about 8:30 p.m. on what he said he thought at the time was a wild goose chase.

The 90 packages of the drug were neatly wrapped and stored in three army laundry bags, he said.

Simpson said the bags had apparently been hidden only yesterday.

Teen-Ager Denies Battery Charge

A Mill Valley man, arrested at a peace rally in San Francisco Wednesday, waived arraignment and pleaded not guilty yesterday in San Francisco Municipal Court to charges of battery, disturbing the peace and spitting on a policeman.

Jury trial was set for April 21 in department 15 for Mark Rasella, 18, of 81 Montford Avenue.

He remained in San Francisco City Prison today in lieu of $315 bail.

The center to be open Mondays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. will provide arts and crafts, open group discussion, games, exercise, dance groups and psychodrama.

TEACHERS

absent at King School; all were present.

King Principal Sidney F. Walton Jr. and Vice Principal James T. Tolliver Jr. remained absent today. Tolliver, contacted yesterday at his Bolinas home, said he was ill, suffering from a headache, severe nausea and "psychological depression." He disclaimed all knowledge of a strike.

Richard C. Godino, assistant county counsel who is looking into the legal implications of the absences, could not be reached to comment on whether the absent employees will be penalized. But Thomas G. Hendrix of the county council's office said in order to be paid for their time off, the employees will have to present doctor's certificates or proof they were actually ill.

Schneider said he felt the strike might end Monday, the date of a special school board meeting called to give teachers and the school community a chance to speak to the board about its recent decision to eliminate certain positions next year and to close Bayside School, shifting students to Central.

Things appeared quiet and relatively normal today at King School, hardest hit by the "sick-out," although small groups of black students who had come to school in hopes that Walton and Tolliver and their teachers would be back, left in disapointment when they discovered they were still absent.

Sidewalk Sale Plans Studied

Plans for a downtown sidewalk sale scheduled June 5-6 were discussed yesterday by the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce, reported office secretary Esther Squire.

The chamber discussed the possibility of closing part of San Anselmo Avenue during the outdoor sale.

Another meeting of merchants to promote downtown San Anselmo businesses — those on San Anselmo Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard — will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday in the meeting room of Ross Valley Savings and Loan.

Motel Sleeper's Wallet Is Stolen

A burglar stole a wallet from a sleeping salesman in the Edgewater Inn motel early today, Corte Madera police reported.

Police said Glenn M. Erickson of Westminster, Orange County, woke at 5:20 a.m. to see the rear door of his room closing. He leaped up and ran outside, but saw no one. He then found his wallet containing $65 and credit cards missing.

Police said the burglar apparently used a large screwdriver to pry the door lock, then slip open a chain latch.

BAGLEY DEFENDS TAX REFORM

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and chief shepherd of Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax reform package in the Legislature, tells newsmen that if the oil industry blocks changes in the oil depletion allowance it will throw the overall tax plan $10 million out of balance. He said he may have to recommend eliminating $10 million worth of tax exemptions proposed for senior citizens. (AP Wirephoto)

Pollution District Funds In Smog Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly has before it today three bills to give the San Francisco Bay Area Air Pollution Control District more muscle and more money.

The measures would give the district the right to raise its property tax and to charge fees for registration and inspection of industrial polltuers.

The three bills were part of a nine-bill antismog package passed Thursday by the Assembly Transportation Committee.

Other measures involving Bay Area pollution control would give the district more authority to curb industries causing bad odors and more leverage over three counties — Solano, Sonoma and Napa — which have not joined the district but which lie within the Bay Area air basin.

Assemblyman John Knox, D-Richmond, sought to have the property tax increased from 1.2 cents per $100 assessed value to 2.5 cents but he won only two cents. The committee said it wanted the cost of antipollution efforts to be borne by industry, not homeowners

The committee also imposed a two-year limit on the increase.

Knox said the sharp increase was needed because "the district is really making some waves and needs more money." He said the tax hike would total about 15 cents a month for the owner of a $30,000 home.

Proposal To Police Car Repair Shops Wins Test

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A motorist-protection bill to police auto repair shops has passed an important Senate committee despite opposition from new car dealers and the oil industry.

The measure, by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, would require auto repair shops to register with a bureau similar to that which polices television repairs.

"This is a hell of a good consumer bill," enthused Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, a member of the Senate Business and Professions Committee which approved the bill. It goes now to the Senate Finance Committee.

But oil lobbyist Albert J. Shults disagreed, saying it would duplicate state activity in licensing of smog-control stations.

Car dealer spokesman Kent Redwine said dealers didn't object to regulation but preferred uniform handling under the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Spokesmen from the office of the attorney general, Association of California Consumers and the Automobile Club of Southern California testified in favor of the bill.

Beilenson said the auto repair industry was a $2.5 billion a year business with some 28,000 firms which car-ignorant motorists patronize — often to their regret.

"We're ripe to be cheated," agreed Short.

Beilenson said the car owner now has nowhere to turn for help if he feels he has been over-charged or rendered poor service.

As an example, Beilenson cited his wife's experience in having one garageman tell her a car difficulty needed a $130 tuneup while another fixed it with a $1.25 sparkplug replacement.

Congressmen Press Probe Of Massacre

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House armed services subcommittee investigating the alleged My Lai massacre called six more witnesses to testify today, including the helicopter pilot who aired the first radio reports about what was happening in the South Vietnamese village.

The pilot was CWO Hugh C. Thompson, 26. His reports were supposedly the first word that superior officers had that something out of the ordinary was going on at My Lai. The others called for today's session of the closed hearings to include three civilians.

Admits Word 'Bloodbath' Wrong Usage

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan says there is something "neurotic" about those who take his controversial student "bloodbath" remark literally.

But the governor conctded to 700 state employes Thursday that the expression was "the wrong figure of speech."

Reagan, responding last week to a question about how to deal with campus disorder, told a Yosemite audience: "If it takes a bloodbath, let's get it over with. No more appeasement."

The governor was asked about the comment during a question and answer session following his formal speech Thursday to a state employe government conference.

"I didn't advocate a bloodbath," Reagan said. "And as a matter of fact I think there's something neurotic in someone believing that what was a figure of speech in a lengthy answer to a question should be interpreted literally that anyone would be advocating solving a problem by bathing the students in blood."

The state workers applauded for 15 seconds when he added, "There's a small element of the student body that I could suggest a bath ... "

Reagan said he used the expression to make the point that some college administrators had "attempted to temporize to the point of appeasing in an effort to deal with this obviously little revolutionary group.

Absenteeism Up In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (708) — Student absenteeism soared today to nearly 50 per cent as the school board of the city's 616 schools attempted to negotiate a back-to-work agreement with striking teachers.

The board ordered Superintendent Robert Kelly to discuss an agreement with United Teachers of Los Angeles aimed at getting the strikers back in the classrooms by Monday.

However, the agreement would not involve "substantive issues" of salaries and educational programs according to Board President Arthur Gardner.

Kelly had ordered school negotiators to end talks with the UTLA when union teachers failed to report to classes last Monday, the first day of the strike.

Homeowners Eye Cost Of Utility Undergrounding

The Marin Country Club Estates Homeowners Association has formed a committee to survey the residents on their feeling about undergrounding utilities in the area, publicity chairman James Sullivan reported yesterday.

The association has received bids of $1,100 per lot on the north side of the fairway and $1,400 on the south side of the fairway where the lots are larger, Sullivan said. There would also be an additional charge to bring the lines from the street into the houses, he said.

The committee will also investigate whether individuals would want to pay outright undergrounding or form an assessment district, he said.

Robert M. Dougherty, Mrs. James Gordon and Sullivan were named to the committee.

Robert Bliss, was named chairman of the beautification committee to work with the city on the Spring Trash Bash on April 25 and May 2.

Marin Experimental Films To Be Shown

Films of three Marin County contemporary and experimental film makers will be shown on three different days at 8 p.m. at Alexander Hall, San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Films by Robert Nelson will be shown tomorrow; films by Larry Jordan, April 25 and Myron Ort, May 2.

Council Victor Uses Labor Mailing Permit

F. Wayne Sartain, who was top vote getter in Tuesday's Novato City Council election, mailed his campaign literature under the nonprofit organization mailing permit of the Marin County Labor Council, it was learned today.

William Keegan, superintendent of mailing requirements at the postal inspector's office in San Francisco, said this appears to be misuse of the nonprofit mailing permit.

The permit entitles its user to a rate of 1.6 cents per piece mailed, as compared to the regular permit rate of 3.8 cents. If the use is found to have been illegal, the labor council would have to pay the additional 2.2 cents per piece to the post office, according to Keegan. There would be further penalty only if the misuse were proved intentional, he said.

The mailing went out to voters throughout Novato, although it was not known today whether it was sent to all the 9,860 registered voters on the rolls.

Sartain, who is a member of San Francisco Typographical Union 21, got 2,637 votes to top the seven candidates for Novato City Council.

The mailing permit used is San Rafael No. 55 nonprofit organization permit, issued to the labor council at 701 Mission Avenue.

Keegan said postal regulations restrict use of the permit to mailings of the labor council itself, although in mailings to members these could include campaign materials for candidates endorsed by the council.

Students Plan Boys Club Drive

Sixty students from Sir Francis Drake, Tamalpais and San Domenico high schools will hold a youth march in southern Marin April 25 to collect funds for the Marin City Boys' Club.

The students, wearing badges saying, "Youth March, Marin City Boys' Club," will cover most of Southern Marin. The march will be followed by a dance at St. Anselm's Church Hall in San Anselmo.

The march was organized by Carolyn Knox of San Domenico and Channing May of Drake.

Tax Hike Eyed

The possibility of increasing the present 20.5 cent tax rate to provide additional funds to solve drainage problems will be discussed at a meeting of the Rafael Meadows Flood Control Zone April 28 at 8 p.m. in Room 332 at the Civic Center.

New York Press Pact Hopes Dim

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bargaining between the city's four major newspapers and their unions bogged down Thursday, their progress described as "bleak, bleak, bleak."

Chief mediator Theodore W. Kheel said he still takes "a very dim view" of any success in contract negotiations between 10 unions and The New York Times, Daily News, New York Post and Long Island Press.

The unions have been working without a contract since March 30 and one of them has twice postponed strike deadlines.

Negotiations bogged down Thursday when the International Typographical No. 6 rejected as "insufficient" a wage increase offer of 24.8 per cent over three years.

Informational Sessions Slated For Youth Group

Two informational meetings about Young Life, an organization to communicate the Christian faith to teen-agers, will be held in Marin next week.

To acquaint the public with the organization and its principles, there will be a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Community Room of the Bank of Marin in Novato.

There also will be a meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Rooms 207 and 209 at Redwood High School in Larkspur.

The sessions, preparatory to functioning in Marin, will be conducted by Robert Reeverts, area director of Young Life, Robert Barram, regional director, and Johann Anderson, potential Marin leader, now in the program in Orange County.

Persons interested in further information can telephone Kenneth E. Rawlings in Novato, Mrs. Clifford M. Pedersen in Kentfield or Mrs. Richard Tharp of Tiburon.

Gotham Trolley Goes To England

CRICH, England (UPI)—The clang-clang of the New York 3rd Avenue trolley soon will begin ringing in Crich.

The 30-year-old streetcar built originally for Manhattan's 3rd Avenue will be back in business in this little northern England town for a limited service.

The British Tramway Museum had the streetcar shipped from Vienna where it had been in use since the Austrian capital bought it from the New York company in 1949.

What Bus Business Will Cost

Marin taxpayers will have to pony up at least $123,189, and as much as $260,000, when the Golden Gate Bridge District gets into the commuter bus business.

This was the decision yesterday of the Golden Gate Bridge District's joint transportation and finance-auditing committee. The decision will go to the full board next Friday for its ratification, which appeared assured given yesterday's unanimous vote and support by Marin's representatives on the committee.

SET IN FORMULA

The figures were set in a formula designed to set Marin's obligation to pay for the intracounty portion of the bus operation. By state law, intracounty service cannot be paid by the bridge district.

For example, the county must pay for whatever subsidy would be needed for a passenger riding from Novato to Sausalito. But the bridge district would pay for the entire cost of subsidizing this rider if he stayed on the bus into San Francisco.

The same law, passed last year, also requires Marin to commit itself to pay the cost before the bridge district can spend a dime on the bus service, thus adoption of the formula will be crucial to getting the service started.

The minimum figure, to be paid when the service begins, was based on patronage estimates by the Marin County Transit District. These estimates set total annual patronage at 5,762,000, of which 675,000, or 11.71 per cent, would be intracounty passengers in Marin.

The $123,189 was arrived at by multiplying the total projected net operating deficit of $1,052,000 by 11.71 per cent.

The maximum was set at the amount that the county transit district can raise in one fiscal year by imposing its maximum property tax rate of five cents per $100 assessed valuation, raising about $260,000.

Directors agreed it was unlikely that much more than the minimum figure would be needed for the first few years. Any overpayment would be credited against the payment owned by the county the following year.

The maximum, they agreed, would be subject to revision upward after the first year if it proved to be inadequate.

Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum noted that the transit district also had $485,000 in reserve, but wanted to earmark this for possible purchase of railroad rights-of-way for a future transit system.

The district hopes to be in the bus business sometime next fall.

The number of Britons taking vacations abroad rose 30 per cent in the past five years—from 5 million in 1964 to 6.5 million in 1969, the Board of Trade reports.

NEW STARTERS FOR TIBURON FERRY TRIPS

Tiburon commuter ferries, starting Monday, will leave Tiburon 10 minutes earlier in the morning and 15 minutes later from San Francisco in the evening.

Lester C. Bedient, general manager of Harbor Carriers, operator of the service, said the changes were asked by commuters to better suit their work schedules.

The first three morning departures from Tiburon will be at 6:50, 7:30 and 8:10, with 10-minute speed-ups in the schedule of the feeder bus system, he said.

Afternoons, departures from San Francisco will be at 4, 5:15 and 5:45.

Other service midday and weekends will be unchanged.

Rosy Future Painted For Ferry Runs

A bright future for ferry service to San Francisco from Southern and Central Marin was forecast yesterday in a study by a naval architect.

But North Marin, because of its distance from San Francisco, would need high-speed hydrofoils or hovercraft to attract patrons, according to Philip F. Spaulding, consultant to the Golden Gate Bridge District.

OTHER POINTS

Spaulding, in a preliminary report on his plan for the district to get into water transportation, told directors that three to four conventional ferryboats with planing hulls would be needed to serve Central Marin, either at Corte Madera or Larkspur.

Any of the possible sites near the mouth of the Corte Madera Creek would require extensive dredging and costly site preparation, Spaulding cautioned.

These vessels would be 196 feet long, cruise at 20 knots and carry about 940 passengers, 750 of them seated.

They would depart each half-hour during peak commute hours, Spaulding said.

TWO TERMINALS

North Marin probably would have two ferry terminals, perhaps at Gallinas Creek, the Petaluma River or Novato Creek. These also would require costly dredging and site preparation, he said.

Spaulding's preliminary report did not include cost estimates. His final report is due May 12.

He said that his plan would pay special attention to locating terminals near highways and railroad rights-of-way so that ferry terminals either could serve rapid transit as well or be converted to serve rapid transit only if the ferry service were phased out of some areas.

Feeder Bus Firm Seeks Monthly Aid

Southern Marin's private feeder bus company, nearing the end of its financial rope, yesterday appealed to the Golden Gate Bridge District for a monthly subsidy of $12,000.

The Marin City-based company, Marin County Transit Systems Inc., has been feeding the Tiburon ferry since February under a $12,000 subsidy from the county transit district, and last week won an additional $4,000 from the county to extend the service for one more month.

The company made its appeal to the bridge district's joint transportation and finance-auditing committee, but because of the late hour the appeal was postponed to 9:30 a.m. Thursday in toll plaza offices.

The company's presentation to the committee said that its service will cost about $17,370 a month for the next four months. It figured revenue at $1,380 a month, with a net deficit for the four months of $61,968.

Asked by the Independent-Journal what would happen to his company's service if the bridge district rejected his appeal, company president Theophus F. Barron Jr. said he was certain the appeal would be successful.

Welcome Readied For Chiang's Heir

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elaborate special plans have been made to greet the son of National Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek when he arrives for a state visit next week, but there is no sign the extra-friendly welcome indicates a change in basic U.S. Asian policy.

Chiang Ching-kuo, Formosa's deputy prime minister, arrives Monday night on a four-day official state visit that includes high-level conferences with President Nixon, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and other Cabinet officials.

The 59-year-old elder son and heir apparent to Chiang Kai-shek is due to get extensive exposure to administration views on Asia. But the administration has given no indication of backing a new Asian nation security alliance he advocates.

Juvenile Adviser Panel Reports Survey Progress

The Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Commission is pleased with cooperation received so far in its do-it-yourself study to define delinquency and plan its prevention.

The commission heard Wednesday that school and law enforcement employees interviewed so far have helped substantially, reported Gwen M. Monroe, Marin county youth coordinator.

The commission also agreed to seek supervisorial approval to apply for federal and state matching funds to create a delinquency planning and program development organization. The program budget will be $100,000 to $125,000, and would be 60 per cent federally funded with 20 per cent apiece from state and local funds.

The commission also seated new member Rev. James Upshaw.

Arson Damages Old Warehouses

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A four-alarm fire that swept through two old warehouses Thursday was listed by inspectors today as arson.

Fire Chief William Murray estimated damage at $150,000. More than 400 men and 32 pieces of equipment battled the flames.

Arson Inspector George Lucas said someone had set fire to a stack of wooden pallets adjacent to one of the buildings.

The two warehouse sheds dated from before the 1906 earthquake and fire but were still in use. They contained hardware, clothing and furniture.

Each was about 1,000 feet long and 150 feet wide. They were leased from the Santa Fe Railway by Western Carloading Co.

Only Charged With Trespassing Count

Leroy Everett Southard, 21, of no known address, who was arrested yesterday on suspicion of possessing marijuana and trespassing, was charged later in Marin Municipal Court only with the latter offense.

He pleaded guilty to being in a motel room at the Bermuda Palms and Judge Hadden W. Roth sentenced him to the time he had already spent in jail.

Crash Seriously Injures Woman

Karen Jo Munson, 23, of 481 Mesa Road, Bolinas, was reported in poor condition today in Marin General Hospital's intensive care unit with a fractured skull and chest injuries received in a motorcycle accident yesterday.

Miss Munson was a passenger on a motorcycle, driven by Jose R. Sanchez, 33, of Bolinas, which overturned in loose gravel westbound on Mesa Road, just west of Overlook Road in Bolinas, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Sanchez was treated at the hospital for multiple scrapes and bruises and released. The accident occurred about 1:45 p.m.

Senators May Strip Baseball Of Exemption

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sens. Warren Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson, both D-Wash., have introduced legislation to abolish organized baseball's exemption from antitrust laws.

The legislation was an outgrowth of the American League's moving of the Seattle franchise to Milwaukee. No similar exemption from antitrust laws is enjoyed by other professional sports such as football, hockey or basketball.

Jordan Asks Ouster Of Envoy; U.S. Complies

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)—Jordan today demanded the recall of U.S. Ambassador Harrison Symmes in a display of anger against U.S. Middle East policies. Anti-American demonstrations broke out for the fourth consecutive day today and a general strike paralyzed the city.

The official Jordanian news agency issued a statement saying Jordan had asked the U.S. State Department to recall Symmes. The action was a victory for militant Palestinian guerrillas who led the anti-American demonstrations.

(In Washington, the State Department said it had compiled with Jordan's request.

("We regret this development which, we trust, will not impair the close and cordial relations which we have had with Jordan," Robert J. McCloskey, spokesman for the State Department, said.)

Political observers said the recall was a severe blow to United States efforts to improve relations with Arab states and that it was in direct retaliation for Symmes' handling of the proposed visit to Jordan by Joseph J. Sisco, the U.S. assistant Secretary of State for Middle East Affairs.

It was at Symmes' urging that Sisco canceled his visit, which had been scheduled to begin today.

It was canceled Thursday after three days of anti-American rioting climaxed by attacks on the U.S. Embassy and the burning of the U.S. Information Services Library here. Symmes criticized the Jordanians for not providing sufficient protection for American property.

Several hundred demonstrators chanted anti-American slogans in the streets again today and a general strike closed all shops in the city. The embassy was blocked off by barbed wire and heavily armed troops patrolled the city.

Both the demonstrations and the requested recall of Symmes were seen as triumphs for militant guerrillas who reject a peaceful solution in the Middle East.

Friends described Symmes, 48, who has been in the Middle East since 1948 and speaks fluent Arabic, as a remarkably outspoken person known for his antiguerrilla attitudes.

The Jordanian news agency said, "It is believed that government circles are critical of Symmes' attitude and leanings vis a vis the Arab stand in the face of Israeli aggression."

Sleepy Hollow Budget Voted As $20,000

Members of the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association last night approved a $20,000 budget at the association's quarterly general membership meeting.

The budget for the fiscal year that began April 1 won near unanimous approval after $250 was added for Little League baseball and Pop Warner football, according to Hilton J. Simon, treasurer of the association.

About $3,000 now alloted to the association's nursery school will be reimbursed later from the school's profits, Simon said.

The budget allots funds for the general operation and mortgage expenses of the Sleepy Hollow Clubhouse and maintenance of the association's swimming pool as well as the nursery school and the youth leagues.

The 60-70 members who attended also passed various technical revisions to the group's by laws, Simon said.

DAN SIEGAL
Faces riot charge

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—About 400 militant demonstrators were quelled with tear gas Thursday during a destructive rock-throwing rampage that prompted University of California authorities to ban rallies temporarily.

Campus officers, sheriff's deputies and California Highway Patrolmen fired volleys of tear gas into the mass of demonstrators who fell back, regrouped and charged again. It was the second consecutive day of violence.

More than 50 persons, 33 Thursday, have been arrested and more than a score injured.

'A TRAVESTY'

Chancellor Roger Heyns, who banned all rallies scheduled for today, said Thursday the campus "was the victim of wantom destruction unprecedented in the history of the university. Any attempt to link today's grim events with moral issues is a travesty on morality."

About 2,500 persons roamed about Sproul Plaza, the famous center of dissent on the 27,000-student campus, but the destructive rampage was carried out by about 400 demonstrators —including many of grammar and high school age.

"People are dying in Vietnam and we're going to be dying here," a bearded youth standing on a station wagon told one of the roving bands. "This university is one of the enemies."

FLAG ATTACKED

The demonstrators ripped down an American flag and tried to burn it, smashed hundreds of windows, wrecked two trucks and laid siege to the campus Naval ROTC building and California Hall, where Heyns' office is located.

A group of about 20 smashed out the windows of the Faculty Club, where 50 professors were eating lunch, then dashed inside to scatter tables and chairs. One angry teacher threw a chair at the students as they fled.

Former student body president, Dan Siegel, surrendered on charges of inciting to riot during Wednesday's disorders. Siegel, who was booked and released on $2,000 bail, called the charges "ridiculous" and "absurd."

Purse Is Looted

Marie L. Satre of Worthington, Minn., reported to San Rafael police $100 in travelers checks and $61 in cash were stolen from her purse yesterday at 2 p.m. while shew sapaying her bill at the Jim-Jam Coffee Shop, 810 Third Street.

Regents Balk At Honorary Degrees Ban

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A committee of the University of California Board of Regents has defeated an attempt to end the century-old practice of awarding honorary degrees.

But the discussion Thursday prior to the vote by the Education Policy Committee indicated the Regents next month may vote limitations as to who can receive them.

Mrs. Edward H. Heller of Atherton, who sought the discontinuance, argued that they are given without any pattern and no longer have much significance.

But President Charles J. Hitch called her suggestion "drastic" and argued honorary degrees "do and have served useful purposes over the years."

Hitch also said frankly that the offering of a degree to a noted citizen makes a difference if he has several invitations to speak.

At the request of Regent W. Glenn Campbell, the Education Policy Committee asked Hitch to supply the Regents with detailed studies of student grades. Campbell said he was concerned after reading a report that a Santa Barbara teacher gave 1,200 A's, less than 10 B's and no lower grades.

The Regents Finance Committee approved a reduction in fees for university employees taking courses on campus despite protests by Regent Frederick Dutton of Sausalito that administrators were being hypocritical by lowering fees for themselves after raising them for other students.

The committee also approved establishment of a task force to study student financial aid. Dutton complained that no students were on the task force and Hitch said he would consider adding students.

Shotguns Wound Four In Isla Vista Flareup

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Three young women and an African foreign exchange student were hit by shotgun pellets Thursday night as officers dispersed young people smashing windows at a bank building which replaced one rioters burned down in February.

Sheriff James Webster said some of his 200 riot-helmeted, shield-carrying deputies fired birdshot into the air, but not directly at any of the estimated 700 protestors attacking the Bank of America in nearby Isla Vista. He said he was investigating the woundings.

The officers launched several dozen tear gas canisters in an hour-long confrontation to disperse the demonstrators who also smashed nearby real estate office windows and set some trash bins ablaze in the street.

Most seriously wounded by birdshot was Wond Mesfin, 21, an Ethiopian exchange student at the adjoining University of California campus. He was hospitalized in satisfactory condition with flesh wounds in his shoulder, side and back.

Three young women were treated at Santa Barbara County General Hospital for birdshot wounds. One was hospitalized, two were released. Their names were not released.

One student involved in the trouble later told a newsman the demonstrators attacked the bank branch — as was the case in February — as "the biggest symbol in the community of the capitalist establishment we've been fighting against for years."

Stanford Students Barely Favor ROTC Retention

STANFORD (UPI)—Stanford students narrowly favor retention of ROTC on campus, but not for academic credit.

In a vote Thursday, 2,919 voted that ROTC should be retained on campus and 2,781 opposed. But on the question of whether it should count for credit, 1,898 said yes and 3,616 no.

The ROTC program and the building that houses it have been the focal points of repeated demonstrations on campus since the faculty voted narrow support for the program.

Stanford President Kenneth Pitzer said Thursday it "now seems likely" the Air Force ROTC unit will be withdrawn off campus because its enrollment "falls well below the normal minimum" for a campus unit.

Legislative Bay Proposals Anger ABAG; Capital Lobbyist Studied

By DAVID DIETZ

BERKELEY — The executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments took steps to hire a Sacramento lobbyist last night after it charged the regional agency was being ignored by local legislators.

The committee was particularly displeased with introduction of bills creating open space and regional transit commissions and one that would assign the task of Bay-Delta water planning to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission—jobs which, it contended, are properly ABAG's as a multi-purpose group.

By unanimous vote, the committee asked ABAG staff to begin a search for a Sacramento representative and report back. The committee also urged that the bills in question be amended to put ABAG in control of the various tasks. ABAG budgeted $10,000 earlier this year in case it decided to hire a lobbyist.

ABAG President Ignazio A. Vella of Sonoma County and Marin Supervisor John F. McInnis voiced sharpest anger over the apparent cold shoulder. The open space bill was introduced by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, and the transit measure is sponsored by a San Francisco Democrat, Assemblyman John F. Foran. Sponsor of the Bay-Delta legislation is Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond.

McInnis said the Marks and Foran bills, together with other measures introduced in Sacramento to create a statewide and new regional commissions to new regional commission to would add to a growing layer of single purpose agencies, imposing tax burdens.

He added, "What do we send them to Sacramento for? We are effective and of 10 years' standing. I get furious when I dwell on it."

Vella, besides deploring the apparent rebuff, warned of a move by Washington officials to shift authorization for screening local applications for federal construction funds away from regional agencies into the hands of state planning officials.

"I think if you're going to placate, then I subscribe to the fact that you're going to legislate yourself, by inaction, right out of existence," he said.

The committee also unanimously agreed to send the new regional plan, designed as a guide for development through 1990, to the general assembly on July 30.

The plan suggests creation of "center cities" on the fringe of the nine-county region and more provision for open space as devices for checking overdevelopment. The plan was reported in detail in the Independent-Journal March 27.

McInnis, chairman of the ABAG committee which molded the plan, reassured the executive group that the document was in no way binding on local communities. "It must have continuing, detailed consideration by cities and counties," he said.

The ABAG Executive Committee Also:

PARKS—Urged Gov. Ronald Reagan to disregard a recommendation by the State Park and Recreation Department to delete from his 1971 fiscal budget $729,535 in Bay Area park funds, including $69,650 for partial development of Stafford Lake near Novato. The funds would have been provided this year, but 1964 bonds went unsold. If Reagan heeds ABAG's recommendation, it will mean the projects will still be authorized if the bonds are sold by June 1971.

COTATI—Endorsed an application by the City of Cotati for an $18,000 federal grant to compile a general plan. Total cost is $28,000.

NOVATO—Voted cooperating membership in the agency to the Novato Sanitary District, meaning it is entitled to receive ABAG material and attend executive committee meetings.

Bill Raising Pawnbroker Fees Gains

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, yesterday tongue-lashed a deputy state attorney general for opposing a bill to increase pawnbroker charges.

"Why the hell are you sticking your nose into this business?" asked McCarthy, chairman of the insurance and financial institutions committee.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Anthony C. Joseph, the only opposition witness at McCarthy's committee hearing on the bill, replied that his office was "filling a void. There is no one here speaking for the consumer."

McCarthy said, "That's why we're here — to represent the people."

Joseph said he merely was offering "some expertise in this area" to aid legislators considering the bill, authored by Sen. Stephen Teale, D-West Point.

The bill, asked by the Collateral Loan Brokers Associaion of California, would increase from $10 to $15 the charge on pawnbroker loans between $75 and $150. Such flat charges are charged on short-term loans in lieu of 2.5 per cent interest.

Joseph argued the increase "was not justified." He noted that the charge was increased only two years.

Other committee members sat silent while McCarthy rebuked Joseph, then gave a unanimous nod to send the measure to the Senate floor.

Brezhnev Opens Lenin Centennial

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev, head of the Soviet Communist party, has planted a tree at a ceremony in Ulyanovsk touching off celebrations of the 100th anniversary of Lenin's birth.

Speaking to an assemblage of Soviet dignitaries Thursday, Brezhnev declared Leninism would lead "to the full abolition of exploitation and oppression, to the worldwide triumph of socialism."

"We know this will not be an easy task," he said. "Our enemies spare no effort or means to hold back revolutionary process. It will take no small effort to win a final victory. But we are confident this victory will come."

If you don't get the point of this new research*, you're losing customers

The percentages of women planning, shopping and spending for each item in a week are very small.

This finding, from the most complete research ever done on the retail customer, is nothing to brush off lightly. (Unless you want to brush off business).

Let's see what it means: Take women's dresses. Only 7 women out of 100 interviewed in Week I planned to buy a dress soon. In Week II, 5 out of 100 actually shopped for a dress. And only 3 bought. But the ones who bought weren't necessarily among the 7 who planned to buy!

This pattern is true for every item in all stores, except food and drug-sundries (the necessities). The market is fantastically small on any given day, in any given week. It is not a huge, faceless group just waiting for your merchandise.

Take major appliances: the findings show that 16,700 women must be reached to sell every 100 major appliances sold in all stores in town in a week!

And wouldn't you know it? Three out of four items bought by women in the second week of the survey weren't even planned in the first week. So, those who plan don't necessarily buy, and those who buy didn't even know a few days before that they would soon make a purchase decision!

The point is: no store can know when or where women will actually buy. If you're out of the market with your advertising you're out of sight, out of mind. But if you're in, with a consistent schedule of smaller-space ads to supplement your larger ads, you draw this ever-changing, dynamic market to you. You turn "planners" into buyers of your items. And you get the random buyer to become an actual purchaser.

Your ads in the Independent-Journal give you "market command." Because here you reach 70% of all Marin County households. You reach a tremendous audience. And you get immediate response. Just a better way of doing more business. Call your I-J Ad-Man now and make this research work for you.

The preceptors will be Scott Johnson, Jerry Lewis, Richard Wilson, Dale Wilson, William Hints, Daivd McDonough and Robert Abelew.

Ferry Prediction

At least 900 to 1,300 commuters from Sausalito to Mill Valley would use a Sausalito ferry, naval architect Philip F. Spaulding reported yesterday to Golden Gate Bridge District directors, not 500 to 1,300 as reported incorrectly by the Independent-Journal.

Mill Valley Youth Advise On Harbor

Eight guidelines for the development of Mill Valley's small boat harbor have been formulated by the city's youth commission, according to Leonard Anderson, vice chairman.

The commission worked on the premise that the harbor should not be contaminated with fumes and oil from powered craft, Anderson said.

The priorities will be turned over to the city's planning commission April 27 and incorporated into that group's recommendations to the city council. The youth commission's eight points are.

1. Preserve existing marshland; 2. Develop the basin into a public park; 3. Provide limited facilities for launching and storage of non-powered small craft; 4. Build a restaurant/bar in the area.

5. Provide bicycle and foot paths; 6. Limit parking to a few well landscaped lots; 7. Develop a ferry slip for service to San Francisco; 8. Build a permanent community recreation and performing arts center.

The commission also heard a report that the Marin Symphony is planning a county music festival and voted to find out when. If it will be in the spring, Anderson said, the commission will consider helping the symphony in place of staging its own music festival.

Philippine Reds Kill U.S. Airmen

MANILA (UPI)—Initial investigation showed Communist-led Huk terrorists, led by their top military commander, were responsible for the killing of two Clark Air Base airmen, the Philippine constabulary said today.

Maj. Vicente Eduardo said villagers reported the Huks, led by Commander Dante, the leader of the "New People's Army," killed the two Americans. He said the informants refused to sign statements for fear of reprisals.

The mutilated bodies of Airmen 1-c Donald D. Facklam, 24, of Scandia, Kan., and Sgt. Clifford J. Bales, 21, of Kewaskum, Wis., were discovered Tuesday in a shallow grave in a secluded area 65 miles north of Manila. Their hands were tied behind their backs.

MARIN SEES SOMETHING GOOD ABOUT GARBAGE

Marin County's dwindling reserve fund has been increased by 153 per cent.

But that doesn't mean we're exactly in clover, explained County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell. It merely means that the reserve fund, reduced to a $153 last week, will be augmented by a $235 windfall.

And that windfall came from, of all things, garbage. Remember several weeks ago when the county appropriated $1,500 to remove two giant piles of rubbish and garbage that was left in San Geronimo after a community cleanup? They used only $1,256 of that amount, which meant that $235 can go back to the reserve fund.

With the 153 per cent increase, Marin now has a cushion of $388 to meet contingencies through June 30.

PARENTS 'SO GRATEFUL'

Fireman Saves Tiny Baby With Lesson Over Phone

A Terra Linda fireman saved the life of a week-old infant last night by telephoning instructions on how to administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

"We're so grateful," said Donna Lee Netherton of 29 Washington Avenue, Santa Venetia. "They saved my baby's life."

It was about 11 p.m. and Mrs. Netherton and her husband James were feeding the baby, Brenda Lee. "She was taking her bottle but I don't think she choked. She just coughed a couple of times and then went limp. She tried breathing but couldn't."

Mrs. Netherton ran to the phone to call for help. She got the Terra Linda Fire Department, where Fireman Brian Caldwell answered the call.

Since Santa Ventia is outside Terra Linda's jurisdiction, Caldwell told her to call the county fire department. But the fireman, disturbed by the woman's plea for help, called her back and began giving instructions over the telephone.

"I just listened and told my husband what to do," said Mrs. Netherton. "He did a beautiful job."

On the other end, Fireman Caldwell could hear the breathing as Netherton revived the baby, and then came the infant's cry.

"If you write something in the paper, please tell them how grateful we are," said Mrs. Netherton, tears in her eyes.

The Nethertons have another child, a 3-year-old boy. Netherton worked as a district manager in the Independent-Journal circulation department until the strike by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

Fire Chief George A. Walser commended Caldwell for a job well done.

Flood Zone Panel Shifts Meeting Date

The Wednesday meeting of the Bel Aire Flood Control Zone has been moved ahead to Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Room 12 of the Bel Aire School.

The meeting was changed, a flood control spokesman said, so that Supervisor Michael Wornum might attend. The Bel Aire master plan will be discussed at the meeting.

Kentfield Slates Summer School

Kentfield School District students entering first through eighth grades may register for the district's summer school program May 2 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Adaline E. Kent School.

A second registration date for nonresidents has been set for May 9 from 10 a.m. to noon at the school.

The program offers courses in arts, cooking, drama, guitar, physical education, typing and a special general program geared for primary students.

Additional information may be acquired by calling the district office on Tuesday and Friday afternoons.

Loma Verde Tutoring Sponsored By Church

A tutoring program for children in the Loma Verde Elementary School is being sponsored by members of the Loma Verde congregation of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Reading, writing, spelling, and arithmetic are taught by residents of Loma Verde and Terra Linda, a church spokesman said. Information may be obtained from Joyce Borchardt at 15 Capilano Drive, Novato.

Union Seeks To Add 80 County Aides

Marin County Employees Association, which represents about 700 of the 1,200 county employees, wants to add about 80 more "middle management" employees to its bargaining unit.

Randall M. Prevo, general manager of the association, notified the Marin County Personnel Commission yesterday that he will ask for the expansion at the commission's next meeting on May 21 in the Civic Center.

The association now represents about 700 rank and file employees, including a category called "emergency employees" consisting of firemen, sheriff's deputies and communications employees.

"At present there are about 150 county employees who are not represented by any bargaining unit because they are considered managerial," said Prevo. He wants to include about 80 of them in the employees' bargaining unit. Prevo said "middle management" would include such persons as fire captains, police lieutenants, and supervisors in various county departments who work under the department heads and assistant department heads.

Robert B. McCreadie presided yesterday at the personnel commission meeting in the absence of Chairman Bella Aaron, who is recuperating from a heart attack.

The commissioners approved a request by the Social Workers Union to include Lillian Inke, work training coordinator in the Department of Public Social Services, as a member of the union. Mrs. Inke was previously considered managerial and excluded from the social workers bargaining unit.

Personnel commissioners also approved a program for evaluating the work performance of county employees, particularly during the probationary period. The program was drawn up by personnel analyst Jack Atkin.

Women were admitted to the House of Lords in the British Parliament in 1958.

Pair Hurt In Crash Of Cycle

Curtis Miller, 21, and Lorna Blair, 19, both of 57 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo, were treated yesterday for injuries suffered in a motorcycle accident shortly after noon.

Miller was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises, the hospital said, and Miss Blair was treated for scrapes and bruises at Kaiser Hospital, Terra Linda, hospital authorities reported.

No details of the accident were available.

Resignation Is Accepted In Cotati

J.H. (Jim) Malone, a Cotati planning commissioner for four years, resigned last night in a letter to the city council.

Malone, who did not give a reason for resigning in the letter, said today his business had become too demanding.

The council accepted the resignation with thanks for service.

The Cotati City Council also:

CODES — Approved updated versions of city building, electrical, plumbing and mechanical codes.

PRINT — Disagreeing with the planning commission, voted support of county issuance of a permit for a printing shop in a residental area at 8840 Poplar Avenue, outside the city limits. Councilmen John L. Groom and Alfred Filleti abstained.

HEALTH — Appointed Councilmen Henry Garner and Filleti to push for a special health facilities study in the Rohnert Park-Cotati area by county officials.

RAMP — Approved a $400 engineering survey of an onramp at Highway 101 and Commerce Boulevard.

Hess Agrees To Prison Visitors

BONN (London Express) — The lone prisoner in Spanadau Jail, 75-year-old Rudolf Hess, has agreed for the first time since he was sentenced to allow his relatives to visit him in prison.

His wife Ilse and only son, Wolf-Ruediger, will fly to Berlin next Friday to see him.

Hess refused to allow any of his family to see him until he was removed from jail last winter and taken to the British military hospital for treatment for stomach ulcers.

He then agreed to visits because he said his relatives would be spared the humiliation of having to enter a prison.

Now he has changed his mind again and agreed to allow visits in the jail.

Woman Hit By Truck Released

Ellen Lefkowitz, 20, of 1212-A Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, was released today from Marin General Hospital after treatment for a concussion and cut head sustained Wednesday when she was struck by a pickup truck.

San Anselmo police said she was crossing Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Saunders Avenue at 8:30 a.m. when the truck driven by Steven M. Baker, 19, of 15 Rena Court, Novato, hit her.

Baker was cited for passing another vehicle stopped for a pedestrian, and for driving with an expired license.

Petaluma Child, 4, Killed In Street

A 4-year-old West Petaluma boy was killed yesterday when he dashed from the driveway of his home into the path of a moving auto, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Mark A. Gilroy of 2755 Western Avenue was pronounced dead of unspecified injuries upon arrival at Hillcrest Hospital at about 4:30 p.m.

The highway patrol said the motorist, Jenny Braren, 62, of 1611 Spring Hill Road, also West Petaluma, reported she was unable to avoid hitting the child.

Mark was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilroy Jr. Gilroy is a San Francisco fireman.

The boy was born in San Francisco and moved to Sonoma County with his parents last summer.

Surviving besides his parents are four brothers, Scott, Pat, Casey and Kelly, all at home, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilroy Sr. of San Francisco and Dewey Stornetta of Point Arena.

Mass of the Angels will be offered at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Vincent DePaul Catholic Church, Petaluma. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Sorensen funeral home, Petaluma.

Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Novato Chamber Gives Congress More Cash

The Novato Chamber of Commerce board of directors last night voted to appropriate another $100 for the Congress for Community Progress to be held May 23 at Novato High School.

The chamber had appropriated $200 for the congress, but that has been spent in sending out questionnaires and tabulating the returns, according to secretary Billie Garl.

The all-day congress is being sponsored by the chamber with the cooperation of Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

The board approved sale of office furniture at its present location at 867 Sweetser Avenue and purchasing new furniture for its new office at 1123 Grant Avenue, according to Mrs. Garl. The chamber offices will be moved next weekend, she said.

The airport committee will meet at 8 a.m. Tuesday at Gnoss Field to discuss the future of that airport with manager Frances Torr.

The board agreed to set up a nominating committee made up of past presidents.

Directors also set May 7 for a noon luncheon meeting at the Lodge when J. Wayne Womack and Arnold Baptiste, candidates for supervisor from the Fifth District, will speak and answer questions.

Tiburon Sponsors Ecological Walk Along Bayshore

The Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission will sponsor an ecological walk along Richardson Bay tomorrow, according to Robert L. Kleinert, assistant city manager.

The walk will begin at 9:30 a.m. at Tiburon Boulevard and San Rafael Avenue and will proceed west along the abandoned railroad right-of-way to Richardson Bay Park, Kleinert said.

The three-quarter mile walk will be led by commissioner George Ellman, chairman of the commission. Two naturalists will be along to point out wildlife, flowers and rock formations along the way.

The commission will hear a progress report on remodeling of the city's teen park when it meets Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The commission ordinarily meets Tuesday but the change was made because of a conflict with the city council, which will meet Tuesday to install new councilmen.

Parent Education Class Offered

An adult education class in "Parent Effectiveness Training," designed to help parents better communicate with their children, will start at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Redwood High School in Larkspur.

Sessions will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 Mondays through May 25, and then a final session on May 27 in Room 275 at the school.

Enrollment is limited to 20 adults and a registration fee is charged.

Panel Backs Dismissal Of Custodian

Dismissal of a custodian was upheld last night by the Larkspur School District board. Supt. Milton S. Cohen said the custodian was fired for "conduct unbecoming an employee in the public service," but declined to give his name because an appeal hearing before the board is tentatively set for May 13.

The board agreed to let school playgrounds be used for the city of Larkspur's summer recreation program, stipulating that the city provide insurance and all materials be checked out by school principals. Playgrounds at San Clemente, Henry C. Hall and Larkspur-Corte Madera schools will be used.

In another preliminary budget study, the board agreed that the present override tax for seventh and eighth grade costs will be continued, Cohen reported.

The Larkspur School District board also:

BUSSING—Decided against providing requested bussing in Madrone Canyon on recommendation of the California Highway Patrol and Patchett's Bus and Transportation Co., both pointing out that grades on the roads exceed 12 per cent.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations of Louise Victor, second grade teacher at Neil Cummins School, and Genevieve Underwood, accounts clerk in the district office.

OPEN HOUSE—Announced all district schools will hold open house from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Wednesday to observe Public Schools Week.

NEGOTIATIONS—Went into closed session to instruct the negotiating panel on teacher salary negotiations.

Trustees Fail To Pick Leader

Trustees of the Bolinas-Stinson School District failed to choose a new superintendent last night, according to Supt. Clarence B. Larison.

Larison said the board agreed to contact two men, whose names were not released, interviewed by trustees earlier, and see if they art still available.

Last night's meeting was called after John A. O'Shea, principal of a Yuba City elementary school, who was hired for the superintendent's job in late March decided this week not to take the job.

The board agreed to continue the meeting until today at 8 p.m. in Bolinas school.

The new superintendent will replace Larison who has resigned effective July 1.

SOFT TOUCH KNITS FOR SPRING

The string colored knit outfit by Glendora, left, has a flippy skirt and a long, lean cardigan jacket with placed patch pockets. The fabric is an open airy knit that sheds sitting wrinkles and is machine washable and dryable. Warm weather knits stroll on the beach, center. Both are ribbed knits that won't crush or crease and are also machine washable and dryable. Left, a long, pulled-down cardigan jacket tops a swingy pleated skirt, and, right, a body-skimming top with fluted sleeves is worn over long, lean pants that have a slight flare at the ankle. Both are by California Holiday. The open see through knit, right, looks particularly feminine in a cage of white crochet by Bobbie Brooks. It is slightly flared with two tiny pockets and a long, fringed scarf.

Part Two

Friedan Warns Radicals

Marin Women

By BARBARA HOSMER

An evasion of real political action to liberate women from second class status can come in the name of radical action, Betty Friedan warned last week.

Speaking at Mills College, the founder of the National Organization for Women said that "pseudo-radical talk" about women cleansing themselves of sex, making themselves unattractive and refusing to have babies simply allows the media to "make a joke of the whole thing."

"It's easier to laugh than to use mace or tear gas to keep women down," Mrs. Frieden said. "The trap is that the whole movement then is taken as a joke.

Often considered a moderate "reformer" by the more radical element of the women's liberation movement, Mrs. Friedan views some of the radical rhetoric as a cop-out that could subvert the move for real change in women's lives. Yet she defends all women's lib experiments.

"The serious responsibility is to get on with the real issues," she said. "Any revolution must deal with the reality—biological, social, human and psychological reality. The fact is that women give birth to babies. It is the right of women to control their own biological life. Talk about test-tube babies is a cop-out. The fact is that men and women have a real need to have children.

"It's easy to sell this pseudo-radical cop-out to 17 or 18 year old girls who haven't had enough reality yet to know they won't be able to live this," Mrs. Freidan stated, bringing groans from the college audience. "Then she wakes up at 25 either lonely, married or living with an establishment executive or a resistance leader and she's still stuck with the diapers. The reality is that she hasn't done much with her own life. It is immoral for a girl to give up her own education and life-preparation to do his thing," she said.

"When I talk about this to the young radical man, he says, 'leave my chick alone'."

"Other radicals in the movement say, cleanse yourself of sex—but why? Women should be choosers, not objects, but it is a distortion of human nature to deny sexual nature, and leads to forms of sterility," Mrs. Friedan emphasized.

A few liberationists say women should make themselves ugly to be good revolutionaries—But why? she asked.

"Of course women should not be (Playboy) 'bunnies' or destroy their dignity through extreme designer's fashions, but part of the joy in one's appearance is simple self-approbation.

"Once a person feels affirmative as a person, she feels affirmative as a body," said the graying mother of three.

Another "cop-out" of radical women she pointed out is holding the "rap session" rather than taking action:

"They say they don't want to be in the ratrace like men are. They say they will refuse to do anything that men do because women are superior. The difference in style in the women's liberation movement is good. We are all a sisterhood. It's all great that's happening," she said of the more radical elements. "But isn't this just a rationale of our own fear of competing—risking ourselves—of confronting the question?"

She said that separatism of the sexes is not the answer—it's a cop-out from reality.

There are traps, too, in denying that economic changes are needed for women to be able to earn their own way in today's world, she said.

"Some radical women say about jobs, 'who wants to be president of General Motors?' The question is should there be a General Motors.

"If you believe you will have an affluent husband to support you, can you evade the economic question? This revolution has to be for all women. Everything in this country costs money and women will need to earn a living and will need the skills and education to do it. This is true whether the action comes through the establishment or by restructuring the establishment."

Mrs. Friedan said she welcomes all the experiments, even the mistakes, done on the fringes and all fronts of women's liberation that "help us recognize where the action must be."

"Communes are interesting experiments to create a wider human community than is the isolated nuclear family unit of today, she said. "But it hurts me to see the 'Earth Mother' role in them, with the women in the hut while the men sit and smoke and discuss the big questions. . .What about 10 years from now? What about the Earth Mother then? Young male radicals have been very bad about women's role." Yet she praised the long-haired fellows who do not fear to be gentle and admit their own fears as freed from the male stereotype.

She said that they want to keep everything the same until the Apocalypse—the overthrow of society—and then all will be well and women will be suddenly equal.

"I don't believe it. Our revolution can't wait. And it will help to restructure the institutions that need it."

There is no guarantee that equality will come, she said, and "I will not accept anything less for black women than for myself."

Action is needed to confront the institutions that keep women oppressed, she said. "Actions that can kindle and spread the consciousness."

Judy, a graduate of Rancho Cotate High School, is employed in Oakland.

The couple will be married on June 6 at the Presbyterian Church of the Roses in Santa Rosa.

Ann Landers Opposes Some Aims Of Women's Liberation

BOSTON (UPI)—Columnist Ann Landers opposes some of the aims of women liberation groups which are trying to invade all the male domain.

Miss Landers, in a speech Friday at the Laboratory of Community Psychiatry at the Harvard Medical School, said she did not feel that women "who are fighting for liberation are on solid ground when they try to bust into everything that is male and demand they be accepted.

What the women accomplish, she said, "is they turn a lot of men off and make them anti-female."

Such women, "want to drink at bars, they drive buses, they want to be jockeys and do all the things men do. They want these privileges, but they also want to be treated like women," she said.

"She added there were some places "women just should not be," and said they should not complain about being treated unfairly.

But Miss Landers said a woman should be treated equally with a man as far as compensation for doing the same work.

"She should be paid according to her ability and sex should not be a consideration," the columnist said. "Women should be paid according to what they can produce."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Remember When Hippie Meant Big Hips And Trip Involved Travel

DEAR HELEN:

Great minds—or something.

On the day I read your column about the slang of the Sixties, I found the following in the Syracuse Post-Standard. — MAYBELLE

REMEMBER?

Remember when hippie meant big in the hips,

And trip involved travel in cars, planes and ships?

When pot was a vessel for cooking things in,

And hooked was what grandmother's rug may have been?

When fix was a verb that meant mend or repair,

And to "be in" simply meant being somewhere?

When neat meant well-organized, tidy and clean,

And grass was a ground cover, normally green?

When the lights and not people were switched on and off,

And the Pill might have been what you took for a cough?

When groovy meant furrowed with channels and hollows,

And birds were winged creatures like robins and swallows?

When fuzz was a substance fluffy like lint,

And bread came from bakerles, not from the mint?

When a roll was a bun and rock was a stone,

And hang-up was something you did with the phone?

When chicken meant poultry, and bag meant a sack,

And junk, trashy cast-offs and old brick-a-brac?

When a cat was a feline, a kitten grown up,

And tea was a liquid you drank from a cup?

When swinger was someone who swung in a swing,

And a pad was a sort of cushlony thing?

When way-out meant something was far, far away,

And a man couldn't due you for calling him gay?

Words once so sensible, sober and serious

Now make the freakout with psyche-delirious.

It's groovy, man, groovy, but English it's not,

Methinks that the language has sure gone to pot!

— AUTHOR UNKNOWN

NOTE FROM H:

Whoever you are, dear Author Unknown,

Thanks a big bunch for the use of your "powm."

If you'll send in your name, I'll give you a puff,

Meanwhile, don't sue me for using your stuff! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Recently my boy friend was put in jail for having a gun and breaking his parole. He tried another hold-up.

Should I wait for him? I love him very much and know it would be wrong not to be true, but maybe he'll be gone for a long time. He writes me that he still loves me.

Should I just sit and wait? — U.W.

DEAR U:

If this fellow loved you, he would have gone straight for your sake. I think he said good-bye when he picked up that gun and broke parole.

Don't waste your life waiting. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Solution Is Usually From Inside

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—A disturbed person who seeks counseling on an emotional problem of his own or a member of his family usually has a solution within himself.

That's the conclusion reached by Romaine Edwards, executive director of the Pasadena Mental Health Clinic, on the basis of practical experience.

Mrs. Edwards is an advocate of the A-B-C method of "crisis management" as formulated by Dr. Warren L. Jones, a Pasadena psychiatrist.

She directs a staff of volunteers who answer calls for help and also instructs volunteers of other organizations such as the Alcoholism Council of Greater Los Angeles on methods of helping others survive in a crisis.

The favored crisis management method is:

—A—Achieve contact with the caller or client; try to get the name, some personal information such as occupation and income bracket, all of which help to establish rapport.

—B—Boil down the problem to its essentials by asking the subject what happened most recently to prompt him to call; is there an immediate crisis; how does he see the problem—as a physical, mental or interpersonal one?

—C—Cope with the problem actively through an inventory of the person's ingenuity and resources and refer him to what seems like the best method of solution.

Mrs. Edwards stresses that the volunteer counselor should listen carefully and not try to give advice but rather to draw out the disturbed person.

"The counselor must try to get empathy going," she said. "Get warmth into your voice. Ask what methods of solution have been tried if the problem arose in the past. If a recommended solution did not work, why did it not work? What does the person think your agency can do? How does he feel you can help?"

If the caller says he has tried everything (which is usually not true) then make this suggestion:

"Suppose you had a friend with a similar problem", said Mrs. Edwards. "What would you advise? What would you tell him to do?

"Suppose the person comes up with four possible solutions. Tell him to pick the one best."

The method goes along with the theory that many counselors have—a person in distress is not really looking for advice and is sometimes merely looking for confirmation of a solution he has already chosen.

ON BEING BLACK

Strong Influence Of Peer Group In Black Community

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"All right, Rufus, would you go on with the next paragraph, please" The eighth grade teacher nodded to the person next in line for the oral reading session.

Rufus stared hard at his book. He even knew which paragraph was next. In fact, he had counted the readers before him and the corresponding paragraphs so he could practice silently before his turn came. Dog! Why'd he have to get such hard words? Butch, who was seated in front of him, had got away clean with nothing but and's and the's. Made it through his paragraph with only one mistake. Dog!

Butch, who was seated in front of him, had only one mistake. Dog! If only Barbara Jean wasn't in this class.

He said nothing.

Carol Ann and Tina Lou began giggling in the back of the room.

"Aw shut up!" Rufus whirled around and glared at them.

"That will do," said Mrs. Jones, cautioning the girls in the back of the room to be quiet. "Go on, please, Rufus."

Barbara Jean wasn't laughing, but she sure was watching.

"I don't wanna read," Rufus said, closing his book with a bang.

Now even the boys were beginning to snicker.

Rising to his feet, Rufus clumsily, but accidentally, knocked over his desk.

"Rufus. . ." began Mrs. Jones.

"I'M GOIN', I'm goin'. . .you don't have to tell me." His body swaggered but his voice sounded resigned.

Banging the door shut, Rufus headed for the principal's office. He didn't really mind the fellas laughing at him, 'cause they weren't very 'swift' themselves. But those girls thought they were so smart. Actually, it just wasn't cool to have girls laughing at you. It would be all over the neighborhood by the time he got home from school. And, there was Barbara Jean. . .

Adolescence is unquestionably a difficult time for all youngsters and peer group influences are strong for all races and all classes. But the peer group influences are particularly powerful in the black community, where many parents (those on the scene at all) must work long hours or simply have given up on trying to control their children. With minimal adult supervision and influence, the power of the young peer group becomes vital in all areas of endeavor, often persisting through adulthood.

Which brings us to one of the possible reasons "Rufus can't read." He cannot and will not attempt to compete with the girls his age who, due to male-female developmental differences, have a physical and mental "jump" on him. He cannot and will not chance appearing stupid in front of his peers.

A possible solution in predominantly black schools would simply be to separate the boys and the girls for such academic courses as reading and math. This has been experimented within some schools but is not standard practice.

THE MAJOR argument against such practices comes from those educators who feel that boys and girls need the socialization process which occurs when they are in the same classroom.

This, of course, is true. But could they not receive coeducational socialization a portion of the day (say, in music and art) as opposed to all day?

It appears to be a matter of immediate priorities. In our schools we need academic achievement. And, if coeducation stymies this goal in any way, it needs to be re-examined.

Not only that, in the black community, coeducational socializing, on a very effective scale, takes place in the streets. Think what a big man Rufus will be when he can read—that is, compete adequately with the society at large—and have the respect of Barbara Jean.

Long Range Dates

WASHINGTON (UPI) —If you're a long-range planner, go ahead and plan all the way to the year 2,050. The telephone directory in the nation's capital devotes a full page to a bunch of tables, enabling one to match dates with days of the month to the year 2,050. Somebody at the phone company, at least, figures the world's safe for a while.

Cynthia Ward To Be Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Roth of Petaluma have announced the engagement of Mrs. Roth's daughter, Cynthia Ann Ward, to Richard Hayden Crane, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Crane of Santa Rosa.

Richard, a graduate of Santa Rosa High School, is associated with his father in the agricultural business.

Glass Table Rim

Do you have an indoor or outdoor glass-topped dining table? If the top lifts off, don't overlook sudsing off the table rim that support the glass. Spilled liquids and food particles can build up into a gummy mess which needs to be washed away.

'Wives Can Crucify Their Husbands Chances Abroad'

New York (UPI)—The wife of an American engineer in an important post in Europe sat on the dais in an engineering society meeting and proclaimed loudly how much she disliked Europe. Within 60 days, her husband was demoted to a job in Kansas City.

The teen-age son of an American executive called his father "a dope" in front of several German businessmen. The resulting silence, was almost deafening. In order to save dad's job and face, the son had to be sent off to an expensive Swiss school at once.

Such incidents point up the observed fact that "wife failure" and "children failure" cause more trouble to American companies abroad than executive failure.

"Wives can crucify their husbands by inability to adapt to foreign surroundings," says George Baan, international director of Handy Associates, an executive search firm.

"Too many wives expect to find glamor in a foreign post and react badly when it fails to materialize," said William H. Clark, head of William H. Clark Associates.

"They can't adapt to inconvenient shopping—no supermarkets—or the language barrier," Clark said. "Wife failure is particularly likely if the foreign post is in a provincial area or one of the underdeveloped countries. Paris or London will be easier to adapt to."

Baan said he has learned from experience that the wife and the children must be studied carefully but "casually" before making a final recommendation for a foreign appointment.

Both Baan and Clark commended the techniques developed by Mobil Oil Corp., International Business Machines Corp. and a few other big companies in studying the family relationships of an executive before sending him abroad.

William Alexander Jr., of Mobil's international division, said his firm has developed a four-hour interview with husband and wife to determine if the couple will get along as well with each other and with other people in a foreign environment as they do in the United States.

Alexander said the couple's relationships to each other is potentially more important than their attitudes towards other people in reaching a decision about sending them abroad.

A couple that is happy in the domestic environment may be unhappy and even drift apart in a foreign environment. This, of course, would ruin the man's job performance.

In his four-hour interview, Alexander usually has to break some bad news to the wife. Considering the nature of the oil business, she may learn for the first time that her husband will have to make regular trips away from home without her.

Book Depository Sold To JFK Memorabilia Collector

DALLAS (UPI)—The Texas School Book Depository, that infamous red brick building from which President John F. Kennedy was gunned down in 1963, was sold at public auction Thursday.

Aubrey Mayhew, 42, of Nashville, Tenn., who claims he owns the largest collection of Kennedy memorabilia in the world, bought the building for $650,000. Asked what his plans were for the building, Mayhew replied, "none." Asked why he bought it, Mayhew said, "it was cheap."

There was more to it than that, of course, and it all came out at a press conference after Mayhew signed the contract and put up the $65,000 deposit. Prior to that Mayhew refused to answer questions because newsmen were "too disorderly" to suit him.

Mayhew said he became interested in preserving Kennedy memorabilia about six months after the assassination because, as he put it, "history was being made and I wanted to preserve some of it."

With the aid of a partner, whom he refused to name, Mayhew established the John F. Kennedy Memorial Center in Nashville. He said the center would remain in Nashville despite his purchase of the depository.

The present owner of the building, Col. D. Harold Byrd, reportedly had been offered $1.5 million for the 67-year-old structure.

Performances will begin at 8:15 today, tomorrow and next Friday and Saturday. (Independent-Journal photo.)

'Threepenny Opera' Will Bow Tonight

Sir Francis Drake High School's production of the Weill-Brecht "Threepenny Opera" will open tonight in conjunction with the school's fine arts festival.

The production, which will begin at 8:15 today, tomorrow, and next Friday and Saturday in the school's little theater, will include breaks in the story in which the young actors will speak to the audience and relate the appeals of 1928 Berlin to 1970 Marin.

Among the cast will be Joel Blum, a senior, as Macheath; Pam Crane, a senior, as Jenny; Cynthia Farina, a sophomore, as Lucy Brown, and Risa Skerpan, a junior, and Susan Most, a senior, sharing the role of Polly Peachum.

In addition to the musical in the little theater, the fine arts festival will feature exhibits of the work of students in the fields of jewelry, painting, photography and ceramics.

The exhibits, all in the fine arts building, will be open from 7 p.m. until curtain time each of the four evenings, and from 2 to 5 p.m. tomorrow and next Saturday when live music and refreshments will be provided.

Orchestra Da Camera To Present Concert On Sunday

Four young musicians will be soloists in a free public concert to be presented by the Orchestra da Camera at 8 p.m. Sunday in Alumnae Hall on the San Domenico school campus in Sleepy Hollow.

Organized by the San Domenico music department headed by Faith France and guest conducted by Hugo Rinaldi, director of music for San Rafael schools, the orchestra is composed of faculty members and students at San Domencio and some Marin professional and nonprofessional musicians.

Soloists, all of whom have won many musical honors, will be pianists Joan Franzini, Joanne Gaizutis and Michael Mello and cellist Jan Gauder.

Highlight of the program will be the Concerto in C Major for Two Pianos by J. S. Bach performed by Joan Franzini and Michael Mello. They have been chosed to play this work at the Junior Bach Festival on April 25 in Hertz Memorial Hall at the University of California.

Joanne Gaizutis will play Copland's "Quiet City" and the Greig Concerto in A Minor for Piano.

Jan Gauder will perform the Concerto Do Minore for Cello by Antonio Vivaldi.

The music for this concert is provided through the cooperation of Local 6 of the American Federation of Musicians AFL-CIO.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and from Parents Magazine. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY:

"Goodbye, Mr. Chips" — Beautifully stages musical version of James Hilton's novel about a lonely schoolmaster who falls in love with a music hall star and her influence on the students and the professor.

"Oliver" —Great, big, overlong musical made from the show, which was made from the Dickens' classic. Delightful version, although there are some scary moments for very young children.

ADULTS AND TEENS:

"Anne of the 1000 Days" — Magnificently staged and cast, historical drama of lust and political intrigue which encompasses the courtship, marriage, trial and beheading of Anne Boleyn. An elegant pageant presented with new perspective.

"Cactus Flower" — Middle-aged playboy dentist drafts his nurse to masquerade as his estranged wife and rescue him from a complicated situation with his current mistress.

BORDERLINE:
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Alice's Restaurant" — Thought provoking, true story. Folksinger Arlo Guthrie describes a commune that welcomes the wandering hippies who sing, dance, make love and smoke pot in an uncommitted life that is both sad and funny. Some of the language and actions are in poor taste.

"Frankenstein's Daughter" — Ponderous crudely executed chapter in this series has only one claim to originality, the sex of the monster. Wooden subhuman mediocrity.

"John and Mary" — A story that starts with sex and ends with the awakening of love. Amusing, poignant film, extremely well performed. Always-present nude scene is prominent.

"Long Ride from Hell" — Only surviving member of a family, all who have been murdered, sets out to even the score. Brutality and blood and a weak plot plus low level of acting make for a poor picture.

"They Shoot Horses Don't They?" — Dance marathons of depression years are vividly recreated in this powerful unusual drama in a study of humanity that is symbolic of life's struggles. Ending is macabre and shocking.

ADULTS ONLY:

"Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice" — An irreverent social satire, slick in its trimmings, has a sharp bite in its characters, dialogue and frank appraisal of modern marriage and morals.

"Hard Contract" — A professional assassin who murders and makes love with equal heartless detachment, falls in love. Some provacative discussions about good and evil, life and death. Nudity, explicit sex and murder are wrapped in glamour and casually presented.

"MASH" — Title stands for Mobile Army Surgical Hospital. Antiwar film deals with three Army surgeons who have developed an outlandished life style in order to survive the gore and horror that they live through. Scenes are grusome as they are funny. Bittersweet element of truth in action and dialogue. Strong stomach is recommended.

"Midnight Cowboy" — Offbeat, hardhitting story of a male prostitute and a crippled hustler who meet in New York. Sordidness is tempered by skill and compassion, told in an uncompromising, way.

"Putney Swope" — Devastating satire about an agency taken over by militant blacks led by Putney Swope. After promising opening, humor sinks to tasteless level as foul language and nudity are substituted for wit.

"Zabriskie Point" — Director of this film makes a vague, confused statement on what is bugging our youth on American culture. Story filled with symbolic metaphors, especially during a sexual encounter in the barren, dusty desert.

Youth Admits To Weed Charge

David Darrell Chappelle, 19, of San Rafael has pleaded guilty to a reduced misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana Feb. 25 when arrested on a balcony outside the Hall of Justice.

He had originally been charged with a felony count of the same offense.

Judge Hadden W. Roth on Wednesday set sentencing for May 29.

Chappelle was stopped by a Marin Drug Abuse Bureau inspector who asked the youth what he was doing outside his office. The inspector said the youth placed a lid of marijuana on a table behind him when the officer started to search him.

ART REVIEW

Sister Joanne's Woodcuts Explore The Human Feeling

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The viewpoints in the two media are so different that discussing Sister M. Joanne's woodcut and watercolor show through April 24 at Dominican College's San Marco Gallery is almost like dealing with two shows.

In her dark, religious woodcuts, the Dominican College art instructor explores the deep, often tormented aspects of human feeling. Her watercolors are a warm personal response to the gentle gifts of nature.

In direct terms or not, Sister Joanne's woodcuts suggest painful messages. Where they lack the actual agony of "I Have Loved You," in which Christ's body has just been lifted from the cross or of "My Soul ils Ready To Die With Sorrow," in which crumbling souls bend behind the main, self-offering figure—they often portend the same.

In "I Have Called You A Friend," all the gestures and body attitudes during the washing of Christ's feet are chillingly relaxed and trusting. And there is a tight quality in all the prints which goes beyond the natural forcefulness of the technique and which suggests even more powerful feelings.

To the same degree, Sister Joanne's watercolors are loose, soft and fragile. The stiffness of mountain brush and the hardness of stone haze in a moist, gray-green diagonal flow to suggest the contour and substance of a canyon.

"Tulip Trees in Autumn" are a fusion of fall colors warmed by an indirect glow. While "Autumn Light" shows dark wet branches reaching up through blurring gold toward the hard steel of a growing colder sky.

Sister Joanne has great control of the watercolor medium, particularly in a spring scene, its tree bursting white with the season and spattering the fence and cool green grasses below with shattered shadow.

Oddly, the show's one oil, a medium which unlike difficult transparent watercolor can be constantly corrected by overpainting, is the one very awkward and badly painted piece in the show. The sea, sky, sand and rocks in this beach scene are all alienated from the place and from each other. And it is unfortunate that Sister Joanne elected to include it at the risk of diminishing the importance of other work at which she is more skillful.

Band Concert Sunday At Tam High

A free public concert of the Tamalpais High School Band directed by Robert J. Greenwood will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday in Ruby Scott Auditorium at the school.

Heralding World Earth Day Wednesday the program will include selections by composers of eight nationalities.

Works to be performed are "The Thunderer" march, Sousa; three movements from "Les Biches," Poulenc; "Berceuse and Finale," Stravinsky; "Minuet and Dance of the Spirits" featuring four flute soloists, Gluck; "Romanza," Mozart with Kevin Omi as horn soloist; Toccata, Fescobaldi; suite from "Bohemia", Nelhybel; and "Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral," Wagner.

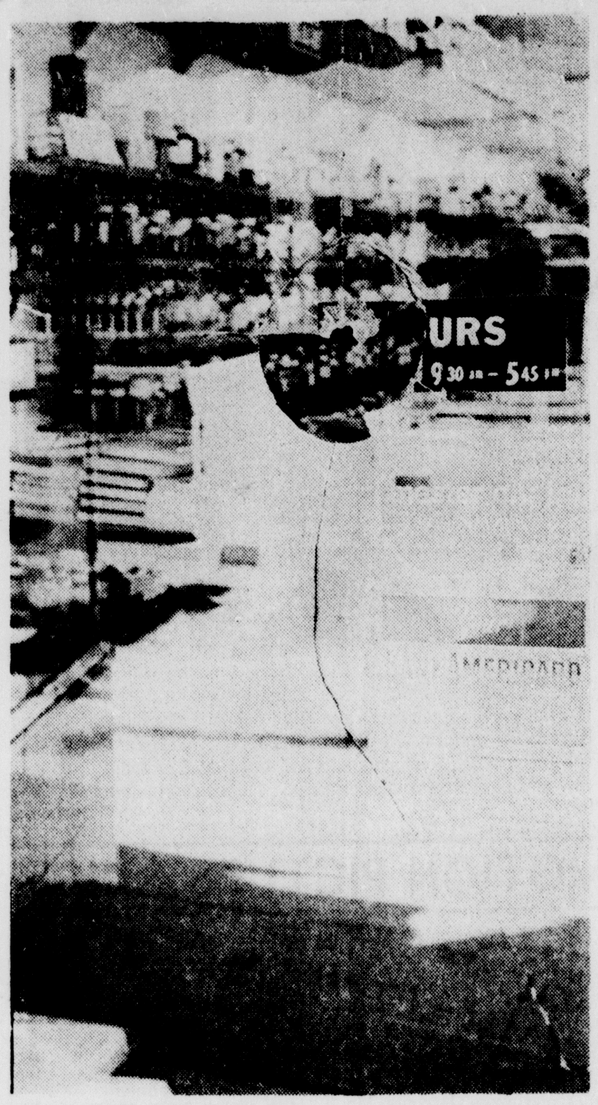
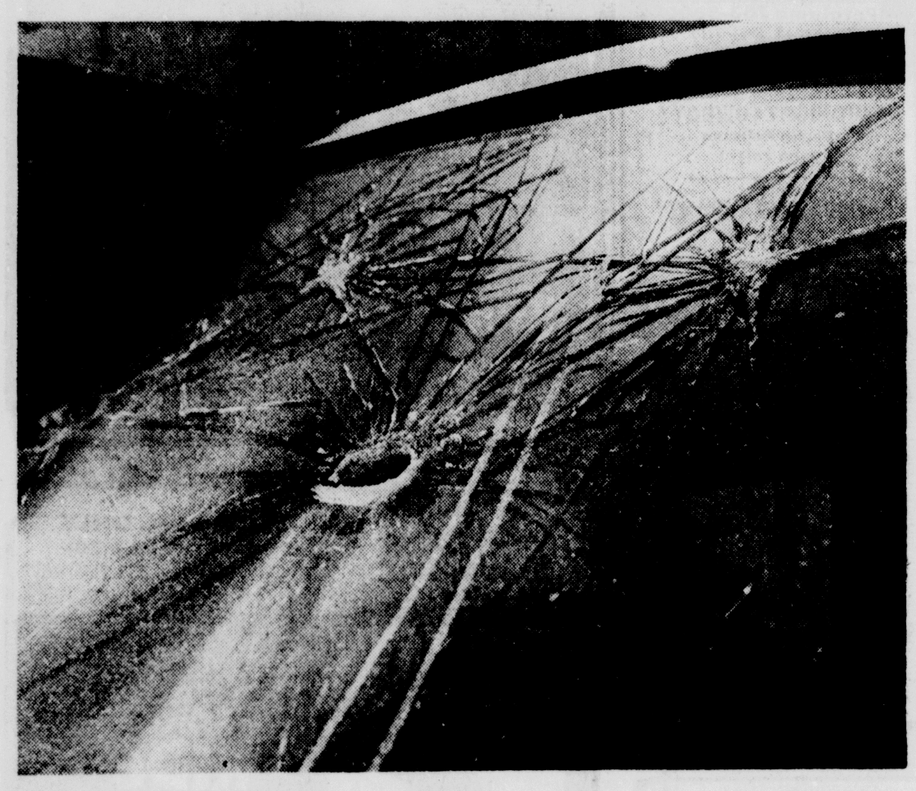
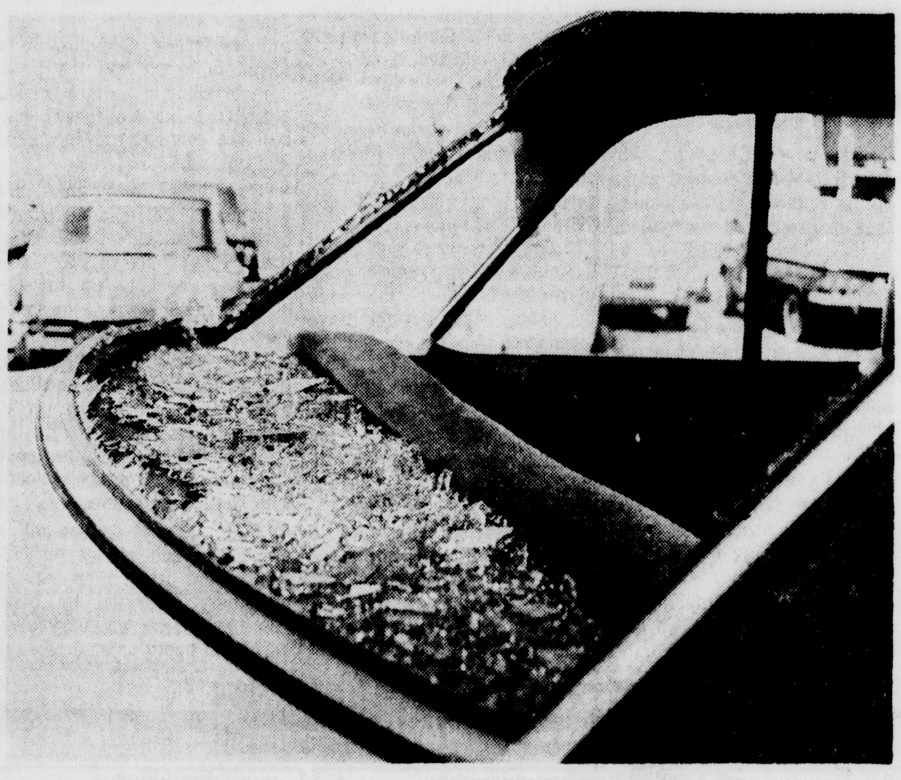
Vandalism Continues In Wake Of Strike

TARGET IN NOVATO—Damage to Independent-Journal property, which has been underway since San Francisco Typographical Union 21 struck the newspaper Jan. 7, extended to the Novato Bureau at 1535 Grant Avenue Monday night when the identification sign outside the building was pierced by an object. Nearly every window at the main plant in San Rafael was broken by rocks, steel nuts and picket signs during a demonstration just two months before, on Valentine's Day. The Novato office has also had its front window broken by metal apparently fired by slingshot.

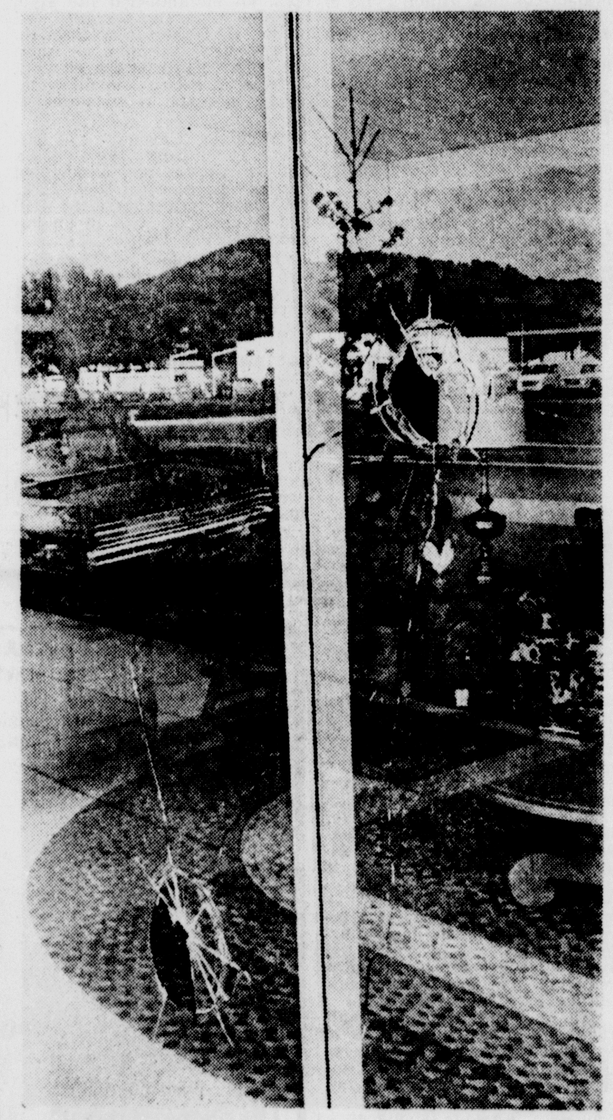


DOOR SMASHED—A metal nut crashed through a glass front door of San Rafatel Health and Dietary Foods, 1132 Fourth Street, San Rafael, Monday night. Owner Howard D. Embury told San Rafael police he had been threatened by the typographical union because he was advertising in the I-J.

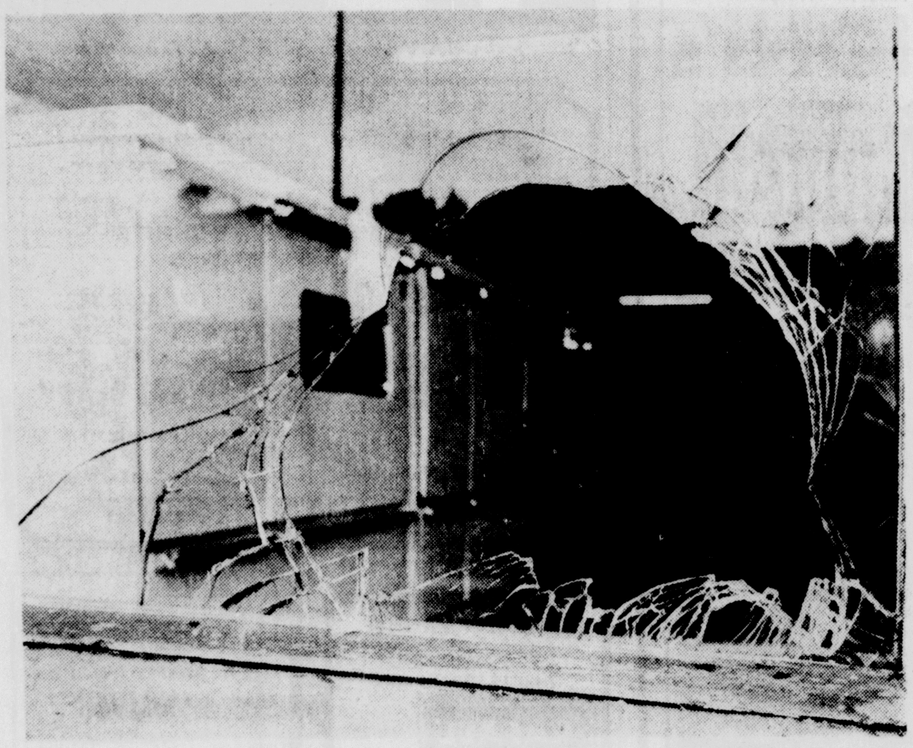




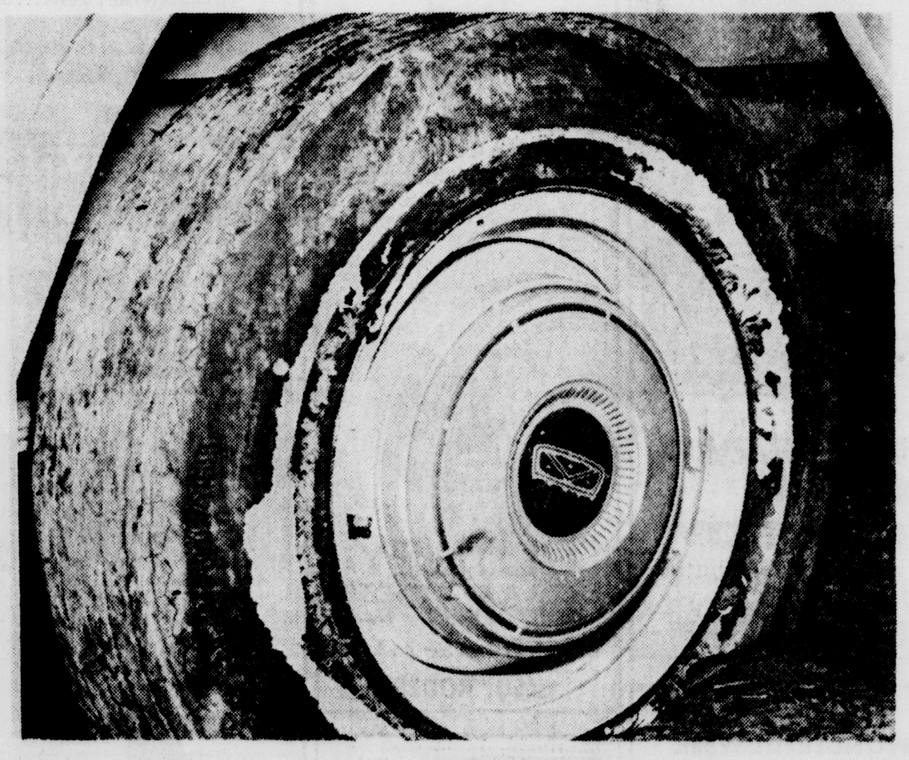
REPORTER'S CAR SMASHED—The shattered windshield, left above, is part of the damage caused to the car of Wat Takeshita, an I-J reporter in the early morning of April 4 while it was parked outside his San Rafael apartment, in the center of a row of about 10 cars in the tenant parking area. The back window, right above, was smashed as well as the window on the driver's side and four tires were slashed, apparently with a knife. Overall damage was $350. It was the latest in a series of attacks on I-J employees' cars since the strike began.



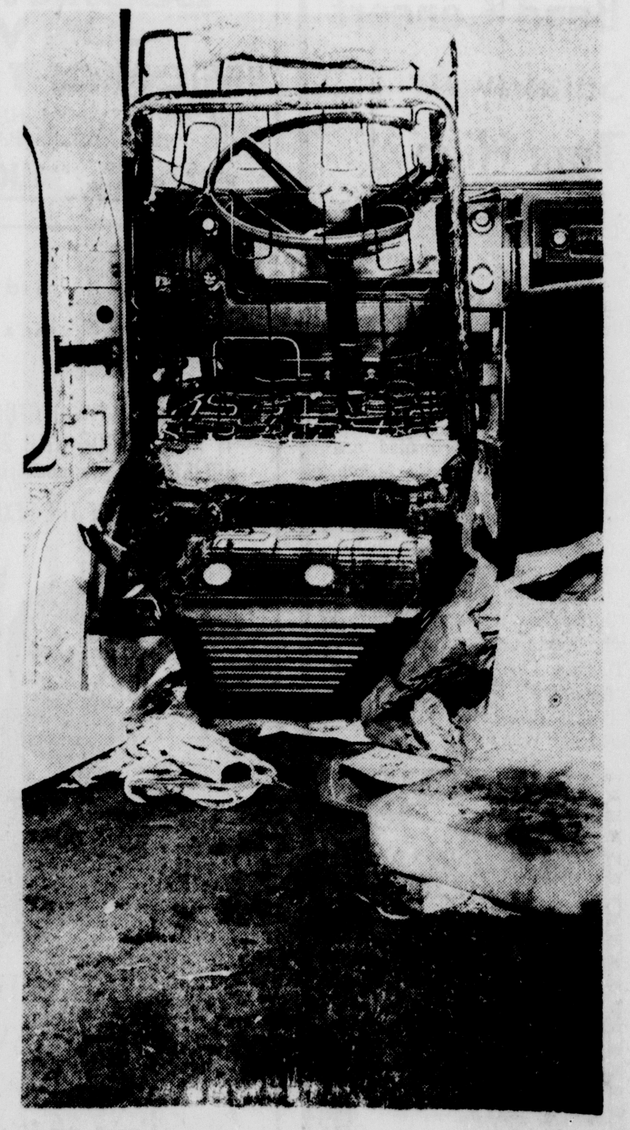
WINDOWS PIERCED—Pieces of metal pierced five holes in four windows at Johnson's Red Barn, 7388 Redwood Highway in Novato, Monday night as vandals struck in three cities, Novato, San Rafael and Petaluma.

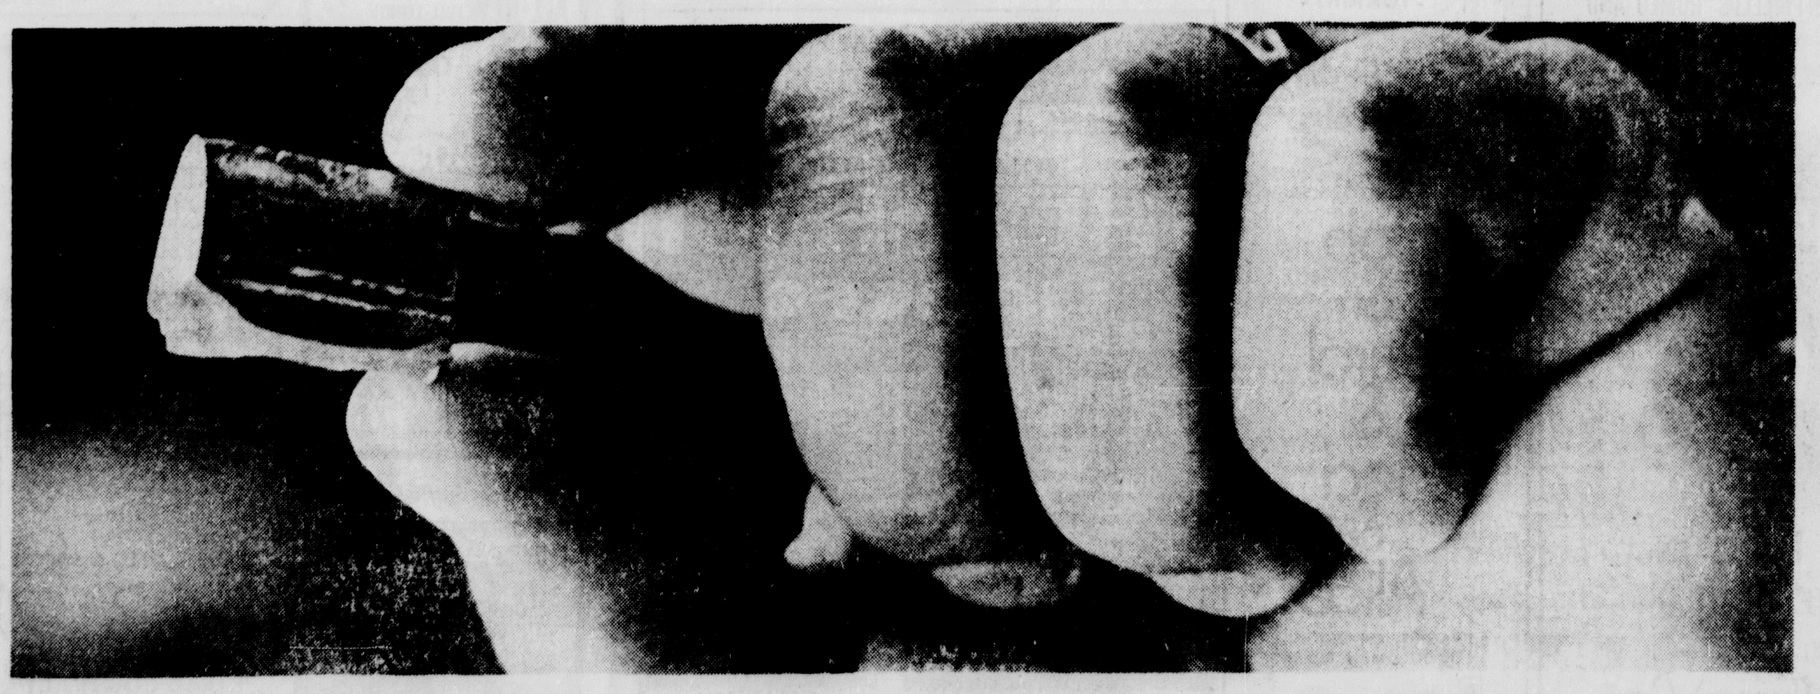


STORES HIT—A one-inch pipe was used Monday night to smash the front window at Martin and Harris Appliance Service, 1604 Fourth Street, San Rafael, in another of a long series of attacks against stores in Marin which have been underway since early February.



TIRES SLASHED—Vandals broke several windows, slashed two tires and set fire April 4 to a truck owned by the American Sentry System of 1299 Fourth Street after operator of the alarm system firm had received a call asking him to stop advertising in the Independent-Journal.





ONE OF THE WEAPONS—A Novato police officer holds a piece of lead used Monday night when five windows were broken at Johnson's Red Barn, 7388 Redwood Highway, with the loss estimated at $1,200. The same night windows were smashed at three business firms in Marin and one in Petaluma. Metal bolts and nuts as well as pieces of lead have been the weapons used in attacks on stores.

FIRE DAMAGE—Vandals are suspected to arson April 4 when a fire was set in a truck owned by American Sentry Systems of San Rafael with flames fanning the driver's seat and scorching the flooring. (Independent-Journal photos)

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Mill Valley Redwood Restaurant Spot Changes Hands And Menu

There are new owners at the Redwood Restaurant in downtown Mill Valley.

Lou Gorman, who has operated here for several years, has sold out to Miss Joeen M. Arnone of Greenbrae and Robert W. Dean and Leon B. Alvey of San Rafael, who took over the place on Wednesday. They have not been in the rerstauant business before, but all three are experienced cooks.

Plans now are to continue the same hours from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., serving breakfast, lunch and dinner as before. They will feature at least one hot special entree for lunch, specialize in Mexican food for dinners and go all out on Sunday brunches.

In due time the restaurant will be remodeled and redecorated. Counter and booths will be removed and tables will be substituted—very likely without interruption in service.

Lou, who has had little time for himself over the past few years, will take an extensive vacation before going into business again.

SMORGASBORD is quite a featurer at Cloud 5 in Novato these days. At lunchtime three are at least four or five hot items and any number of salads and cold dishes for the taking. Price for this on an "all you can eat" basis is $1.50.

At night the smorgasbord is included in the complete dinner. And when you come to look over the menu you'll notice it now includes steak and lobster combination at $5.50 (for the complete dinner including the smorgasbord). This is a big favorite.

In August, Chris Bolton plans to close the dining room for about four weeks and fly to Germany for a vacation—taking her crew with her. Look for some interesting menu developments at Cloud 5 this September or during the fall and most likely an increase in the number of German dishes. The bar at Cloud 5 will remain open during the August vacation period.

MOST OF THE ITALIAN RESTAURANTS in this country are usually obliged to compromise with American tastes.

Unless you have an Italian heritage and have an acquaintance with classic dishes from that country which were served at home, the odds are that you are not likely to do much exploring on your own.

Sal Iachino, who owns Romulus on downtown Fourth Street, San Rafael, tells me he has tried a number of items which are favorites in Italy and they have not seemed to go over. Not recognizing the names, people simply don't order them.

One of the exceptions is Sal's veal saltimbocca a la Romana. This is served flat—not rolled as you will find in many restaurants. Apparently it was popular with the Italian kings and there are weekends when Sal will sell over 100 orders.

At Romulus Mondays through Thursdays, Sal has added a different dinner special for each night. It may be scallopini or cross rib or some other, but the price is usually around $3.95 for the complete dinner—and that includes a glass of wine with the meal. There are also mahi mahi on Fridays and prime ribs on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Romulus lunches are served through the week up to 4 p.m. True, at that hour there aren't many people in the restaurant—but if you are a late luncheoner (or an early diner) you can be assured of a full meal.

There are also several daily specials on the lunches. Cannelloni with white cream sauce is a Tuesday offering at $1.50. On Thursday look for corned beef and cabbage (not exactly Italian—but as I said, you have to compromise). There are two Friday lunch specials—filet of sole and the eggplant parmigiana.

MONDAY NIGHT and you believe most restaurants are closed then—so where to go for dinner? There are more places open on Mondays than you realize. Here are some of them:

In San Rafael you'll find service at Anjo's, Bernard's Executive Lounge, Cal's Steak House, Eugene's Country Club Restaurant, The Galley, Gold Nugget Specialty House, Hauf Brau House, Holiday Inn, International House of Pancakes, The Kettle, La Casa Restaurant, Lin Fa Gardens, Lyons Restaurant, San Rafael Joe's, Taberna, Travelers Inn and Villa Rafael Restaurant.

In Sausalito: Alta Mira Hotel, Bluefin Inn, The Boat House, The Deck House, Ondine, Patty's, Red Pants Restaurant, Rico's, Sausalito Inn, Seven Seas, The Spinnaker, The Vicarage and Zack's.

In Strawberry: All three—The Ancient Mariner, Kublai Khan and Original Hick'ry Pit. In Mill Valley: El Rebozo, Hi Ho Restaurant, La Ginestra, Redwood Restaurant and Sabella's.

In Tiburon: Arlfie's Footlight, The Dock, Sam's, Thirty-Nine Main, Tiburon Lodge and Tiburon Tommie's. In Corte Madera: Boitano's, Edgewater Inn Restaurant, Copper Penny (formerly Hyatt Coffee Shoppe), Marin Joe's and Paradise Coffee Shop.

You'll also find Lyon's Restaurant in Greenbrae; Jean's Kitchen in Ross and the Golden Palace, Juarez, London Arms, The Pepperwood and Senor Alfredo's open in San Anselmo. In West Marin there is service at Chez Madeleine and Silver Dollar Inn at Point Reyes Station; Gibson House and Tarantino's in Bolinas; and Elwood's at Stinson Beach.

In Northern Marin: Berkeley Farms Restaurant, Camillo's, Cloud 5, De Borba's, Copper Penny (formerly Hyatt), Sportsman's Lodge, Sizzler Steak House and Tower of Pizza.

SUNDAY BRUNCHES are a specialty of many Marin restaurants. Some of those who favor this business are: Dominic's and Le Chalet Basque in San Rafael; Alta Mira Hotel, The Boat House, The Spinnaker and Valhalla Inn in Sausalito; Sam's Anchor Cafe, Thirty-Nine Main and the Windjammer in Tiburon; Redwood Restaurant, Mill Valley; Blue Rock Inn, Larkspur. The Pepperwood, San Anselmo; and Sportsman's Lodge in Novato.

You'll also find such seven-day-a-week restaurants as Holiday Inn, Sabella's, Tiburon Lodge, The Dock and several others who open early on Sunday handling special breakfast and lunch.

Marin Dining And Wining

PEOPLE COME FROM OVER the county to McKee's in San Rafael for lunch—from Novato, San Anselmo, Southern Marin and other places. More of them should go there for dinner.

Don Caseldine's new dinner specials are going over strong Tuesdays through Saturdays at $1.75—which includes soup and salad. These vary from day to day—roast beef, short ribs, beef burgundy, Swiss steak and baked chicken, along with the necessary extras.

Food is definitely high quality—which also goes for Don's cooking.

AT GATSBY'S in Sausalito, Jean Hoffman, Nat Johnson and Al Pimental are back from their vacation and playing Wednesday through Sunday nights. They have given themselves a new name—Heavy Duty.

Here on Sunday afternoons and Monday and Tuesday evenings are Nancy Brown and Lis Kindred who sing and play bass and guitar and are teamed with Rik Elsmit, also on guitar and vocals. They have piano and drums backup and a varied repertory. This young group goes under the same of Ripple.

Behr Promises To Remove Signs

Peter H. Behr, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, promised yesterday "to restore the beauty of our highways" by removing his campaign signs after the June 2 primary.

Behr's signs were criticized in a letter published in yesterday's Independent-Journal. The letter writer objected that the signs were contrary to Behr's stand as a conservationist.

Behr, in a statement today, said he regretted "that getting elected requires the use of roadside signs or billboards that blight the landscape."

He said that he would remove all his signs no later than June 4.

Chemical Blast Hurts Collegian

A 19-year-old College of Marin student was treated at Marin General Hospital Wednesday night for injuries suffered when a vial of chemicals he was mixing in the bedroom of his Terra Linda home exploded, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Steven R. Eskildsen of 638 Barbaree Lane suffered burns and blisters on his hands as well as internal bleeding in his ears, according to sheriff's deputies.

Officers said that Eskildsen was stirring a vial of lead nitrate and sodium azide with a metal screwdriver when the explosion occurred. There was some damage to the floor of his bedroom, also.

Jenner Rezoning Wins 4-1 Nod

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA—The Sonoma County Planning Commission conditionally approved yesterday by a 4-1 vote, rezoning of 1,000 acres on the Russian River near Jenner that is to be the site of a huge residential development.

Before giving consent, the commission said it would require a 20 per cent reduction in housing density and a "scenic design strip" that would protect natural views from Shoreline Highway.

Dissenting was Commissioner Carolyn Wolfe, who said she wanted to see what action the Legislature takes on an assembly bill that would create a coastline regulating agency.

The development, located on the south side of the river, is proposed by the Russian Harbor Corp., a sister company of Northern California Aggregates, which plans a controversial dredging operation lasting at least 10 years from the river mouth to a point 1.5 miles upstream.

Russian Harbor Corp. also holds options on an additional 6,900 acres on the north side of the river and plans ultimately to house 20,000 persons in the region.

As the planning commission began its hearing, the state Environmental Quality Study Council, a legislative advisory group, was winding up an all-day session at Santa Rosa High School on the effects of the two projects. More than 25 speakers testified for and against the corporation's plans, many of the opponents agreeing with Mrs. Wolfe that the projects should await legislative action on the coastline measure.

Participating was a co-author of the legislation. Assemblyman John Dunlap, D-Napa, who said the projects should properly be reviewed by a coastal control agency.

"The California Coast does not belong to just a few people, it belongs to all of us," he said.

Other opponents said the dredging would interfere with the coastal environmental balance.

However, Dr. David Joseph, executive officer of the North Coast Regional Water Quality Control Board, who served on a 1964 task ofrce that studied the Jenner projects, denied dredging would be detrimental to marine life and said it would enhance recreational use of the area.

The dredging would remove 29-acre Penny Island near the river mouth, and conservationists have claimed the island is a wildlife refuge. But a Novato zoologist, Philip H. Arend, who was hired by the proponents to study the island, said it is a wasteland and not worth saving.

"The island is of very little importance ecologically," he said, adding that Penny is choked with coyote brush and blackberry brambles and is in danger of eroding away.

The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors is scheduled to resume testimony into issuing a permit for the dredging May 5.

Special Workshop

A special workshop meeting of the Bolinas Community Public Utilities District with its board of directors and Kennedy Engineers of San Francisco is scheduled for 1 p.m. tomorrow at the district office, 270 Elm Road, Bolinas, to discuss new types of sewer plants according to Jane Boyer, the district's secretary.

Forty thousand pounds of elephants teeter on five little platforms while the woman in the ring provides entertainment for the wolves in the audience. The circus sponsored by North Bay Chapter 15 of the International Footprint Association will give the final performance of its two-day stand at 8 p.m. today under the big top at the end of Sims Street, San Rafael. House-Sitter Arrested In Weed Case

A 29-year-old Fairfax man, who was house-sitting the residence of two friends arrested Tuesday on suspicion of setting up a mail order drug business, was himself arrested yesterday on suspicion of possessing marijuana.

After the arrest of Edward Nation Meyer and Tina Ann Hansen at Miss Hansen's residence at 200 Tamalpais Road, Fairfax, on Tuesday, William Paul Lipps, of 207 Tamalpais Road, agreed to stay at the Hansen home to protect the house.

When Fairfax police and a Marin narcotics agent returned to the home yesterday in connection with the Hansen case, they noticed Lipps acting strangely and a heavy odor of what appeared to be marijuana smoke in the house, James R. Orr, Fairfax chief of police, said today.

A search warrent was obtained, and officers returned to the house, where they found about seven ounces of marijuana. Lipps was held at Marin County jail to appear today in municipal court.

Alioto Team Acts On Defying Ban

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — San Francisco officials, in a legal end run around the state's tough new water pollution law, have issued sewer permits for $55 million in new construction that was barred by the state, it was learned yesterday.

The tidal wave of sewer permits came after San Francisco Superior Court Judge Carl H. Allen lifted the state's ban on new permits. The judge issued his series of orders on Monday, and city building department officials promptly telephoned every person who applied for, or expressed interest in a permit, to come to city hall immediately and get his sewer permit.

Judge Allen set a hearing on his orders for April 27, but indicated he would continue the thaw until the case is settled.

But a legal crunch between the state and city was due late today in Judge Allen's court, with Deputy Atty. Gen. Harold Teasdale and Mayor Joseph L. Alioto due to argue the state's plea that the judge renew the ban, imposed last month.

Teasdale warned that the city's issuance of the permits may get the developers in even more trouble. He told newsmen that if the state won the suit filed against it by San Francisco, then the state will disconnect any sewer connections permitted by the city under the judge's orders.

Alioto, in an interview with the Independent-Journal, said there was "nothing unusual" about issuing sewer permits before building permits had been issued.

He also insisted there was nothing exceptional about issuing sewer permits before plans even cleared the city planning commission.

One of the permits issued, on Tuesday, was for a $24.5 million hotel in the Embarcadero Center — despite the fact that plans for the hotel itself were approved only yesterday by the planning commission.

Alioto also said there was nothing unusual about issuing $55 million in sewer permits in four days.

He argued that the city's fight with the state over the city's long-standing pollution of the bay was "a civil rights area." Declaring the city was doing all it could within its financial power to clean up its sewage, Alioto asked, "What the hell is wrong with these (state) people?"

"No one is going to flush a toilet in Rockefeller Center (Embarcadero Center) for a year and a half" during its construction, he said. By then, the city will have its pollution problem under control, Alioto said.

He also criticized the state for demanding additional tests of sewage quality, tests that will cost the city an additional $126,000 next year, Alioto said.

"I'm getting madder all the time — these (state) people are doing all the talking and not putting up a dime," Alioto declared angrily.

The city's issuance of the $55 million in permits gave the city most of what it lost when it pleaded for exemptions from the ban for $64.7 million in construction. Exemptions were limited by the state and regional water quality control boards to schools, hospitals, public housing and public service facilities such as a telephone exchange.

The $55 million end run by the city included a high-rise hotel, office buildings, motels and apartment.

William C. Weber of San Mateo, chairman of the regional board, said he was surprised that Judge Allen had lifted the ban before allowing the state to argue its case.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, in his Tuesday press conference, said "it is kind of time to separate the sheep from the goats, and find out whether we mean all these things that people have been saying about environment or do we just mean it for somebody else, and whether we want to keep on polluting the bay."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Low Blood Sugar Can Receive Temporary Boost From Candy

J. M. writes: "I work hard six days a week—harder than most women. Every day, about mid-morning and mid-afternoon, I seem to get tired.

Coffee breaks do nothing for me. Our company doctor told me sucking a hard piece of peppermint candy would boost my blood sug-level and give me some energy, and it did.

"Does the candy really boos my blood sugar level and give me some energy, and it did. imagination? My co-workers think this is for the birds, yet they eat the peppermint and kid me while munching away."

Candy elevates the blood sugar level temporarily and dispels fatigue provided—and this is important—that the tiredness is caused by too little sugar in the blood (hypoglycemia).

This condition is suspected whenever an individual develops fatigue, drowsiness, hunger, uncontrollable yawning, nervousness, sweating, trembling, or rapid heart beat between meals. In some the level does not fall low enough to produce all these symptoms.

YOUR CO-WORKERS will not get a boost from the candy if their blood sugar is normal. Any carbohydrate containing sugars, such as fruit juices, grapes, raisins, or milk, will bring temporary relief, but they are not advisable for long periods of time, especially when symptoms are severe.

Hypoglycemics do better when they consume foods that are slowly absorbed and do not stimulate too much insulin. (Insulin lowers the sugar level.)

Menus rich in protein and moderate in fats, but low in carbohydrates are preferred. It may be necessary to supplement the diet with between-meal snacks of protein or slowly absorbed carbohydrates (milk or peanut butter). Artificial sweeteners are a good sugar substitute.

OBESE HYPOGLYCEMICS must avoid too many calories because some of them make a complete switch and become diabetics. A complete examination is also suggested because some victims have a malfunctioning pancreas or liver.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

AGE, NOT MENOPAUSE

R.R. writes: Can the change of life cause cancer, heart disease, or high blood pressure?

REPLY

No. These diseases are more common at the menopausal age than in youth. But should one of them develop, it usually is coincidental.

On absent voter ballots the cross (+) may be marked with pen or pencil, except that if and to the extent that data vote ballot cards are provided for absent voters, each absent voter shall punch the ballot card in the hole after the word "YES" to the right of each measure or in the hole after the word "NO" to the right of each measure. Absent voter ballots setting forth said measures, and each of them shall be issued to qualified electors residing within the City entitled thereto, in the manner provided by law, and such absent voter ballots shall likewise be canvassed, or caused to be canvassed, by the Board of Supervisors of said County.

(f) At the next regular meeting of the Council occurring after the returns of said special municipal bond election have been canvassed, or caused to be canvassed, by the Board of Supervisors of said County, and the certification of the results thereof to the Council, or at a special meeting called thereafter for such purpose, the Council shall cause to be spread upon its minutes a statement of the results of said special municipal bond election as ascertained by said canvass.

Section 3. The Council proposes to issue and sell bonds of the City for the objects and purposes, but not exceeding the amount, specified in said respective measures if two thirds of the qualified electors voting on each separate measure at said special municipal bond election shall vote in favor of each of said measures; provided, however, that the votes cast for and against each of said respective measures shall be counted separately and, when two-thirds of the qualified electors voting on any one of said measures vote in favor thereof, such measure shall be deemed adopted and bonds of the City in the aggregate amount specified in the measure or measures which carried by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the qualified electors of the City voting on said measure or measures at said election shall thereby be authorized to be issued and sold for the objects and purposes specified in said measure or measures which received such affirmative two-thirds vote.

Said bonds shall be negotiable in form and of the character known as serial, and shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed seven percent (7) per annum, payable semiannually (except that interest for the first year after the date of said bonds may be made payable at or before the end of said year). Provision is hereby made for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds as follows: At the time of making the general tax levy after incurring the bonded indebtedness, and annually thereafter until the bonds are paid or until there is a sum in the treasury set apart for that purpose sufficient to meet all payments of principal and interest on the bonds as they become due, the Council shall levy and collect a tax sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and such part of the principal as will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied at the next general tax levy will be available; provided, however, that if said bonds are authorized to be issued at said election, and it is expected that all or any part of said bonds will be sold at such time that the principal of or interest on such bonds will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied after such sale would be available to pay such principal or interest, the Council, at the time of fixing the annual tax levy, may levy a tax in an amount clearly sufficient to pay that portion of the principal of and interest on said bonds which it is expected will become due before the proceeds of the next succeeding tax levy will be available. If the earliest maturity of the bonds is more than one year after the date of issuance, the Council shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the interest as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal on or before maturity. Such taxes shall be levied and collected as other City taxes and shall be in addition to all other taxes and shall be used only for payment of the bonds and the interest thereon.

Section 4. The City Clerk of the City is hereby directed (a) to publish this ordinance once in full in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published in the City, at least three days before its adoption, and (b), upon the passage and adoption of this ordinance, to publish the same once a day for at least seven (7) days in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published at least six (6) days a week in the City, and such publication shall constitute notice of said election. No other notice of the election hereby called need be given.

Section 5. This ordinance shall be forthwith entered upon the minutes of the Council and in the Ordinance Book of the City. This ordinance, being an ordinance calling and ordering an election, shall take effect from and after its final passage and approval.

LONG-TERM NOVATO PROJECT

Pupils Creating Own Wilderness

By THERON A. NEWELL

A nature study class normally involves getting the students into a school bus, going to some unspoiled area and then studying plants and animals in their natural habitat.

But that is being changed at Pleasant Valley School in Novato.

Teachers, students and parents are building their own nature study area, a miniature one.

It will be years in the making but will be a continual process in which students will be able to study the workings of nature day by day through the changing seasons. It will be constructed right on the school grounds — just a few feet from the classroom.

Principal Ray Monson and his staff has been working on the idea for several years. Until urbanization, Pleasant Valley was a quiet region of orchards and pastures and hills studded with oak trees. Then the developers moved in and the pastoral setting was changed into one of bulldozed slopes and scores of houses.

When the school was built, the hill behind it was cut. So deep were the cuts that a 1,000-foot-long bench was left. Rye grass was planted to prevent erosion. Children played on the bench or slid down the slopes on cardboard. During wet weather, parents complained about muddy clothes, so the area was placed off-limits during the school hours, Monson said.

When the Parent-Teacher Association raised funds from carnivals to landscape the front of the school, Monson said, turning the bench into a natural area was proposed.

"The idea caught on with the students and they started turning their energies in that direction," he said.

The school received help in planning from Bowling Green School in Sacramento, where a one-acre "wilderness" area had been constructed.

The biggest hurdle was to get water to the site for a planned pond, 50 feet in diameter.

The district board came through by voting $100 to pipe water to create the pond. The rest of the work and plants will be provided by the students and parents, said Monson.

The school has already purchased 500 seedling Bishop pines for $10. Students have scrounged coffee cans and planted the seedlings in them. They have fenced off an area in the school yard for the trees. Next fall they will plant the trees to start a forest on the flat.

The pond is intended to become a watering spot for birds and the home of aquatic life.

"The area will never be pruned, trimmed or cut," says Monson. Leaving nature undisturbed, year by year, the school will keep a record of the changes. Monson already has a notebook filled with pictures of the area.

"It will teach the coming generation of Americans how we can preserve and protect the heritage of our natural setting," Monson said.

IRATE DWELLERS

Panel Admits To No Rent Power

By WAT TAKESHITA

A rent boycott and mass picketing were suggested last night as possible weapons families might use against a Tiburon landlord who suddenly raised rents from $190 to $290 to rid himself of tenants with children.

A dozen irate persons, some of them already ousted as tenants of Tiburon View Apartments at 4 Circle Drive, appealed to the Marin County Human Rights Commission for some kind of rent control.

James Quiett, commission chairman and Austin J. Thompson, executive director of the Human Rights Commission, explained at the Civic Center meeting that under present law, the tenants have no redress. However, individual commissioners declared they sympathize with the evicted residents and called for wide publicity and concerted citizen action to fight exorbitant rent raises aimed at evicting families with children.

"Nobody is going to win anything by acting individually," declared Commissioner Harry D. Williams. "The only thing we can do is keep moving north. Pretty soon we'll be commuting from Alaska to San Francisco. Perhaps you can boycott and not pay rent for three or four months. . .Pull a countywide rent strike."

"What we need is a bill of rights for tenants and a code of ethics for landlords," said Commissioner Richard Harding. "I don't know how it can be done, but there should be some way."

Kenneth Eckley, who was forced to move to Casa Marinwood because of the $100 raise in rent, suggested picketing the apartment owner, Charles Schonfeld of San Francisco.

"He owns the Continental Lodge on Van Ness," said Eckley. "Maybe we should all go and picket his motel."

Eckley described Schonfeld as "a big liar" for saying that the rents were raised because children damaged his apartment. "My daughter was born in that apartment. She was only 5 years old and couldn't have caused any damage. I challenge Mr. Schonfeld to find any damage."

He said some of the tenants evicted by rent raises had children only 6 months old. "You can't tell me a 6-month-old will cause damage!"

Eckley said his rent was raised from $190 to $290 last August. "Then they turned around and rented the same apartment for $23[illegible]."

"What he's trying to do is make them high-priced apartments," declared Richard Hegeria, who moved to 5 Andrew Way. "My wife is seven months pregnant, and we have a boy in school. We were given one month notice to get out. This man is just trying to make another buck and he doesn't care how he makes it."

Thompson reported that he, Deputy County Counsel Thomas G. Hendricks, and two tenants visited Schonfeld at his San Francisco office on March 31, and Schonfeld agreed to these temporary concessions:

Edward G. Navarro, who has two children who will graduate from their respective schools in June, got a reprieve until July 1. Navarro, who got a notice of rent raise from $185 to $275, will be able to stay through June at $235 per month.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Stern were offered a new lease and allowed to stay at the Tiburon View Apartments.

Hagerla announced he has circulated a petition which now has about 60 signatures, asking the county for some legal means to protect the tenants. "We plan to present this to the Marin County Board of Supervisors."

Other ousted tenants who spoke up last night included Willis Harpster, who now lives at 30 Central Drive in Mill Valley; Michael Wardlow of Tiburon Estates; Garry Sebring of San Anselmo, and Navarro.

"What you should do is form a union," Commissioner Mary Brooks told the tenants.

"But they've all moved out now except two," replied Mrs. Rita Stern.

Mrs. Brooks, obviously ired by the rent raise, muttered something about resorting to direct action, like using a baseball bat.

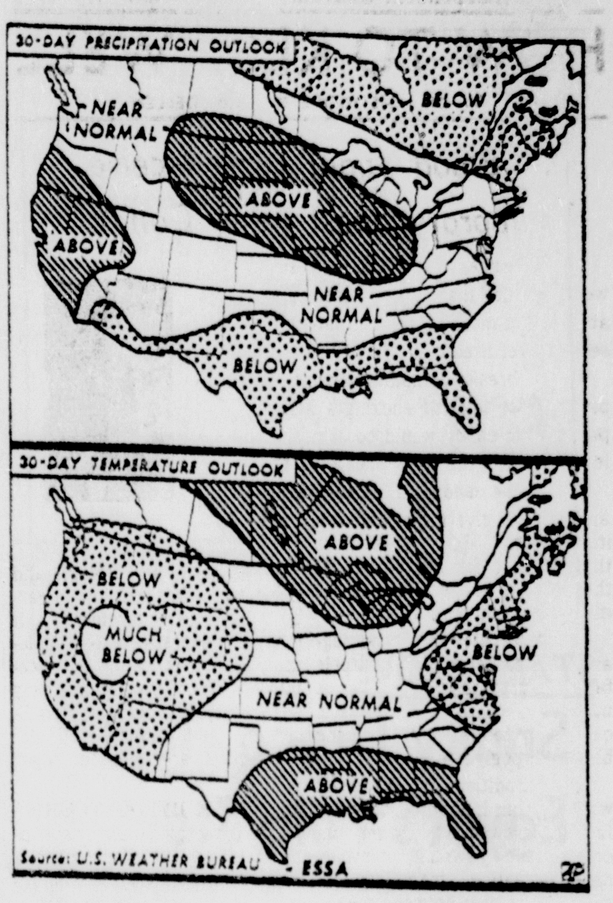
The audience applauded, and one person shouted: "We ought to have someone like you speak for us."

Clinton L. Mosher, former political editor of the San Francisco Examiner, who first complained to the commission about the rent raise last month has moved to Sonoma County. He wrote to the commission that he will continue the fight through a private attorney.

Thompson said the rent raise is not an isolated case restricted to Tiburon. "The middle class is being driven out of the county. Police, teachers, bank tellers, the mid-management type of people find they can no longer live in the county."

Thompson said he and his staff will continue to work for legislation to protect tenants' rights.

On a motion by Commissioner Charles B. Weers, the commission voted 5 to 0 to ask the county supervisors to support such legislation.



CHILLY, DAMP FORECAST

Maps prepared from U.S. Weather Bureau 30-day forecast indicate that Marin and Sonoma counties should expect lower temperatures and more rainfall than normal between now and May 15. Last year, San Rafael had only .73 inches of rain for the period although 1.69 is average. Petaluma recorded .75 inches. The mercury reached 90 in San Rafael and 91 in Petaluma last May 5, and swooped to 38 in Petaluma on April 25 and 30, while 42 was the period's low for San Rafael, on May 1.

Loggers Face Fire Charges

Criminal charges were filed today against an Oregon logging firm which is accused of allowing fires to burn uncontrolled on the Ethel Righetti ranch at Bolinas Ridge.

Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said that the logging partners, George Walker, Robert Matthews and Jerald Humbert, of North Bend, have been notified in a letter to appear in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday.

SEVEN COUNTS

The loggers have been charged with seven counts of illegal burning during the period between April 7 and last Tuesday. Open burning is prohibited under a regulation of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, and the logging firm's burning permit expired on March 31, Bales said.

Last week County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney asked the district attorney's office to file the charges, saying that Marin County Fireman had gone several times to put out unattended fires.

"The fire chief isolated the fire . . . immediately because the fire was very close to a highly incendiary area of dry brush, which, if ignite would have spread to Marin Municipal Water District lands," Maloney said of the first fire on April 7.

SEEDLINGS BURNED

"Rather than piling the slag and debris and burning it under controlled conditions, the loggers merely set fire to the entire area and have burned extensive areas containing ground cover and seedling trees," Maloney charged.

Bales said today that firemen using bulldozers and other equipment battled 14 fires on the ranch in the seven-day period.

The misdemeanor offense with which the loggers are charged carries a maximum penalty of six months in jail and a fine of $500 on each count, Bales said.

The lumbering firm was under attack last summer for allegedly poor logging practices, and an Alameda County judge ordered the firm to meet certain standards.

Marin's Agricultural Preserve Sprawl Called Bad For Tax Base

By WAT TAKESHITA

Marin County's agricultural preserve area, which covers about 65 per cent of the entire land area in the county, may have to be cut down drastically to save the tax base.

This was the consensus of members of the county's Land Conservation Advisory Committee, which met at the Civic Center yesterday.

Chairman Boyd Stewart and his colleagues, however, want to make sure that shrinking the preserve area will not deprive ranchers who are engaged in legitimate agriculture the right to agricultural preserve status and lowered assessments.

Committee members decided not to take action yesterday but set another meeting for 10 a.m. next Thursday in the county counsel's office at the Civic Center. Stewart said the county supervisors want some indication in the next week or two on what direction the committee is going.

Assessor Bert W. Broemmel reported that of the total 333,440 acres in the county, 213,264 acres are designated as agricultural preserve area. Landowners in that preserve area have the right to sign a contract with the county, promising to keep their land agricultural for 10 years, and thereby get reduced assessments. Thus far, 91,884 acres are under preserve contract and taking advantage of reduced taxes.

Committee members agree that in many cases, small landowners are signing contracts with the county under the guise of agricultural use by grazing a couple of horses or cows.

"The way to stop this is to remove from the preserve area all land other than those now under contract," suggested Stewart. "We would not harm those who in good faith made the contract, and we would then buy some time to determine where the preserve area should be."

He said undoubtedly, some areas not under contract would have to be put back in the preserve area.

Before the present vast preserve area is shrunk, the county would hold hearings, and those who want to enter into contracts with the county would not be denied that chance, said Stewart.

Normand H. Traverso, executive manager of the Marin Property Owners Association, who sat in on the meeting, agreed that one solution would be to limit agricultural preserves to the 91,884 acres already under contract. "Then the only others who can come into the preserve would be large pracels 100 acres or more," said Traverso. "It's a radical way but the only way to stop small parcels from coming in."

Giacomini pointed out at in many rural areas, vast acreages entering preserve contracts are shifting the tax burdes onto the remaining property owners.

Under new amendments to the agricultural preserve law, each county has until November of 1971 to establish land uses "not incompatible with agriculture'r' in all peserve areas that are not under contract.

This poses another question, said Stewart. "Is it fair to put the burden on those who don't contract and at the same time limit them to uses compatible with agriculture?" asked Stewart. "They would then be under pressure to come under contract. I don't know whether that's fair."

At next Thursday's meeting, Planner Rowland Darnell is to supply overlay maps to show the various general plans in the county; the rural communities of Point Reyes, Marshall and Tomales; and a rough idea of where developments are possible or expected in the near future.

Commuter Pool Drive Credited For 1,000 Cars

A one-day campaign to encourage Marin commuters to use car pools yesterday cut morning traffic on the Golden Gate Bridge by almost 1,000 cars, officials reported.

The Independent-Journal reported yesterday that the campaign's effort to form car pools at shopping centers failed, but new car pools apparently were formed independently by commuters in their own neighborhoods.

Dale W. Luehring, general manager of the bridge, said 16,226 cars crossed the bridge southbound between 6 and 9 a.m., compared with 17,200 on a normal day.

He acknowledged that the campaign, by a San Francisco radio station had not been as effective as hoped, but said that "every little bit helps."

The district is considering cutting tolls for cars carrying three or more persons during commuter hours.

Peevey Hits At Oil Allowance

Michael Peevey of San Rafael, candidate for the Democratic nomination for state Senate, has called for "ending the infamous oil depletion allowance and closing the capital gains loophole."

Peevey, speaking at a coffee at the Novato home of David McConnell Wednesday night, said these two steps would raise over $200 million in new tax revenue to be used for increased state aid to local schools. This, in turn, would ease property taxes, he said.

"It is grossly unfair to expect taxpayers to pay higher property taxes every year in order to support local schools," Peevey said. The share of state support of the cost of elementary and secondary school education paid from state-collected taxes was down to 35 per cent, he said, but 10 years ago, it was 50 per cent.

"This downward trend must be reversed," Peevey said.

Sonoma Ends Marin Edge In Population

Sonoma County has overtaken Marin in total population, dropping Marin County from 18th among the 58 counties of California, according to the annual California Taxpayers Association research bulletin issued today.

The bulletin lists Sonoma County's population as 204,100 as of July 1, 1969, which is 500 more than Marin's population of 203,600.

In assessed value per capita, Marin ranks fourth among the larger counties with populations of 200,000 or more. Only San Francisco, Contra Costa and Kern have higher assessed value per capita.

Marin County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said Marin's assessed valuation per capita is $2,739, as compared with the statewide average of $2,505.

Sonoma County's assessed value per capita is $2,225, which ranks 50th among the 58 counties.

In total county budget, 51 counties have higher budgets per capita than Marin, Mitchell reported. In 1969-70, Marin's budget per capita was $168.65, whereas the statewide average was $199.65. "One contributing reason is that Marin has a lower welfare budget per capita than most counties," Mitchell explained.

Sonoma's budget per capita is $221.20, or 38th in the state.

In the amount of property taxes collected per capita, Marin ranks 36 among the 58 counties, while Sonoma ranks 31st.

Marin County started the 1969-70 fiscal year last July with a reserve of $107,000, in a total budget of $34,336,000. That was the smallest reserve fund of any county in California with a population of 40,000 or more, said Mitchell. Last week, the county's reserve fund dwindled to $153.

Lake Superior is the largest body of fresh water in the world. It is fed by more than 200 rivers.

Impassioned Plea To Indian Court Rights

American Indians should have the right to their day in court and a jury trial like any other American, the Marin County Human Rights Commission declared last night by unanimous vote.

Acting on an impassioned plea by Commissioner Harry D. Williams of Fairfax, himself an American Indian, the commissioners urged the Marin County Board of Supervisors to ask Marin legislators to push a resolution in the Legislature.

Williams said that a resolution, similar to the one that was killed in 1967, will be reintroduced this year in the California Senate. The resolution asks Congress to grant Indian citizens the right to judicial determination of their disputes with the United States.

"We have no place to appeal," said Williams. "As an Indian, everything we take to court has to go through an Act of Congress. We can't even get an attorney without approval from Washington!"

The Marin Human Rights Commission Also:

EDUCATION—Heard from field representative Joyce Bailey that Commissioner Anthony Medrano is working on a program to urge Chicanos not to drop out of high school and to encourage them to go on to College of Marin.

EMPLOYMENT—Got a discouraging report from Commissioner Charles B. Weers on growing unemployment in the building trades. He said unemployment is the highest that he can recall.

POLICE RELATIONS—Heard from Executive Director Austin J. Thompson that Commissioner Bella Aaron, chairman of the police-community relations committee, is recovering from her heart attack and will attend next month's meeting.

YOUTH PROGRAM—Authorized James E. McKenna, director of the Neighborhood Youth Program, to help those over 18 if circumstances warrant. At present, the age ceiling is 18, said McKenna.

BUDGET—Heard from Thompson that the county administrator is recommending several cuts in the Human Rights Commission's budget request, including $5,000 for program development, addition of a staff member, and $25 per meeting for commissioners. Thompson said he will continue to press for those requests.

LEGAL AID—Heard from attorney Lawrence Mayer that the county's Legal Aid Society is overloaded with requests for legal advice, and has enlisted the aid of private attorneys to handle the caseload, which totalled 587 as of March 1.

NEXT MEETING — Announced that the next regular meeting of the commission will be at 8 p.m. May 14 at the Civic Center.

Gregory Blasts Wealthy Families

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The "real enemy" of the nation are the wealthy families, says former entertainer Dick Gregory.

"The real enemy is not the police," Gregory told a San Francisco State College audience Thursday. "The real enemy are the Duponts, the Rockefellers and the Kennedys."

Gregory, who has been leading social protests for several years, also urged the students to organize into effective political groups and to continue fighting racism and the Vietnam War.

A 'Circus Of Absurd' Will Open Tonight

Merger Studied In Terra Linda

Possible merger of the Terra Linda Community Services District and Terra Linda Parks and Recreation District will be discussed at a special meeting Tuesday at 9 p.m. at the Firehouse.

According to Helen Lontz, secretary for the community services district, the regular meeting of the district was changed from Monday to 7:30 p.m. Tuesday to accommodate the special meeting.

The merger has been proposed, Mrs. Lontz said, because the parks and recreation district cannot operate on its tax base. She said it was not known yet if the merger would be legal.

Snaky Draco Held Egypt's Pole Star

By SHERMAN WALKER

Draco, the Dragon, is a long snakelike figure that curves around the pole. It stars are dim but plentiful.

Its brightest star is almost magnitude 2. It has about 30 others that are of magnitude 3, 4 and 5.

To the ancient Egyptians this constellation was of religious importance and the brightest star, Thuban, which was the pole star at that time, was considered sacred.

To locate the Dragon in the sky, face northward and look at the region that is about halfway between the North Star and overhead.

The great pyramid of Egypt was designed so the rays of Thuban shone down the great passageway, which is over 300 feet long.

Due to precession the position of the celestial pole, as well as Thuban, gradually shifted and the later pyramids and temples showed a slightly different position to accommodate the changed place of the star.

This constellation has many mythological stories—sometimes the stories are different but the characters are the same.

The dragon supposedly guarded the golden apples of the Hesperides. It is also alleged to be the dragon that guarded the Golden Fleece and was killed by Cadmus.

It was the teeth of this dragon that were planted and then sprang up as soldiers in armor. This planting idea was used in the capture of the Golden Fleece.

In yet another version, the dragon was whirled into the sky by Athene in a battle between gods and giants.

Athletics Face Twins In Three-Game Series

OAKLAND (AP)—It's a little early in the season for crucial baseball games but the Oakland A's will be playing three of them against the Minnesota Twins starting tonight.

The A's tuned up for the big series with a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox Thursday night as John "Blue Moon" Odom, the only Oakland starting pitcher who won't face the powerful Twins, tossed a six-hitter.

Manager John McNamara of the A's named Jim Hunter, Al Downing and Chuck Dobson to pitch against Minnesota.

Last year, the Twins defeated Oakland 13 times in 18 meetings and went on to win the American League West title.

Odom struck out nine batters and said his only mistake was "a hanging slider" to powerful Buddy Bradford, who smashed it 450 feet into the left field bleachers.

Odom was a question mark when the A's went to spring training this year because of a sore elbow which sidelined him for a week.

"The elbow still hurts a little," he said. "I guess it always will."

He had to soak his arm in ice water for 15 minutes to prevent it from swelling.

"I tried to get the ball over the plate and make them hit it so I wouldn't have to throw so many pitches," Odom explained.

He tired in the late innings and walked two batters in the ninth. That brought up pinch hitter Tom McCraw with a chance to win the game. But Odom struck him out to end the contest.

The A's collected 10 hits, including three each by Rick Monday and Felipe Alou. Monday had two doubles and a single to lift his season average to .410.

"It's the extra weight I put on my shoulders and arms," Monday said when asked to explain his batting spree. He played last season at about 185 pounds and now weighs more than 200.

The A's scored one run in the third inning when Dick Green's single brought in Alou, who had singled and advanced to third on two ground outs.

Chicago tied it in the fifth on Bradford's solo homer.

The A's took the lead 2-1 again in the bottom of the fifth. Monday doubled and Alou singled, and Monday scored when Chicago's Bill Meltin threw to second, trying to nail Alou, who had advanced on Reggie Jackson's sacrifice fly.

Singles by Dave Duncan, Bert Campaneris and Monday produced the A's final run in the sixth.

Accurate Figures Needed In Racing

The Associated Press has a report this week on sports attendance, the results of a survey showing horse racing the No. 1 spectator sport in the United States for the 18th consecutive year.

Of course, take away the pari-mutuel betting attraction and I'd bet not even horses would go to horse races.

But that is not my topic for today. I want to discuss the rest of the attendance survey which places auto racing number two in spectator popularity with football third and baseball, the so-called national pastime, dropping to fourth.

I'm not calling anyone liars but I'd like to see some accurate figures on auto racing. The A.P. story innocently noted: "Auto racing, a booming sport and perhaps the fastest-growing placed second in total attendance with an estimated 14,300,000. Exact figures were not available."

They Pad The Numbers

Dig that last sentence. It's the key to the whole thing.

Auto racing promoters, you see, are notorious for padding attendance figures. They use forks to write down digits. That is why your eyes pop out at some fancy attendance figures coming out of raceways like Riverside, Laguna Seca and Sears Point. The promoters do so to outdo the next guy and to enhance their images.

However, I often wonder how stockholders feel when they c o m p a r e fancy attendance figures with earning reports.

This weekend the Trans-American Series opens its popular, 13-race series at Laguna Seca. This is one of the nation's premier road races and will draw a sizeable throng to the Monterey facility. Yet, do not for a moment believe the "announced attendance" figure. It will be pure fiction.

Most newspapers are wising up and making their own estimates of crowds, although some still dutifully report the fictional figures as the gospel.

Many Guesses, Take Your Pick

Last year I started questioning attendance figures at Sears Point and I am afraid I started a fad. Because the papers, which last year gave announced figures, this year have all but called the track officials liars.

On April 4, for example, one Sears official estimated attendance for the Indianapolis car races at 38,212.

G o r d o n Martin, the Chronicle scribe, reported one-third of the figure would be more accurate.

M i l e s Ottenheimer of the Examiner estimated "close to 25,000 to 30,000."

George Hower of the Santa Rosa Press-Democrat guessed 14,700.

The scribes, including myself, disagreed on numbers but unanimously guessed considerably lower than the announced figures.

Shouldn't Use Estimates

I think Sears got the point because last Sunday I didn't see or hear any "announced attendance figure." Perhaps they've decided to keep paid attendance to themselves and let reporters covering the races make their own estimates.

But when they come out with surveys on sports attendance figures, I think they ought to shelve auto racing until the promoters offer some cold, hard paid attendance figures and not, as the A.P. reports, "estimated" figures.

Other sports have been known to pad their attendance, but not nearly as flagrantly as racing.

I mean, it would be pretty hard to say a crowd of 120,000 saw the 49ers play in Kezar Stadium with only 60,000 seats.

But, as an auto racing promoter would explain "Laps, baby, LAPS!"

Mitchell Gets His Chance

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —Gary Player and Orville Moody are pretty familiar names in the golf business. But they found found themselves a stroke behind today in the $125,000 Greater New Orleans Open with a Virginian named Bobby Mitchell leading the way.

Mitchell isn't one of golf's top performers. In his fifth year as a touring pro, he's still looking for his first victory and can't be found among this year's 100 leading money winners.

SEVEN UNDER

He put together a seven-under par 65 Thursday for the opening round lead in the chase for the $25,000 winner's check. But he's got a long way to go in the next three days with Player and National Open champion Moody in the thick of it.

Player, the hottest item on the tour this year and a near-miss for a playoff berth in the Masters earlier this week, came in among the late finishers with a 66 ,as did Moody and three others.

If there was a bad day, par had it with 59 golfers finishing better than regulation 72 over the 7,080-yard Lakewood Country Club Course. A score of 69 was only good for a 19th place tie in the opening session.

STUMBLES

Masters champion Billy Casper and money leader Lee Trevino were among those who failed to startle the galleries. Casper, who whipped Gene Littler for the Masters title in a playoff Monday, started well enough with a front nine 34 but stumbled to a 37 on the back nine for a 71. Trevino, whose $84,000 puts him far and away in front place among the check collectors this year, matched par with a lacklustre 72.

The 27-year-old Mitchell, a golf pro since he was 15, said he "always plays good on this course. I just missed by one stroke here last year."

Rec Softball

In San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball league play last night, the Mustangs defeated C.W.A. 11-4 and the Broncos edged Foust Chevron 5-4.

A Pair Of Willies Are Back In Style

Home Runs Do The Job In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — A couple of guys named Willie boosted the San Francisco Giants to a 11-9 victory over the Houston Astros in 10 innings Thursday night.

Willie Mays tied the score 9-9 with his two-run homer in the eighth inning and Willie McCovey won the game with a two-run shot in the 10th.

It was the second straight night the two clubs battled an extra inning, but Wednesday night the Astros won.

McCovey connected off reliever Jack Dilauro. Bobby Bonds had opened the inning with a triple and Alan Gallagher fanned and Mays grounded out before McCovey came in and did his thing.

After leading 6-3, the Astros fell one run behind in the sixth but picked up three runs in the seventh, including a four-bagger by Jim Wynn.

Then Willie Mays came up in the eighth and deadlocked the score with his homer.

The Astros struck early in the game, scoring three quick runs in the first inning on a walk to Wynn, a triple by Tommy Davis and a home run by Denis Menke.

Jim Bouton started on the mound for Houston and was chased by the Giants in their three-run fourth. The Astros used five pitchers in all. Dan Osinski was charged with the loss, giving him an 0-1 record.

Mike McCormick, starter for the Giants, was knocked out of the box in the third. He was followed by four more pitchers with Ron Bryant, who took over in the eighth, getting credit for the verdict. Bryant now has a 2-2 record.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Reds' Youngster Classifi ed 1-A

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Gullett was drafted last June but his pitching has just been classified 1-A.

That's because the 19-year-old left-hander was drafted by a baseball team—the Cincinnati Reds—and the rest of the National League is on the receiving end of his meteoric rise to stardom.

"In time, he'll be nothing but a star. We're seeing a star being born right before our eyes," said manager Sparky Anderson after Gullett picked up his first major league victory with five scoreless innings of three-hit relief and got the win in Cincinnati's 12-2 romp over Los Angeles Thursday night.

"He'll have his bad outings in the future, sure, but he can't miss being a great one."

Those are strong words of praise for a rookie less than a year out of McKell High School in Lynn, Ky., who made only 11 appearances in the low minors before he was added to the Reds' roster just before opening day.

But the figures back him up. Gullett has pitched 6 1-3 innings in three big league games, allowing four hits, no runs, four walks and four strikeouts.

Elsewhere in the NL, San Francisco outslugged Houston 11-9 in 10 innings, San Diego topped Atlanta 5-4 in 10, Pittsburgh beat the New York Mets 7-4 and the Chicago Cubs nipped Philadelphia 6-5, also in 10 innings. St. Louis and Montreal were idle.

In the American League, it was Washington 4, Baltimore 2; Boston 8, New York Yankees 5; Detroit 4, Cleveland 2; Kansas City 8, Milwaukee 6; Oakland 3, Chicago White Sox 1 and California 3, Minnesota 2.

Gullett was an all-around athlete in high school. In his senior year he was 9-2 with 120 strikeouts in 52 innings and hurled a perfect game, fanning 20 of the 21 batters.

SPEEDSTER—Bob Filippi Jr. of Mill Valley, one of the leading drivers in weekly stock car racing at Petaluma Fairgrounds, will be on hand again tonight when racing resumes with qualifying at 6:45 o'clock and the first race at 8. Last week Filippi was a trophy dash winner in the sportsmen division.

Murray, 30, president of the Sears Point Raceway, will be driving the same car. Mark Donohue drove to the 1968 Trans-Am title. Donohue also won the crown in 1969 in a Camaro but since has switched to American Motors' Javelins, which he and Peter Revson will drive Sunday.

Other factory-entered cars and drivers include Dan Gurney and Swede Savage in Chrysler's Barracudas, Parnelli Jones and George Follmer in Ford's Mustangs, Jim Hall and Ed Leslie in Camaros, Jerry Titus in a Plymouth Firebird and Sam Posey in a Dodge Challenger.

Sunday's 171-mile race around the 1.9 mile, 9-turn Laguna Seca road course will start at 1:30 p.m.

THE SPORTING GENTRY

Sea And Ships Are A Way Of Life With Capt. Towle

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Instead of the usual greeting at the door of, "Come in," I was met with, "Come aboard." To him, the sea and the ships that sail it have been a way of life.

He's Capt. Elmer James Towle, a member of the U.S. Naval Reserve who has played a vital part in the opening day yacht festivities on San Francisco Bay for the last five years.

The ship I boarded was actually his spacious home on Corinthian Island, directly above the Corinthian Yacht Club, overlooking San Francisco Bay, Angel Island and the shores and skyline of San Francisco.

FLEET BLESSING

Capt. Towle is founder of the Blessing of the Fleet ceremony that has become a very important part of the yacht opening, this year scheduled May 3.

A boat is stationed between Corinthian Y. C. in Tiburon and Angel Island, this year the destroyer U.S.S. Cowell, with a Catholic priest, Jewish rabbi and Protestant minister aboard. As the boats participating in the opening day activities parade by, they are blessed by the three men.

When Towle got the idea for the blessing ceremonies in 1965, he contacted the Navy and got its cooperation in providing a ship, men and a brass band. A very religious man all his life, Capt. Towle, now in his 60s, thought it fitting to include men of the three primary faiths to do the actual blessing.

"From early times, it is a known fact that anyone who follows the seas always recognizes the great pilot above and the great belief He is watching out for us, to bring out happiness and contentment," Capt. Towle said.

Towle is president of the E. J. Towle Co., a metal stamping company in San Francisco and a former vice president of Talon Corp., the zipper king. He is also director of Liberty National Bank, chairman of A. B. Boyd Co. (gasket manufacturers) and president of ETCO Corp., a real estate firm.

He was in the active Navy for four years, and has been a member of the Naval Reserves 25 years. He has been interested in the seas since a lad of 15 when he was a naval cadet in San Francisco.

"Being a sailor has always been part of me," he smiled. "It probably goes all the way back to my great grandfather who was a Yankee sailor in New England."

Capt. Towle has been in the Corinthian Y. C. for 15 years, is a former director and present chairman of the activities committee.

NEVER TOO LATE

He finished his active duty with the Navy in 1962 and returned to San Francisco and kept care of his aging mother, who died the following year. Deciding it was never too late for a little learning, Capt. Towle returned to studies at University of San Francisco where he met Myrtle Cavanaugh. On June 5, 1965, Capt. Towle, a confirmed bachelor who had been married to the sea all his life, was married to Myrtle and they moved to their home on Corinthian Island. The house had been used as a summer home in earlier years by Capt. Towle's mother.

Capt. Towle is justifiably proud of the growth of the blessing ceremonies. He had invited Gov. Ronald Reagan and wife, and was informed the Governor couldn't attend but would be represented by Jack Bennett, deputy director of Navigation and Ocean Development for the state.

FISH AND GAME

Rare Birds Flit Along Market Street

By AL GIDDINGS

I have been working at the Fish and Game office in San Francisco all week. With the winds churning up the bay, I guess I haven't missed too much in the old home county.

Those fellows working in San Francisco are loaded with fish and game problems from all areas of Region 3.

For instance: Yesterday around noon one of the game managers mentioned he was going out to watch the fights.

I asked: "What flights?" and his answer, "The flights of quail on Market Street" broke me up. Such dedication!

Upon his return I asked what he'd seen and he said there were "good flights of double-breasted window shoppers, some pink-cheeked brown baggers, lots of longlegged miniskirters, a few broad bottomed lunch birds, and a slim hipped secretary bird, all taking the Market Street migratory bird route.

If you have time, spend a day watching these phenomena of nature. Bring a camera, too. Your wife might appreciate the shots you get. She may even come up with one of her own.

OTHER LITTLE tid-bits gleaned from the F-G office are somewhat interesting, too. A letter to all California wardens about ducks certainly deserves repeating.

The subject, "Freezing Migratory Game Birds Without Cleaning—Food Values," reveals if birds have not been thoroughly cleaned prior to freezing they should not be used for human food. Many birds carry bacteria in their intestinal tract. Freezing and thawing of these bacteria would allow the release of the toxin which they produce and, if ingested, can cause a severe food poisoning, with cramps, vomiting and pain.

Birds frozen while still containing the internal organs, particularly the intestinal tract, should not be used as food.

I've frozen undrawn birds myself, but it sounds dangerous, so from now on we'd better draw the birds everytime before freezing for safety's sake.

ONE OF THE FIRST steps in the plan to stock steelhead was taken this month with the shipping of more than 340,000 eggs to the Department of Fish and Game's Mount Shasta Hatchery. The eggs were taken from 80 female steelhead, then will be incubated at the hatchery until they are about six inches long, then will be planted in the Eel River to help build back the runs there. This run has declined greatly in recent years largely because of decreased water flows resulting from dams on the Eel.

Papermill Creek in Marin County is scheduled for a 10,000 fish plant of steelhead next year upon completion of the new Mad River Hatchery now under construction.

ALSO, THE Fish and Game Commission has scheduled hearings in 15 counties on 1970-71 special deer hunts recommended by the Department of Fish and Game. Proposed hunts are in Modoc, Lassen, Yolo, Solano, Placer, El Dorado, San Benito, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Kern, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Riverside, San Diego and Orange counties.

Hearings have been set at the Shasta County Courthouse in Redding at 8 p.m., May 13, on the DFG proposal for a special hunt for 100 Rocky Mountain Elk north and east of Shasta Lake in Shasta and Siskiyou counties.

There will also be a hearing in Alturas May 11 for a prong horn antelope hunt Aug. 29 through Sept. 7. Last year 270 hunters took 204 bucks and this year's census of 2,983 antelope in Modoc-Lassen-Shasta and eastern Siskiyou counties was the highest in recent years.

Special features you'll enjoy:

Country music is currently riding a crest of popularity. And Northern California is no exception. One of the groups that is responsible for this demand for goodtime, hillbilly music, and for its satisfaction, is the Thompson Brothers of Marin. Marin Magazine editor Don Keown has written a special feature on the Thompson Brothers, their music and their plans, for tomorrow's issue of the I-J's weekend supplement.

Marin County is home to many interesting shopping thoroughfares. And one of the most interesting is Novato's Grant Avenue. Where Kit Carson once rode and ranchers once bought their staples at the general store, colorful shops today cater to customers seeking the unusual. Free-lance writer-photographer Lois Jane Cleveland takes you on a shopping expedition along Grand Avenue in the I-J Marin Magazine's issue tomorrow.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When Holding Ace Best To Refuse First Round Ruff

When you hold an ace, you can often gain by refusing to take the first trick in that suit. When, instead, you hold a trump, you may gain by refusing to ruff at your first opportunity. The principle is the same, but players who see one are often blind to the other.

RUFFS DIAMOND

South ruffed the first diamond and led the ace of spades, expecting to have no trouble. He revised his expectation when East discarded a diamond.

South switched to hearts, losing dummy's king to the ace. East returned a diamond, and South ruffed again. It was still possible to make the contract, but South had muffed his easy play.

Declarer next led the ten of spades, but West grabbed the queen and returned the queen of diamonds to make South ruff again. South led his last trump, but West still had a trump. When South began the clubs, West ruffed the third round and led a heart. Dummy still had a losing heart and a losing diamond, and South had performed the difficult feat of beginning the hand with nine sure tricks and ending it with only eight.

EASIEST WAY

The easiest way for South to make the contract is to refuse to ruff the second round of diamonds. East continues with a third diamond, and South ruffs for the second time.

Now South can draw trumps. West gets in with the queen of spades but cannot lead another diamond. South has time to draw whatever trumps are left and can then take his four clubs safely. He wins five trumps, four clubs and one heart, winning the game and rubber.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - Q 6 3 2
♥ - 10 8 7 4
♦ - Q 9 2
♣ - 8 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass or bid two spades.

This is a borderline case; some experts would pass, and others would raise. You should tend to raise when you have a conservative partner who plays his cards well. Pass if your partner is an overbidder or if he plays the cards badly.

Personal Income Continues Climb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's personal income continued its steady rise in March while new housing starts rose for the second consecutive month, the Commerce Department reported today.

The figures gave some indication the housing construction industry may be recovering from its year-long slide into deep trouble, although the newest figures only brought the indicator to about where it was last December.

Personal income—roughly wages before taxes, although it also includes dividends, rental and interest income—totaled $782.6 billion during March, at a seasonally adjusted annual rate.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, April 17, the 107th day of 1970 with 258 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full stage. The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1521 Martin Luther was excommunicated from the Roman Catholic Church after refusing to admit charges of heresay.

In 1917 Sen. William Calder of New York introduced a bill calling for Daylight Savings Time. It was defeated.

In 1961 a force of anti-Castro Cuban rebels began what was to end as the ill-fated Bay of Pigs incident.

In 1964 Mrs. Jerrie Mick of Columbus, Ohio became the first woman to complete a solo flight around the world.

A thought for the day: American author Oliver Wendel Holmes said, "Age, like distance, lends a double charm."

Marin To Hear Schoenberg Opus

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am a widow and have most of my money in savings and loan certificates of deposit. My understanding was that if I had accounts in five separate savings & loans—not branches—each account was insured for $20,000. Now I have been told by a CPA that only one of my accounts was insured, that the Federal Deposit Insurarnce Corp. only insured an individual once. — H.G.

A. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.—FDIC—insures accounts in banks which are members of the Federal Reserve System. Banks which are nonmembers can, if they engage in deposit banking, apply for coverage under the FDIC.

The Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corp.—FSLIC—provides insurance for members of the Federal Home Loan Bank System, that is, savings and loan institutions. In addition, state-chartered institutions of the savings and loan type, if approved by the FSLIC, can qualify for coverage.

According to a law enacted by Congress in 1934 and updated three times since, insurance coverage up to $20,000 is afforded each saver in each FSLIC-insured savings institution.

Q. We recently purchased shares of International Funeral Services. Our cost was 19½. What is your estimate of the company's potential? We are retired and can't afford any great loss. — M.I.

A. As a result of a just-completed acquisition, International Funeral operates a chain of 55 funeral homes in Canada and the United States. Through Dec. 31, 1969, the first nine months of the fiscal year just ended, total revenues were $7.4 million and earnings were 21 cents a share. Balance sheet as of Sept. 30, 1969, showed a healthy current ratio of 1.9 to 1 with cash items accountisg for 40 per cent of current assets.

All homes now under the central management of IFS have been acquired since the company's inception in April. Continued growth through internal and external expansion appears to be in prospect. Unless you need income—no dividends have been paid—shares should be held.

Living Costs Up In Britain

LONDON (UPI) — Living costs climbed again in Britain in the month ending mid-March and the official retail price index rose 0.8 to 137.0.

Government figures showed that the index has climbed 2.6 in the last three months.

The department of Employment and Productivity (DEP) blamed "Rises in the average levels of many goods and services." Prices of potatoes and other fresh vegetables also rose due to seasonal variations.

PRESSURE TIRE TEST

A new B. F. Goodrich radial-belted passenger tire undergoes a plunger test at the company's tire test center in Brecksville, Ohio. BFG engineers say the tire can withstand up to 6,000 pounds per square inch of this kind of pressure compared with about 4,500 pounds that most bias-belted tires can take without failure. Wall Street Cuts Losses Late In Day

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market cut its losses late this afternoon. Declining issues on the New York Stock Exchange still held a 2-to-1 lead over gainers, but the gap was narrowing.

At 2 p.m., an hour before the close of trading, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 1.32 at 774.55.

The average had been down nearly four points earlier in the session.

Glamor issues were among the Big Board's most-active stocks. Prices of the most active glamors included Xerox, up 2⅞ at 84⅜; Telex, off 1⅞ at 112⅝; Mohawk Data, up ¾ at 44¼; Polaroid, off 1⅝ at 90; and Burroughs, off ⅛ at 133⅞.

Other glamor prices included Control Data, off ⅝ at 48⅛, and IBM, up 2¼ at 323.

The market's sluggish behavior is attributed in part to the continuing dampening effect of poor first-quarter earnings results and in part to unfavorable news about the economy.

The most-active issue on the New York Stock Exchange was Transcontinental Investing, off 1⅛ at 8¾ on a volume of 271,700 shares. That issue had been the most-active in Thursday's session when it closed off 1¾.

LONDON (UPI) — The British Gas Council and a British subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) will start drilling for petroleum 150 miles off the coast of Scotland within a week.

Hiking Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pacific Power & Light Co. expects its construction outlays to run at least $100 million a year through the 1970s, vice president Al Trimble has told the New York Society of Security Analysts Wednesday. He said outlays this year will be $121 million.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Nuclear Waste Firm To Expand

The Walnut Creek-based Nuclear Engineering Co., oldest and largest company engaged in the transportation and disposal of radioactive waste, is acquiring Protective Packaging, Inc. of Tacoma, Wash.

The transaction, expected to be completed this month, involves the exchange of 20,000 shares of Nuclear Engineering stock for Protective Packaging.

The acquisition is planned to develop an expansion into the fields of engineering consultation and specialized containers outside the nuclear field, such as delicate instruments and hazardous chemicals.

U. S. NATURAL RESOURCES, INC. of Menlo Park and East Sierra Development Corp. of Los Angeles have agreed on a merger of East Sierra into U. S. National Resources in an exchange of shares of common stock. U. S. Natural Resources owns a substantial portion of Yosemite Park and Curry Co. and other similar tourist operations facilities. East Sierra is a principal developer of condominiums and land in Mono County.

CESSNA AIRCRAFT CO. has reported total consolidated sales of $128.1 million for the first six months of its 1970 fiscal year ended March 31. Earnings reached $5.9 million or 84 cents per share. Sales for the previous year were $139.2 million, with earnings of $7.4 million or $1.04 per share. Twenty members of the Northern California Cessna Dealers Association will fly into Gnoss Field, Marin County Monday for a meeting hosted by the local Cessna dealer, Spectrum Air, Inc.

KAISER STEEL CORP. earnings for the first quarter amounted to $4,327,000 on sales of $96.3 million, equivalent to 58 cents per common share. First quarter earnings last year were $5,811,000 or 81 cents per share on sales of $97.5 million. The decline has been attributed to lower shipments of large diameter pipe, a decrease in fabricated steel products and low profit export tonnage.

POTLATCH FORESTS, INC. of San Francisco has reported a decline in both sales and earnings for the first three months of 1970. Net earnings at $872,000 or 12 cents per share compared with last year's record high $5,973,000 or 85 cents per share. Net sales of $75.7 million compared with $83.5 for the first three months of 1969.

LESLIE SALT CO., San Francisco, has reported net income for 1969 at $965,000 or $2.62 per share of common stock. Net income for 1968 was over $2 million or $5.60 per share. Operating revenues in 1969 were $21.4 million, an incrase from $19.9 million in 1968. Leslie, with approximately 45,000 acres of salt production and other property adjacent to San Francisco Bay, is one of Northern California's larger landowners.

AMPEX CORP., Redwood City, results for the fiscal year which ends May 2, are expected to show modest increases in orders and sales, with per share earnings approximately the same as last year's record totals.

MONSANTO CO. has reported a 6 per cent increase in first quarter sales and an 8 per cent decrease in net income from operations. Consolidated sales at $512.7 million compared with last year's $484.2 million. Net income from operations in the first 1969 quarter was $34 million or 97 cents a share. Income for the 1970 quarter droppd to $31.2 million or 90 cents a share.

HOST INTERNATIONAL, INC. has reported an increase in first quarter sales from $20.3 million last year to $24.2 million in 1970. Net income rose 14.1 per cent to $695,000 or 15 cents a share.

Quarter-Interest In Marin Firm Changes Hands

Farinon Electric of San Carlos has acquired a stock interest of approximately 25 per cent in Digital Telephone Systems, Inc. in a transaction valued at $1,250,000.

Proceeds of the sale will be used to finance development and initial manufacturing activities of Digital Telephone, according to the company's president, Donald Green.

Digital Telephone, located at 85 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park, was organized last year to produce new types of multiplex equipment within the communications industry. Within the next few months the company plans to begin manufacturing and marketing its first product, a system using only four wires to provide subscriber-line service up to 96 telephones.

Farinon, a publicly-held corporation, manufactures microwave and multipiex equipment. It reported sales of $8.5 million in fiscal 1969.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

42 EDITORIAL PAGE San Rafael, Calif. Friday, April 17, 1970

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Little Consistency Found In Narcotics Punishment

Many of those arrested in Marin County for marijuana or dangerous drug violations never go to trial. Sometimes this is not for lack of evidence. Here are some examples:

Sept. 11, 1969—Narcotics charges were dismissed by Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Superior Court against former hippie leader Donald C. McCoy Jr. and 10 of his erstwhile followers because Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales refused to reveal the name of the informant in the case.

Sept. 26, 1969—A charge of possessing barbiturates against Robert S. Jones, 22, was dismissed by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein in Marin Municipal Court. The judge ruled sheriffs' deputies had no right to open a container in Jones's waistband in which the drug was found.

Oct. 2, 1969—A charge of growing marijuana against Ronald J. Campagna, 21, was dismissed by Judge Hadden W. Roth is Marin Municipal Court because police illegally searched among ivy in a retaining wall at his home to find the plants.

WHEN PERSONS ARRESTED are found guilty of such charges, the punishment varies widely. Here are some examples:

Jan. 5, 1970—Robert D. McKendrick, who had three marijuana cigarettes in his possession when arrested, was fined $200 by Judge Joseph G. Wilson and put on one year's probation.

Feb. 18, 1970—John Frederick Tanzi, 21, was fined $150 and put on six months' probation by Judge J. Warren McGuire of Marin Municipal Court for possession of marijuana, which was found growing at his home.

Feb. 19, 1970—David R. Harris, 22, who had skipped bail after a marijuana arrest and subsequently was arrested for selling heroin, was sentenced by Judge Wilson to 15 months in jail for both offenses, with three years' probation.

Oct. 6, 1969—Rita Jean Hodges, 20, was fined $250 and given a suspended 90-day jail sentence by Judge McGuire for possessing marijuana grown at her home.

Nov. 18, 1969—David G. Russek, 21, was fined $100 and put on six months' probation by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court for being in a place where narcotics were used.

AND CONSIDER THIS one:

Frank Werber, 39, was arrested Oct. 14, 1968, by narcotics agents who confiscated 400 pounds of marijuana in his home.

Werber subsequently was charged by federal agents with transporting 258 pounds of the weed by air from Mexico City to his home in Marin. A federal court jury found him innocent of a charge of conspiracy to smuggle the marijuana into the United States. But a jury in Marin Superior Court convicted him of two counts of possession of marijuana—four kilos of it, found in his house, and other plants growing on his property.

The sentence for Werber, by Judge McGuire: six months in jail and $2,000 fine.

In which of these cases, if any, did the punishment fit the crime? Certainly not in all of them.

Attorney General's Opinion Sinks Interest Conflict Charge

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — How an attempt to embarass the Reagan administration and the Republicans backfired came to light this week with an opinion by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch.

It was made known some time ago that a member of the California Youth Authority Board, who was an appointee of Gov. Ronald Reagan, was the successful bidder on a contract for purchase of surplus real property of the Department of Water Resources.

Almost immediately in the hullabaloo that followed came the cry of favoritism, and the intimation of "conflict of interest."

LOUDEST in protestations was Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'Berg, D-Sacramento, who indicated the administration was craven in its treatment of the public interest. Z'Berg beseeched the attorney general, a Democrat, for a legal opinion as to this particular activity.

No doubt the Democratic assemblyman was somewhat surprised when the 13-page opinion was issued. It said:

"The mere fact of the purchase of such surplus property of the Department of Water Resources (through its agent, the Department of General Services) by such member of the Youth Authority board would not violate any applicable conflict of interest statutes of the state, nor the common law doctrine against conflicts of interest."

The opinion held that the Youth Authority board member entered into the purchase solely in his private, not official, capacity.

"The common law doctrine against conflicts of interest," the opinion said, "is not violated since we are unable to discern how, by such purchase, the Youth Authority board member has placed himself in any position where he might be tempted to disregard his public duties in favor of his private interests.

"The relatively new 'code of ethics' is not violated, since as to such an appointive officer, the purchase does not result in any gain 'by reason of his official activity.' "

THE POINT is that it is extremely dangerous to use conflict of interest as a political attack. The laws are highly technical, and what might be cause for question in one instance would be perfectly legal in another. The accuser, therefore, could easily be left hanging on a limb, as Assemblyman Z'Berg is in the present instance.

The decision would appear to indicate that appointees of the governor from private enterprise still can continue to make a living in their professional capacities, and work for the state, which for some years has been considered some kind of a sin, depending who happens to be in office.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

No one in his right mind can say that the wholesale diet of idiocy in the entertainment sphere being foisted on the American public today by the three major networks can deserve a better rating than that of mass mediocrity. — Robert Montgomery.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Some Points About Candidate Riles

Re the story on the candidates for state superintendent of public instruction, three points about Mr. Wilson Riles were not brought out:

1. Mr. Riles has declared his support for the CTA-supported Proposition 8, except that he says it "does not go far enough". This is the school finance measure termed a "fiscal fraud" and "disastrous" by Governor Reagan and Assemblyman Bagley.

2. Although his Marin committee's campaign literature uses the term "Dr." Riles, his doctorate is honorary only.

3. His Marin literature quotes him: "Above all else, it seems to me that the one quality demanded of a public educator is—accountability ..."

In 1963, Mr. Riles was sent to Sausalito as a consultant from the State Commission on Equal Opportunities in Education. His recommendations for an educational park initiated the moves which culminated in the recent grand jury report. Said one Sausalito parent recently; "You know, he never once came back to us to see how things were working out!"

This is accountability?

Mrs. W. R. KNIGHT
Mill Valley.

(In a public appearance in Marin County, Riles said he opposed Proposition 8 because its setting of a percentage of undetermined school costs to be paid by the state is unsound. — Editor.)

Campaign Signs Show Dichotomy

Seldom do we get to see a politician sacrifice his principles for expediency before an election. I think we are fortunate therefore to observe Mr. Peter Behr's campaign efforts. Mr. Behr is ostensibly the ecology-conservation candidate for state senate, however a spate of Behr campaign signs have recently marred the landscape on many of the main roads in Marin and Solano counties. Oddly enough they are the only candidate signs that I have seen in number. This is hardly highway beautification. This dichotomy between rhetoric and practice strikes me as most hypocritical, and leads me to thing that Mr. Behr's campaign like his automobile is propelled by pure gas.

Reasons To Keep Dogs At Home

I read the letter in the I-J by Mrs. Nan Street Fowler. And again someone sounded off without thinking. First of all some people don't like dogs, the mess they make and the barking. And I think I would be a little upset if someone got killed trying to dodge my dog while it was lying in the middle of the street, and what if someone had to take the anti-rabies shots because they couldn't find the dog that had bitten? Sure I like dogs but they should be at home, not roaming around on the streets.

Dog Owners Defy Law, Shrug Blame

I have just been through a nightmarish experience, and after reading Nan Street Fowler's letter ("Readers Say," April 13), I am furious.

We have a female dog. . .Our dog was chained up in a totally fenced yard and kept in the house at night. . .We tied our gates with cord with wire interior, rope, belts, wires, and anything else we could get our hands on. These were chewed away daily by the local male "suitors," our plants were broken, a neighbor's child bitten, a sofa urinated on, garbage strewn about, an endless amount of dung in the yard, a dog fight. . .and altercation with one dog owner whose dogs "couldn't possibly be responsible for all of this". . .

What reaction did I get to all of this? (1) Keep your female in the house! The last time we did just that (and) it was my daughter who was bitten when she tried to enter her own yard. (2) Board her out! Who wants to pay the bill? (3) Have her spayed. Again, who wants to pay the bill?. . .(4) It's only nature! Well! Whoopee!. . .We have a leash law in this city, and these well meaning people with such well behaved animals will not only not obey this law but will not even acknowledge its existence. If they had, I would not have had this difficulty. . .

And who is to blame for all this? Not the animal owner who fails to control his pet, but owners of female animals who, whether or not their animals are confined, fail to spay them. Something is wrong with that logic! . . .

Organic Gardening Backs Earth Day

Wonder how many of the Independent-Journal readers are also Organic Gardening magazine readers. I am a reader of both, and I do hope your newspaper will give attention to the April 22—Earth Day—which is written about in the April issue of the magazine.

This ecology bit is really great.

Must confess it is nothing new to me as a former 4-H-er, Girl Scout leader, captain of the grammar school paper drive, and one raised by wise grandparents in the city and on a farm during the depression.

Would be great if a course in Respectology would be taught right along with the ecology bit, from the kindergarten level straight through to the college heights.

I'll find time that day to do something for this Good Earth, after all. Thank God I live on it in our land called Land Beautiful.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A landlady assured a new boarder that his room contained a genuine feather bed. At two in the morning he hobbled to her door and awakened her with, "Madam, you'd better come upstairs and help me look for the feather."

From the notebooks of Col. Francis Duffy:

1. Ever stop to consider that before television, nobody knew what a headache looked like?

2. The time to tackle a minor problem is before he grows up.

THE DRUMMONDS

Nixon Needs To Heal Wounds Caused By Nominee Rejections

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — It would badly hurt the country if President Nixon falls into a partisan fued with Congress because the Senate voted against two of his Supreme Court nominees.

We believe he will avoid such an ill-timed and unprofitable confrontation — and he will be wise to do so.

The prospects are that Mr. Nixon and the most responsible leaders of the Senate in both parties will act to pick up the broken glass and broken relationship which resulted from the double rebuff. To do otherwise would mean that the President and the Congress would head into a dead-end where everything worthy and urgent which each wants to do for the nation would be imperiled.

THAT'S NOT good enough. Indeed, it would be bad enough to tempt many people to believe that our political system is so badly fouled up that something very drastic — perhaps dangerously drastic — must be done.

After his slashing criticism of the Senate for, in his view, unfairly rejecting Judge Haynsworth and Judge Carswell, the President has every incentive of responsible duty and practical politics to invoke the spirit of the Taft-Hartley Act for a cooling-off period and to cultivate reconciliation.

It is likely that events will move in that direction.

THOSE WHO ADHERE to the double standard of political judgment — that liberals are worthily motivated and conservatives are partisanly motivated — seek to leave the impression that all the politics behind the Haynsworth-Carswell nominations was with President Nixon and all the virtue with those who voted no.

Untrue. To get at the core of the truth it is important to cut through the layers of political posing on both sides.

Consider this question. Would the U. S. Senate, as presently constituted, reject a northern liberal mediocrity if Richard Nixon had nominated one? We doubt it, and we think that most Washington reporters who know the Senate would agree. But the Senate did exactly that in reverse. It rejected an undistinguished judge who was a southern conservative, and while there were mixed motives, most of the no-voters avowed that their real reason was that Carswell was mediocre.

THE TRUTH, privately admitted, is that a considerable bloc of anti-Carswell votes came from senators who would oppose any southern conservative for the court, and a substantial bloc of yes votes came from senators who would favor a southern conservative jurist whatever his qualifications.

President Nixon is wrong in asserting that the present Senate showed it would never confirm a southern strict constructionist of high judicial quality. Such a nominee would certainly win the key Republican votes which decided the balance against Carswell.

But Mr. Nixon's exaggerated contention was within the political rules. It was designed to retrieve some political dividends among southern voters, whom he urgently, and for good reasons, wants to wean away from George Wallace.

RICHARD NIXON'S announced decision to name a non-southern moderate for the Supreme Court is a sound one. It removes the danger of another lacerating controversy, and it leaves open to him the opportunity to nominate an appropriate southerner when the next vacancy arises.

We doubt that Mr. Nixon will try to make the Haynsworth-Carswell rebuffs a senatorial campaign issue this fall. Too many Republicans voted against them to make it an effective issue, and anything which makes it substantially more difficult for the President and Congress to work together is hurtful, bordering on the dangerous.

The country needs the President and Congress working together co-operatively. The peril of stalemate on domestic problems — race, education, environment, crime, inflation — could become disaster if the process of government action grinds to a halt.

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Hope, But No Optimism, As Arms Talks Resume

By STEWART HENSLEY UPI Diplomatic Reporter

Washington (UPI) —As the United States and Russia resume their grim dialogue on nuclear disarmament, each side professes to be negotiating in "good faith." But neither has expressed any optimism concerning the outcome.

The objective of the strategic arms limitation talks (SALT), opening Thursday in Vienna, is an agreement to limit and possibly reduce the awesome arsenals of nuclear weapons. Mutual suspicion and basic political conflicts at various points around the world are the major bars to such an agreement.

On the positive side, however, Moscow and Washington have been drawn to the conference table by a common desire to lessen the possibility of eventual annihiliation. Short of this, there is also a pressing need in both countries to halt the fantastically costly arms race in order to finance urgently needed domestic programs.

President Nixon naturally has not disclosed the negotiating instructions he gave Gerard C. Smith, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency who heads the American delegation to the SALT talks. All the evidence here, however, is that the United States will follow a very cautious approach, attempting to deal with individual parts of the problem instead of proposing an over-all plan at the outset of the talks.

This is likely to be the Russian approach, too. American officials say the Russian attitude at the exploratory SALT talks late last year in Helsinki was businesslike and devoid of propaganda.

Nixon has been under pressure by numerous senators to propose some sort of general freeze on further Soviet and American deployment of missiles at the outset of the Vienna talks.

There is no evidence he has instructed Smith to put forward such a suggestion as a formal proposal.

The conflicting advice and pressures on Nixon are assumed to be representative of similar differences of opinion within the Soviet Politiburo, since Russia has always had its own dispute between those who wanted maximum military strength and those who urged diversion of more resources to consumer goods.

In effect, the SALT talks represent the efforts of politicians and diplomats of both countries to catch up with the technologists, who continue to devise increasingly expensive and devastating weapons systems.

The problem is to find a formula which leaves neither side with a decisive advantage and contains sufficient enforcement provisions to reduce chances of cheating to a minimum.

The negotiations are expected to be lengthy and arduous and nobody in Washington is willing to predict even partial success at this time.

Smooth-Running Team Shows How To Get Things Accomplished

Mill Valley City Councilmen Edward J. Boessenecker, who was reelected Tuesday, and Robert H. Andresen may not always agree on matters before the council, but when they work together they probably comprise one of the smoothest teams in the county.

In the space of six minutes at the April 6 council meeting, Andresen moved, Boessenecker seconded and the council passed resolutions and ordinances setting rules for the municipal golf course, rezoning a parcel of land, giving the city power to abate certain nuisances, and assessing a company for storm damage.

The quick work brought an admiring comment from retiring Mayor Dean N. Meyer: "This is a good example of efficient government in action."

THE MAYOR finally got before the council a campaign promise he made four years ago—annexation of the Strawberry Shopping Center and surrounding area.

On Monday, the night before the election in which Jean S. Barnard was chosen to replace him, Meyer opened another round in a four-year feud with Tiburon over the area east of Highway 101.

At his request the council voted 3-1 to direct the city manager to ask the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission to allow the city to absorb the 110-acre parcel.

Ironically, the mayor will not be on the council when the matter is brought to a conclusion, but Andresen, who voted against the annexation, still will be around.

Andresen made it clear that he did not oppose the annexation itself, but didn't want to spend bond money to extend sewer lines into the area, as the remaining members of the council voted to do.

"That money came from the rest of Mill Valley's citizens," Andresen said, "and it should not be spent for something that will not benefit those who are paying for it."

Observers said Meyer wanted to "go out with a bang," and action on the annexation and the approval several weeks ago of the 701 planning program enabled him to do just that.

THOUGH MILL VALLEY reportedly has but four black families, color definitely is a problem here. But it's not skin color but paint color that is causing ripples at city hall.

Last month two residents got up at a city council meeting and good-naturedly asked Mayor Meyer if the newly renovated recreation center at Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue had been painted with primer coats or whether the building always was going to be bright red and orange with blue trim.

Meyer replied that those colors were the permanent ones and furthermore that the color scheme had been picked by a professional color consultant under direction of the architectural advisory committee.

"I approve of the colors myself," Meyer said. "You either like them or you don't."

Last Monday's council meeting heard a complaint of a similar stripe: Rev. George Caxoer of the Methodist Church of Mill Valley complained in a letter to the council about the bright yellow lamp posts along Sycamore Avenue near the church.

Again someone from the audience asked if this was a primer coat, and once again Meyer had to tell him that the almost fluorescent yellow was the permanent color.

COUNTY COMMENT

Time To Halt Moon Ventures While We Tidy Up Our Planet

Fusselman

What follows is not what I had planned. I think though it will help us all to spend some time considering this and what is transpiring as I write.

This column on Jan. 3, 1969 — the heading: "Why Quibble Over Brasilia When Our Men Fly To The Moon?"

"Sunrise in the Pacific! Could there ever be another so welcome—another watched with such joyful eagerness by so many missions.

Our prayers had been answered. Those three courageous men were down, floating on the waters. We had followed their voices and those of the ground control at Houston as they descended in the darkness. Now we wanted to see them—to see the men who had read to us passages from the Old Testament, from way out in the endless realm of space and were heard by us all as if they were just over there a bit in the garden or coming up the path. Could any people be more proud of their country—more proud of the nation whose ship and its men were shown to us on the screen in our own living rooms, and by way of a satellite, from way across the ocean, as we watched the horizon emerge from the darkness and the first trace of the new dawn developing into a sunrise over the ocean?

THERE WERE the men of the carrier's crew in their whites eagerly watching as were we—the helicopters appearing on the skyline, hurrying about like low-flying birds. Finally they came closer and closer until one landed on the runway of the Yorktown, its rotors slowing to a stop and there were our men, the three of them, waving to the cheering crew below. They came walking briskly across the deck as if they had just been around the block for their morning constitutional, instead of what might have been eternity. What a breathtaking sight!

HOWEVER, tonight, as I sit here writing, knowing that the Apollo 12 landing on the moon has given the scientists material to work and ponder over for many a decade and that we can send unmanned vehicles to the moon at will, it wonders me as I am sure it must wonder many of you.

Our hearts are heavy as we silently pray that the remaining rockets will function and so prevent these three men of ours from missing the earth by the 50 or a hundred miles that has been calculated. And these hearts of ours go out to the wives and families, who would carry such everlasting sadness of knowing that their loved ones had come to such an end.

My friends, even though splashdown should be wonderfully successful, it seems to me that it is time for a recess, while we tidy up our own planet. There is a lot to be done. The brains that have been working on this program are just the ones for the new job so urgently needed.

May this be a Good Friday!

Collegians Planning To Grade Teachers

The student government at College of Marin has agreed to set up a teacher grading system.

The Executive Council has named Samantha Keefe, freshman women's representative, chairman of a teacher evaluation committee, Nancy Oliva, public relations chairman, reported yesterday.

The committee is to prepare evaluation sheets to be given all teachers for distribution in classes. Students are to fill them out at semester's end, and the results will be compiled in a students' "teacher handbook," giving student views of teachers' teaching abilities.

The council also agreed to help support a proposed student-sponsored series of films on controversial subjects, such as the Vietnam war, pollution, overpopulation and the cold war.

Three members of "The Combinations," an improvisational theater group, outlined a proposal to perform on the campus in the near future, but the council took no action.

Civic Center Candy Stand Now Open

A candy-tobacco stand opened up this week in Lobby No. 1 of the new Hall of Justice, on the ground floor near the middle archway at the Civic Center.

The vending stand is operated by Julius Jacob of San Rafael, who was picked by the State Department of Vocational Rehabilitation from among four applicants.

Among items on sale are newspapers, tobacco products, candy and gum, cookies, greeting cards, minor drug items, hosiery and other sundries. The store is open from 7.30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Jacob, who is blind, operated similar stands in the Federal Building and the Education Building in Sacramento for 10 years before taking over the store in the Marin Hall of Justice.

"Please come around and say hello," said Jacob. "It gets pretty lonely out here. I guess many people don't know about the new store."

Hub Youth Ask Cooperation On Library Use

The San Anselmo Youth Commission wants the city and county to enter into a joint agreement covering library use.

According to chairman Jerry Suyderhoud, the commission, in a unanimous resolution Wednesday called for getting the two library systems together to provide additional books for use by San Anselmo residents on a free basis.

Suyderhoud said it costs $5 for San Anselmo residents to acquire a county library card, but the city's is free.

The resolution will be presented at the next city council meeting.

The commission also came up with a $100 budget proposal to submit to the council.

"We are asking for only $100 now," Suyderhoud said, "because we still have to ask how much they can afford to give us."

"We don't want to ask for too much," he added.

The next commission meeting will be April 29 at 8 p.m. at the city hall.

Mental Staff Vacancies Eyed

The Marin Mental Health Advisory Board concerned over staff vacancies in mental health services in the county has asked for a report on unfilled positions at its next meeting.

The board requesting Dr. Donald P. Wilson, director, and Asst. Director J. Jay Shinohara, of Community Mental Health Center, to present the report at the May 20 meeting at 8 p.m. in the Coral Room at Marin General Hospital.

The board asked for a report on recruiting procedures as well, chairman Peter W. Palmer said.

The board also postponed indefinitely tuesday's meeting with the Marin County Board of Supervisors so that additional planning data may be obtained.

Marin Youth Indicted On Draft Count

I-J SpecialReport

SAN FRANCISCO — Another Marin youth was indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday for refusing induction into the Army March 17 in Oakland.

Chris D. Ghilotti of 90 Grande Paseo, San Rafael, has been sent a letter ordering him to appear at 10 a.m. May 4 in U. S. District Court.

Two other Marin men who refused induction March 17 were indicted April 8. Robert E. Lopez of Sleepy Hollow is to appear in court Wednesday and Leland H. Jones of Corte Madera is to appear Tuesday.

The indictments are part of a promised speedup of prosecution of draft refusers to clear the courts of the cases. Until recently four or five months elapsed between refusal and indictment.

Ghilotti was one of 13 from the Bay Area indicted yesterday, seven who refused induction March 24, three on March 17 and three from 1969.

Maximum penalty for draft refusal is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Rioting In India Costs 14 Lives

NEW DEHLI (UPI) — Four teen persons kere killed Wednesday in Hindu-Moslem riots in Chaibasa city in Bihar state 180 miles east of Calcutta, the Press Trust of India (PTI) reported.

PTI said official reports said 32 persons were injured.

District authorities put Chaibasa on a round-the-clock curfew, PTA said.

Fischer Quints Attend School

ABERDEEN, S. Dakota (AP) — The Fischer quintuplets are now school kids.

In kindergarten at a rural school northwest of town are Mary Ann, Mary Margaret, Mary Magdalene, Mary Catharine and James Andrew. They reached their sixth birthday last September 14.

Cindy, 5, the quintuplets' sister, is also in the class of 17 youngsters.

The six started in kindergarten without fanfare. It had been anticipated they would go last fall, but the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer, decided against that.

The father, a $76 a week wholesale grocery clerk at the time of the quintuplets birth, is now a farmer-rancher.
